CURE SICK EUROPE, U. S. PLAN

ATROCITIES OF MASSACRE TOLD TO HERRIN JURY

Defense Thwarted in Fight on Stories.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Marion, Ill., Dec. 16.—[Special.]—The state scored heavily today in testimony produced at the Herrin murder trial against Bert Grace and Otis Clark, defendants in this case.

Grace, who has been grinning a good deal in court, was positively identified as the man who stood in the road near the Herrin cemetery on the morning of June 22, guarding with a gun six wounded prisoners who lay in the dust with a rope around their necks, the mock of the crowd.

This defendant, according to the testimony of Donald M. Ewing, a newspaper reporter, used his foot to prod the body of Howard Hoffman, which was partly uncovered and showed wounds.

Denies Dying Man Water.

When Hoffman begged for a drink, Ewing, who had just arrived from Chicago to report the riot, ran to a nearby house and brought back a can of water. He approached Hoffman, he said, but Grace threatened him with a gun and told him to keep away, remarking to the dying man, "You'll get no water here, ——— you."

In a long cross-examination, Attorney Rufus Neely tried to shake this and other features of Ewing's story, but he was unable to do so. Ewing pointed to Grace as the man, although Grace had shifted his seat from his usual place. At the end Mr. Neely asked what it was about Grace that made him remember him.

"I took a good look at his face while I was out there," Ewing said, "because after what happened I wanted to know his face and I thought I would never forget it."

Defendant Wipes Off Grin.

Grace lost his grin, for this is the most damaging testimony that has been brought directly linking one of these defendants with the murder of Hoffman. It is unlikely that anything more direct will be offered, for the state is proceeding on the theory of conspiracy and responsibility, not knowing who actually fired the shot that killed Hoffman.

Ewing, who represented the Associated Press at the riots, testified that he reached Marion at 8:53 a. m. on June 22, and went directly to the Lester mine where the fires were still smoking, and then on to Herrin, where he met the crowd in the road with the prisoners.

The defense sought to exclude his testimony because they had not been told the name of the witness until Nov. 14, but Judge Hartwell overruled this objection. He permitted the defense attorneys to interview Ewing privately before he testified.

Lying on Blistering Road.

Of the six men in the sun-baked road three were motionless as if dead, Ewing testified; one of the others was breathing slightly and two were moving, apparently in great pain.

On one man, whose shirt had been pulled out and his pants loosened and who afterward was identified as Hoffman, Ewing saw a bullet wound and five slashes, one in the stomach and one in the neck.

In the crowd milling around he saw several men with guns. Hoffman and another wounded man, James O'Rourke, spoke to him and asked for water.

"Did you observe any of the men around there?" asked State's Attorney Duty.

"Yes, sir."

Points Quickly to Grace.

Ewing without hesitation picked out Grace.

Q.—Did you know his name then? A.—No.

Q.—When you saw him what did he have in his hand? A.—A gun.

Q.—What did he do or say? A.—He told me to keep away from the men lying in the road. He appeared to be threatening me with his gun.

The witness illustrated how Grace held his gun in two hands.

The witness next saw Grace two or three days later near the Herrin morgue and asked some one in the street who the man was. He was told the name was Grace. Later, after he had told his story to Attorney General Brundage he was sent to Marion to see C. W. Middlekauf.

No Chance of Error, He Holds.

He was taken to the courtroom during the examination of jurors and there picked out Grace again, he said, without any aid. He was examined in chambers

THE POPULAR PRESENTS THIS YEAR

"SPICE OF 1922" FLICKERS OUT; ACTORS UNPAID

"Spice of 1922" did not entertain its customers at the Studebaker theater last night. When the audience arrived it found the doors closed and an attendant in the lobby, directing patrons to get their money back at the ticket window.

Principals of the show, holding an indignation meeting on the stage, had decided to "strike" because of unpaid back salaries, and notified Manager Frank Gazzolo at 7:40 that there would be no performance. The walkout was sanctioned by Frank Dare, Chicago representative of the Actors' Equity association, after Ed L. Bloom, general manager for the Shuberts, had made ineffectual efforts to patch up the trouble.

Since its arrival in Chicago the show's difficulties have been complicated by a creditor's attachment of its scenery, increasing doubt as to who were its actual backers, and arguments with Miss Valeska Suratt, its featured player, as to the amount of her salary. Jack Lait, the author, claims that $15,000 is due him in unpaid royalties.

The company will disband at once, it is said, and those who have carfare will return to New York.

"Zion City" No Longer; It's Just Plain "Zion"

"Zion, Ill.," officially came into its own yesterday. By order of the Illinois commerce commission, the Chicago and Northwestern railroad was instructed to change the name on its station from "Zion City" to plain "Zion." The order includes time tables and tickets.

The millionaire and the flapper were banished to the north end of the island.

SEES INJURY TO SCHOOL INQUIRY

Brundage Aid Says Plot Is Apparent.

"Unless immediate appropriation is made by the county board we might as well order a tombstone for the school board investigation and allow the forty indictments voted by the special grand jury to die a natural death next month," said Special Assistant Attorney General Charles M. Haft last night.

"The $15,000 voted for our use during November did not materialize. Investigators and stenographers hired are unpaid. I understand the county board's action was declared illegal. Many cases, for instance that of City Prosecutor Louis Piquett, must be tried next month or not at all. To prepare those cases for trial we need $75,000 right now, and we haven't a penny.

"I am led to believe that some influence is at work seeking to kill the investigation and prosecution through the county board," Mr. Haft declared.

Early Action Unlikely.

The finance committee of the county board, of which Commissioner Charles S. Peterson is chairman, met yesterday, but took no action toward keeping alive the investigation. The board will meet Monday, but can do nothing until a recommendation is made by the finance committee. The two following Mondays will be holidays.

Resumption of the inquiry by the special grand jury is scheduled for Dec. 27. Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley has requested the attorney general to be prepared to submit evidence on that date and to make a showing of need for continuing the jury into the January term. Extra judges have been assigned to the Criminal court to hear school cases.

In November an emergency appropriation of $15,000 was made for use of the attorney general, after State's Attorney Crowe had withdrawn as prosecutor. Assurances that $150,000 more would be available as soon as the new board was organized on Dec. 4 were given, and upon that showing Attorney General Brundage agreed to assume responsibility for a thorough graft hunt in the proceedings of the board of education.

Peterson for Appropriation.

Commissioner Peterson was asked last night what the county board proposed to do about providing financial restoratives for the ailing investigation.

"Speaking only for myself as one of the fifteen county commissioners, I will vote for any appropriation needed," he replied. "So far, nothing has been presented to us in regard to the school investigation. If I am requested to do so I will call an emergency meeting of the finance committee to precede the board meeting Monday. In that way, if the members are willing, an appropriation may be made that day."

SEVERINGHAUS NAMED

The trial of William A. Bither and Henry W. Kaup—the first of the school scandal cases to reach a jury—produced a surprise witness yesterday before Judge Jacob Hopkins. He was William A. Zeiger, 3309 Dickens avenue, a former partner of Kaup.

Under questioning of Assistant State's Attorneys Samuel M. Hamilton and Thomas J. Symmes, he related transactions in buildings on the Forrestville and Wendell Phillips school sites and brought the name of Trustee Albert H. Severinghaus into the trial.

Kaup told him of purchasing the buildings, fifteen on the Wendell Phillips site at $300 each, and seventy-two on the Forrestville site at an average price of $200 per building, he testified. Bither engineered the deal, the witness declared Kaup told him. Kaup was a protégé of Severinghaus, according to Zeiger, and the trustee was a frequent caller at their real estate office.

WAR OF PIKE'S PIQUED WIVES DAZES CAPTAIN

Fears "Treason" in Camp of No. 1.

BY JOHN HERRICK.

Crown Point, Ind., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Sitting in a cell in the Lake county jail here, Charles H. Pike, United States army surgeon, today told of the college romance seventeen years ago which was raised from oblivion to blight his recent love marriage to Miss Frances Helle, daughter of Louis A. Helle, Chicago attorney, and which culminated yesterday in formal charges of bigamy filed against him in Criminal court by his first wife—wife in name only—Mrs. Margery Beddoes Pike.

Crown Point was furnished one sensation after another as the opposing forces entered the town and formed in line of battle. On one side are the captain, his present wife, and his attorneys, Col. John V. Clinnin of Chicago and A. E. Tinkham of Hammond, Ind.

Confronting them are Mrs. Beddoes Pike, Mr. Helle, the prosecuting attorneys, and the officers who created a kidnaping scare last Thursday night when they arrested Capt. Pike at his Chicago home at 5511 Kenmore avenue.

Throw Out Skirmish Lines.

The two fighting forces arrived in Crown Point at noon today, engaged in their first skirmish, which left Capt. Pike charged with bigamy under a $3,000 bond, and then withdrew to Chicago at nightfall to prepare for the legal battle which will come when the case is placed on trial before Judge Martin Smith.

Helle and his companions remained resentful and refused to talk. They arrived, attempting to keep their presence secret, and left fighting mad because of the questions which were asked them.

The captain, on the other hand, was more willing to talk. "Persecution" and "unnatural father," he cried, as he blamed his misfortunes on Helle, who, he charged, had raked up the old scandal to prevent the marriage with his daughter. Mrs. Pike is with her husband, heart and soul.

"I can't understand why she should turn against me," Capt. Pike said of his first wife, "unless Helle has threatened her, dominated her, forced her into this."

Bared His Past.

He related a meeting in Helle's office where, because, he said, he thought his prospective father-in-law was acting in the capacity of his attorney, he bared the youthful folly and the nightmare life which had followed. Hidden witnesses, he said, took down the story and it is this story that is being used by the prosecution in the present case and which was the basis of similar charges against him heard a month ago by a military court-martial.

Col. Clinnin backed up his client by scoring the action of the prosecution in filing an information directly in the Criminal court, and preventing a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Howard H. Kemp, before whom the original affidavit was made out last Tuesday by Mrs. Beddoes Pike.

True for Many Years.

"I can't understand it," the army doctor says, as he sits on his cell cot. "Margery has been true to me all these years. We still remained friends even after we separated. When I told her that I had met the girl of my dreams she went to Colorado to get a divorce, but they refused her.

"Then after our marriage, Helle followed her there and broke her will."

In proof Capt. Pike shows a letter written by Mrs. Beddoes Pike from Colorado Springs on Nov. 16, six days after his marriage to Miss Helle in Crown Point. He also shows a stipulation entered into last August, in which he and his first wife agree that their marriage existed in name and spirit only, and should deny them no rights of future marriage.

LETTERS FROM "M."

At this point, before continuing his narrative, Capt. Pike and his counsel produced letters from Mrs. Beddoes Pike which appear to show the amicable attitude that governed their separation. They read:

"Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 16, 1922.—Dearest Charlie: I am glad you have spoken openly to me about the girl. I know that you would never care for any one of a common sort and you certainly need some one to care for you. Do you ever suppose a divorce ever came off when the principals had less animosity for each other? I suppose it's because you are such a kind, considerate sort of per-

Wallace Reid Critically Ill; 'Dope' Blamed

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Wallace Reid, one of the brightest of the film stars and the idol of movie fans, lies tonight in a remote little sanitarium—fighting to "come back."

According to his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Davenport Reid, "Wally" voluntarily quit the use of morphine and drink two months ago—and the shock to his nervous system was such that it was necessary to have him confined.

Two male nurses and two physicians are with him. His wife is with him all day. She leaves their home in Hollywood early in the morning and comes back in the evening.

Sharp Cut at His Friends.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Davenport, is "running the house" now. She declared this afternoon, weeping, that she never would allow another bottle of whisky to come into the house and that she would try "to keep 'Wally' from his friends."

"It was his friends that ruined him," she said. "When we sell this house I'll see we get one with a high iron fence around it—a fence his friends cannot penetrate."

It is no news to Hollywood that Wally Reid was slipping. It was gossip both in Hollywood and Los Angeles.

Confirmation of the rumors came today. A report that Reid had broken away from his nurses, had come into Los Angeles and bought an ounce of morphine for $300 reached the ears of newspaper men.

Reporters went to the Reid home on De Longpre avenue, a two story stucco and red tile affair on the side of a hill and set off with pines and young palm trees and the supplicating arms of cactus—and met Mrs. Davenport.

Tells of Morphine Habit.

She denied the story. She declared that her son-in-law was too weak to get off his bed. And then she told of the whisky and the dope.

"This wasn't a home," she said; "it was a roadhouse. Wally's friends would troop in here by the scores at any old hour of the day or night or the early hours of the morning. They would come whether they were invited or not. There would be among them persons that Wally didn't know.

"It made no difference whether Wally was at home or not. They came, they stayed and drank. And some of them would go away with a bottle or two of his liquor hidden under their coats or held unblushingly in their hands."

Mrs. Davenport communicated with her daughter and told her of the interview. Mrs. Reid and a woman friend came down to the office of the Los Angeles Times.

Old Accident to Blame.

"About three years ago," she said, "my husband met with an accident while making a picture near San Francisco. A rock fell and struck him on the back of the head. The doctor put eleven stitches in the wound.

"That's what started him. He was at the top of the ladder, a good, clean man, the most popular actor on the Famous Players-Lasky lot—in fact, in all Los Angeles. A sober man with no thought of drugs.

"Then gradually he got to drinking. It was one wild party after another, each worse than the last. Nobody could do anything with him. And then—morphine."

Mrs. Reid wept.

Fierce Craving Described.

She went on, intimating by words and gestures that whisky and drugs became more to her husband than his wife, his family, his reputation, or his future. He had to have more and more bootleg booze, more and more morphine. If he wasn't "primed" he couldn't work.

The Lasky people had to guard him constantly. Their biggest star, their most profitable star—a little less than 80 per cent more valuable from the financial standpoint than Gloria Swanson—could not move one step, could not eat or sleep or drink, except in the presence of the husky guard.

"But he has quit," Mrs. Reid said. "He quit suddenly—both whisky and morphine, two months or more ago. Even when he is in the sanitarium now. It is a wonderfully brave thing for a man to do, don't you think so?

Wife Admits Her Fears.

"It has caused him terrible suffering, mental and physical. But he has borne it willingly. He is winning his fight—has won it, I should say. And I know he will 'come back.' He will be the old Wally everybody knew and loved. Yes, he will 'come back'—if he recovers. He is critically ill and I am worried."

Wally will have a difficult financial situation to face if he does come back, say friends who are close to him.

Morphine is costly when a film star buys it. And there are many others than Wally Reid who know the truth of that. Wally's money, his friends say, went principally to dope peddlers and blackmailers and bootleggers.

AMERICAN ARMY ON RHINE SEEN AS GRAVE PERIL

Harvey Summoned for Conference.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright, 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 15. — [Tribune Radio.]—Ambassador George Harvey has been ordered home for consultation at Washington on the European situation and will sail on the Berengaria Dec. 23. Mr. Harvey still has a severe cold. Mrs. Harvey, who is recovering from an illness, sails for Madeira with her daughter, Mrs. Marcellus Thompson, Dec. 22.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The United States is endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the German reparations dispute which has produced the present threatening situation in Europe.

A discussion of plans of procedure is in progress between Washington, London, and Paris, and the outcome may be the reentry of the United States into European affairs for the purpose of exercising a stabilizing influence, avoiding the threatened clash between France and Germany, and saving Germany from economic collapse.

Peril in Troops on the Rhine.

Although American troops are to be retained on the Rhine a while longer, the Harding administration does not contemplate furnishing armed forces to back up its present program or committing itself to the employment of armed force in the future. President Harding believes that the influence of the United States, the greatest creditor nation in the world, will be sufficiently potent to accomplish the purposes in view.

If the plans under consideration, which were discussed at the cabinet meeting today, work out successfully it is expected that the amount of reparations Germany is obligated to pay the allies will be materially reduced and that a huge loan to Germany will be made by American, British, and French financiers to stabilize the German republic financially and enable it to make immediate payments.

Germany Slow to Reply.

In informed quarters here the impression was gathered that the main difficulty which confronts those concerned in adjustment of the European situation through an international loan to Germany is found in persuading the German government to indicate the amount of reparations which she is able to pay. The United States government is credited with being engaged in sounding Germany in that direction, but so far there has been no definite answer.

The German hesitation appears to be based on the fear that if she fixes the amount she can pay to the victorious allies, France will insist that this is a minimum amount and should be increased.

Danger of New War Recognized.

The delicate tension of affairs in Europe is recognized, particularly with Clemenceau and other foreign statesmen predicting another European war and France threatening to occupy the Ruhr district of Germany. The President and the cabinet have discussed with concern the dangers inherent in the presence of American troops on the Rhine, and the policy being pursued has been adopted with full recognition of those dangers.

If war should break out again in Europe and the American troops on the Rhine should be attacked, the United States would be compelled to reinforce them or swallow the affront, and in that manner would be likely to be drawn into the conflict. This danger was foreseen by the administration long ago, and it was one of the considerations entering into the decision to withdraw all American troops from European soil.

U. S. Troops Helpful or Hazardous?

According to one view, the United States soldiers in Europe are virtually hostages in the hands of the allies to insure American participation in any further outbreak of war. If there were no American troops abroad the involvement of the United States in another war in Europe would be extremely remote. But with American troops on the scene there would be every probability of the United States becoming involved.

On the other hand, it is pointed out that if the American troops are host ages in the hands of France and England it is a situation that is entirely acceptable to Germany, for the Berlin government specifically requested Washington to retain the armed forces of the United States on the Rhine. Germany made no secret of a preference for American to allied troops so long as there were to be any foreign soldiers in German territory. France and England also expressed their desire that the American contingent should be kept in Europe.

1,200 U. S. Men Now There.

Notwithstanding these representations, President Harding decreed that the American soldiers should be brought home, and the movement began not long after the peace treaty between the United States and Germany was ratified. At that time there were about 16,000 American soldiers in the occupied district of Germany. The withdrawal continued until the present force of 1,200 officers and men under command of Gen. Allen remained.

At that juncture the withdrawal was halted for a number of reasons pertaining to the relations of the United States with the allies and the general situation in Europe. The President came to the conclusion that the complete withdrawal of the American force and the disappearance of the American flag from the Rhine would have an unfortunate effect upon the consumamtion of certain plans to which the assent of France and England is necessary.

Harding Decides to Stick It Out.

Soon another reason for delay in withdrawing the troops was furnished the President. The row over reparations broke out afresh and grew until it reached the present proportions. Mr. Harding regarded the situation so delicate that any move by the United States to get out of Europe completely might upset the efforts being made to settle the reparations dispute amicably.

That is the status of the situation today. The danger of the presence of American troops in the heart of inflamed Europe is recognized, but the President is disposed to sit tight and bend every effort to effecting a peaceful adjustment of the reparations controversy, after which the American soldiers will be brought home.

Just how far the administration will be able to go in the direction of intercession to avert a European catastrophe even the administration does not know. Ambassador Harvey is expected to bring his knowledge and wisdom to bear on the problem.

Allied Premiers Meet Jan. 2.

It is hoped, however, that a plan can be perfected before the allied premiers are due to meet in Paris Jan. 2 to resume discussion of the reparations issue.

It is apparent that the allies have been maneuvering for some time to bring the United States into the negotiations on a basis of cancellation of all war debts as an offset to the reduction of Germany's reparational obligations. The administration, however, is keeping clear of any entanglement of this sort.

In the first place President Harding and his advisors regard the war debts and reparations distinct questions each of which must be dealt with independently on its own merits. In the second place congress has pronounced against cancellation of the debt to the United States and has provided for its refunding, as a consequence of which the President has no authority to enter into any negotiations involving cancellation.

Chief Interest in Reparations.

The indications are that the administration would not be disposed to go farther than participation in an European conference designed to stabilize European affairs by reducing the German reparations and providing for the financing of Germany by an international loan.

J. P. Morgan and his associated international bankers here and abroad are ready to undertake a loan of $1,500,000,000 or more to Germany provided the security and other conditions are satisfactory. When these bankers studied this question the first time they came to the conclusion that a loan would be unwarranted by the conditions at that time.

Mr. Morgan, it was learned today, has not changed his opinion. The conditions still are unsatisfactory and no loan will be forthcoming for Germany unless the situation is materially altered. This is what he told government officials when he was in Washington a few days ago.

The situation can be altered and conditions be made favorable to the floatation of a loan to Germany only by a settlement of the reparations questions by Germany and the allies. If the United States is able to bring about such a settlement the way will be paved for the proposed loan.

Reticent on World Conference.

In reply to queries as to whether the interest of the American government in European affairs would take the form of calling an economic conference or of participating either officially or unofficially in such a conference to be called by the other powers, the White House spokesman stated that any disclosures along that line would only tend to embarrass negotiations.

The American government, it was stated most emphatically at the White House, has no desire to avoid its obvious interest in the present European tangle. It was intimated also that some time in the near future there probably would be developments which could be disclosed and which would be of great interest to the public.

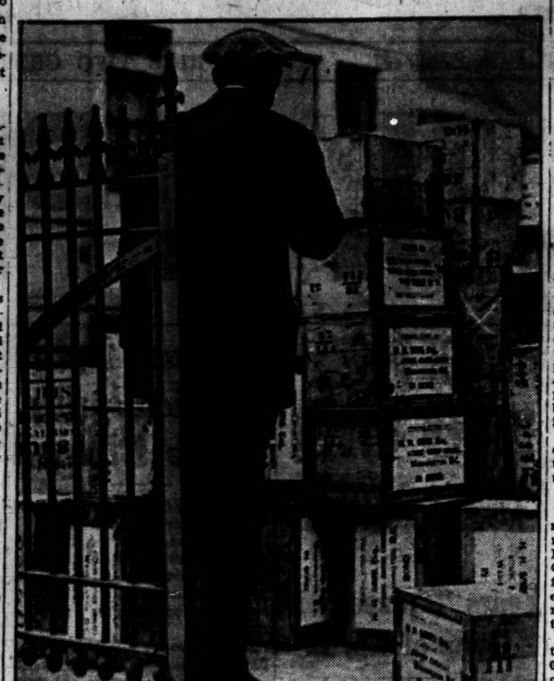

No U. S. Hand in Banking Loan.

State department officials denied any knowledge of any contemplated loan to Germany. It was explained that the state department does not approve or disapprove loans by private bankers to foreign governments, that it merely has asked American banking interests contemplating such loans to consult first with the department, in order that it may give them any information it may have bearing upon political and economic conditions in the country in question. Each case, officials emphasized, is considered solely upon its merits.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, was a caller at the White House today. The White House spokesman stated that Mr. Root's visit had been purely one of courtesy and that he spent half an hour in agreeable conversation with President Harding. No significance, whatever, it was stated, should be attached to the visit.

Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, the German ambassador, was a caller at the state department today and spent some time in conference with Secretary Hughes before the latter left for a cabinet meeting at the White House. Though no statement was made concerning the call, either by Dr. Wiedfeldt or Secretary Hughes, it was assumed that the ambassador had given Secretary Hughes certain information concerning conditions in Germany to be used in the discussion of the European situation at the cabinet meeting.

Mrs. Rachel Disston Weds John McVickar, New York

New York, Dec. 15.—Mrs. Rachel T. Disston, widow of the Philadelphia saw manufacturer and mother of Mrs. John Wanamaker Jr., was secretly married in Jersey City today to James McVickar of New York, it was learned tonight. It was Mr. McVickar's second marriage, he having been divorced in 1915 from his first wife, formerly Miss Daisy Emerson of Baltimore, a sister of Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, who was Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The marriage license gave Mrs. Disston's age as 48 and Mr. McVickar's as 40.

SEEK $1,000,000 CUT IN COUNTY'S BUDGET FOR 1923

Efficiency Experts Will Point "Useless" Jobs.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The finance committee of the county board recommended employment yesterday of J. L. Jacobs & Co., efficiency engineers, to make a comprehensive survey of the personnel, salaries, and classification of duties of all jobs in the county service. The plan, if approved by the board, is to have a report on all savings which can be accomplished and these accepted or rejected by the county board in the making of its annual budget before Feb. 28.

The Jacobs concern is hired on a per diem basis, but with the agreement that the entire job shall not cost more than $12,000.

Seek Saving of $1,000,000.

The objective is to save $1,000,000 or more in 1923, although that subject was not discussed in the committee session. But President Cermak has told the Circuit judges that he will not stand for the appropriating of more than the estimated income of the county. Chairman Peterson of the finance committee stands on the same platform.

He asserted in the resolution adopted that the county has been spending $1,000,000 more than its income for each of the last seven years. Mr. Jacobs outlined in general to the committee what he intends to do, and later a commissioner said that he would not be surprised if Jacobs recommends the saving of $1,500,000. He will investigate every position in the service to ascertain whether it is necessary, whether its occupant is earning the pay he is receiving, and whether the duties attached to the position demand more or less compensation to give good public service. The committee discussed whether the county has too many bricklayers without reaching a decision.

"Is that man Jacobs going to attempt to pass upon the qualifications of lawyers in the state's attorney's office," asked an aid of the prosecutor. The committee said that Jacobs will.

Job to Be Out of Politics.

President Cermak wanted the committee to appoint an auditor, also, but action was deferred until the annual budget is prepared. Mr. Cermak said that he had advertised for an auditor and received seventy-five applications. He asserted that the auditorship will be a nonpolitical job when created.

Sheriff Hoffman, former Sheriff Peters, Judge Harry M. Fisher, and the committee discussed for an hour the marriage court fees. It was finally decided that Commissioner Peterson, Sheriff Hoffman, and Judge Fisher shall attempt to reach an agreement on the fees. Mr. Peters is willing to do anything the judges desire.

UNIONS URGED TO STAND BY LANDIS PAY CONTRACTS

Building trades unions of Chicago were urged in letters sent to their officials last night by an advisory committee of the building trades council to stand by their Landis award agreements until they formally expire on May 31. The letter was sent out following a meeting of the building trades council at 180 West Washington street.

Union leaders were advised to call meetings of their unions and present to their memberships the necessity of standing by the agreement to the letter. The presence of a large number of nonunion workers in the city at present, due to some thirteen unions having been placed on an open shop basis because of their failure to stand by the agreement, was remarked upon.

Officials of the buildings trades foresee in this move by the advisory committee, it was said, a determination to stand by the Landis award until June 1 and then a united stand against open shops and a refusal of union men to work side by side with nonunion men.

CHICAGO HOLDS MAN DIOGENES SOUGHT SO LONG

"Chicago has one man who is scrupulously honest."

Officials of the Probate court in Joliet made this statement after Patrick McNulty, 6739 Cornell avenue, builder of sewers, appeared to turn over to the administrators of the estate of Father Patrick McGee, Manhattan, Ill., priest who died several weeeks ago, the sum of $19,159.72.

Administrators had no record of McGee ever having had such a sum. There were no papers, no receipts, no record of any transaction with McNulty. But the contractor said the priest had given him $9,500 to invest in 1908. The investment had grown to the sum turned in.

INVESTIGATE WOMAN'S DEATH.

Police are investigating the death of Mrs. Hattie Willis, 65 years old, found dead yesterday in her home, 33 West Illinois street.

SEEK TO DEFEAT "REDS" IN LABOR ELECTION TODAY

Radical Appeals Sent Steamfitters.

Opposition of the radical element in the Chicago building trades is being directed against reelection of the officials of the eighteen building trades which accepted the Landis award, it was learned last night.

The steamfitters' union accepted the Landis award despite a move for its repudiation by the radical element in the trade. Officials of the steamfitters' union stood pat, declaring that once an agreement was entered into by a labor organization it was the duty of its members to fulfill obligations entailed.

Today the steamfitters' union will hold its annual election of officers. Incumbent officials have been made a target for "red" activities and similar "red" campaigns have been started in other Landis award trades to defeat the present administrations.

Reds Seek Rau's Defeat.

"A year ago I announced I would resign from the business agency of the steamfitters' union," said Charles Rau, who has held official positions in his organization for twenty-three years, last night. "Chaotic conditions in the building industry prevented. Immediately on my decision to become a candidate again for office a campaign of 'red' activities to defeat me became apparent. Radical literature was spread among the steamfitters. Charles Krumbien, a delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor, directed the 'red' campaign in our organization. His faction favors repudiation of existing agreements."

Krumbien was convicted with William Bross Lloyd for violation of the sedition act and was among the men recently pardoned by Gov. Small. He is now awaiting trial with William Z. Foster, one big union champion and alleged "brains" of the 1919 steel strike, for violation of the anti-syndicalist law of Michigan.

Radical Letters Sent.

Following is one of the anonymous letters which have been sent out in the "red" campaign to defeat Landis award building trades leaders:

"Comrades: Now is the opportune time for mass action. There is but one way to down the capitalistic bosses who have acted as slave herders and who have reaped large profits and paid us low wages. Are we going to allow these, parasites and nonproducers to enslave us for another century? Nay! Nay! Nay! Down with those who are holding office in the Steam Fitters' union. PUBLICITY COMMITTEE."

CHURCHES SAY U. S. MUST GO TO AID OF EUROPE

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15.—A resolution appealing to the churches to become centers of public educa "n on the moral necessity of the United States assuming its full share of responsibility in international affairs was adopted at the closing session of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America tonight.

"It is plain," the resolution said, "that unless the United States comes to the aid of Europe the world is threatened with chaos. The European nations can never meet the conditions caused by the war, in which the United States was a participant, without this country's sympathetic counsel and economical help."

Another resolution adopted commended the various organizations for their relief work in the near east and indorsed the position of the United States government at the Lausanne conference on problems of the persecuted non-Moslem populations.

WALSH MURDER TRIAL GOES TO JURORS TODAY

Jurymen whose duty it will be tonight to find Thomas Walsh, business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers' union, guilty or innocent of the murder of George Gast, killed a year ago in Adolph Georg's weinstube, listened yesterday to arguments by Walsh's attorneys, Benedict Short and Everett Jennings, who branded the state's case as preposterous.

Short spoke all forenoon, Jennings finishing during the afternoon session. They ridiculed the state for asking for a verdict of guilty after nine eyewitnesses had sworn Walsh was not the murderer of Gast and Georg.

Attorney Edwin Raber, hired by the crime commission to prosecute Walsh and deputized by State's Attorney Crowe for that purpose, will take over the argument this morning. It is expected the jury will retire to consider a verdict late in the afternoon.

START MOVE TO AMEND BASIC LAW AMENDING CLAUSE

Ickes and Colleagues Will Call Conference.

An active campaign with the slogan, "Amend the Amending Clause" of the state constitution was put on foot yesterday by the executive committee of the People's Protective league at a meeting in the office of Harold L. Ickes.

Mr. Ickes was authorized to call a state-wide conference to be held in Chicago, and said the call would be issued within the next ten days.

"We believe the new movement will have the practically unanimous support of those who were sufficiently interested to vote either one way or the other on the proposed constitution last Tuesday," said Mr. Ickes. "The leaders of the fight against the new draft have been just as keenly alive as its advocates to the necessity of certain changes in the fundamental law of the state. They believe the greatest progress can be made by liberalizing the amending clause."

Mohr Boom Started.

An extensive movement aimed to effect the reelection of Albert Mohr as a member of the south park board is backed by a committee the chairman of which is George W. Bolling, editor of the Daily Calumet, a South Chicago newspaper controlled by Patrick H. Moynihan, a city hall satellite and one of Gov. Small's appointees on the Illinois commerce commission.

Other members—members of the executive committee—are Michael P. Byrne, James G. Barsaloux, Oscar Ecklund, William J. Davison, John Bereson, Albert C. Clark, Walter E. Schmidt, and Carl J. Adams.

The Mohr boosters are planning a big dinner in his honor at the South Shore Country club in the near future.

McMurdy for Congress.

Robert McMurdy, first president of the Hamilton club, is being discussed as a possible Republican candidate for the congressional vacancy created by the death of James R. Mann.

Rush B. Johnson filed a petition before County Judge Righeimer asking for a recount of the ballots in the Municipal court contest in which he was a candidate.

Arrest Maid Sought in $100,000 Harrison Theft

Mary De Rozier, formerly maid in the home of James E. Harrison, victim of a $100,000 jewel robbery a few days ago, is under arrest in Syracuse, Kas., according to word received here last night. She is wanted here for the theft of $7,500 worth of jewels from the Harrison home, held in Syracuse on robbery charges, and wanted in Toronto, Canada, where she served a prison term in 1920.

CLYNE ATTACKS "FIRST AID CLUB" FOR BOOTLEGGERS

Bond and Law Staff Always on Tap.

District Attorney Clyne last night announced that checking of the 400 members of the "B—Ellers association," an alleged bootleggers' protective organization, said to embody some of the legitimate features of motor clubs, will start today by members of his staff. Two federal agents worked late into the night in an effort to round up the organizers.

According to Mr. Clyne, the association thus far has been confined to Cook county, and membership have been received on a yearly basis. Registration has been effected by the payment of $50, which included, an engraved membership card, a personal code number, and several telephone numbers.

Provided with Bonds.

If arrested by either federal or municipal officials, the member would call one of the telephone numbers on his list, repeat his code number, and state his whereabouts, Mr. Clyne said. In a short time an attorney would appear, and Liberty bonds would be posted as surety for the alleged bootlegger. The association guaranteed surety to $2,000, to be used for one year, if necessary, according to the government's information.

While the association is said to have an extensive legal department, many lawyers not officially connected with the organization have appeared for members. It appears they were asked to act by attorneys who professed press of business as a reason for not taking the cases themselves.

Traces "Emergency Call."

One of the "emergency telephone numbers" was traced yesterday by Mr. Clyne and found to be the offices of a former large business concern, which recently filed a petition in bankruptcy in federal court.

Mr. Clyne announced he would also look into reports that solicitors for the "association" had endeavored to sell "short terms memberships"—inspired by one trip traveling insurance—the plan being to give legal service to carriers of "hip liquor" during the holiday season.

PONTIAC INMATE IS HANGED FOR KILLING GUARD

Myron Corbridge, 22 years old, inmate of the Illinois state reformatory at Pontiac, was hanged yesterday for the murder last June of Henry Jones, a guard at the institution. Fred Corbridge, a brother, was present at the execution.

Corbridge mounted the gallows at the stroke of 9, and four minutes later was plunged to his death. He recited a poem, consisting of seven verses, which he wrote several days ago. His final words, "Take good care of mother, Fred; so long," were addressed to his brother, who stood a few feet below.

State, However, Loses One Point of Contention.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Former State Treasurers Len Small, Fred E. Sterling, and Andrew Russel are required to go to trial in the case of the state of Illinois against them as former treasurers for restitution of interest money that may have been collected by them during their respective terms. This was determined definitely by Judge Norman L. Jones, sitting in the Circuit court of Sangamon county, in the opinion handed down today in the case brought by the state against the former state treasurers and their bondsmen.

Two Main Points Decided.

Judge Jones held:

1—That the state treasurers act of 1905 is unconstitutional upon the theory that the legislature has no authority to interfere with the constitutional liabilities of the state treasurer [he may use his own judgment in selecting the bank in which to make state deposits].

2—That in common law the state treasurer is responsible for funds that come into his hands and interest thereon is the property of the state and not in any sense a perquisite.

Judge Jones specifically held that the state treasurer must turn into the state treasury any interest that may have been accrued directly or indirectly from the deposit of state's funds. This affects the terms of the ex-treasurers involved—Small, Russel, and Sterling. The test now comes in the Supreme court.

Can't Impair Responsibility.

Judge Jones in holding the interest in the 1905 invalid, said:

"It was the positive purpose of the general assembly as expressed in said act to compel the state treasurer to deposit the public funds within five days after he received them in some of the banks of this state and, by implication, to prevent him from withdrawing any or all of said moneys so deposited except for the purpose of paying the appropriations and obligations of the state. It is beyond the power of the legislature to relieve the state treasurer from any such responsibility.

"The legislature is without power to compel a state treasurer to put the public funds at profitable employment or to impose upon him any hazard whatever.

"He is a constitutional officer and the legislature cannot deprive or strip him of his stewardship. Neither can it assume for itself the right to designate the depository for the public funds, whether such depository be a bank or otherwise.

"Inasmuch as I am of the opinion that the defendants cannot be compelled to make answer to such allegations of the bill as are predicated upon the act of 1905 the special demurrers will be sustained or overruled, as indicated by an order of court this day entered of record.

Must Yield Actual Profits.

"There are, however, various claims of relief presented by the bill which are not predicated upon the provisions of the act of 1905. The law is so settled that it needs no discussion to demonstrate that a treasurer who employs the public funds and thereby realizes a profit thereon must account to the state not only for the funds themselves but for the profits as well.

"The bill expressly charges that the public funds in the hands of the defendant, Small, had earned through interest on bank deposits and through the manipulations of Small and Edward C. and Vernie S. Curtis large sums of money in excess of the amount accounted for and turned over.

"It makes no difference whether the interest was earned on deposits in banks made in pursuance of the act of 1905 or not. He is accountable to the state for all the profits received either by himself or his said associates.

"The bill in such particulars is sufficient to require an answer. Therefore, the general demurrers will be overruled."

GIRL MISSING; POLICE ASKED TO MAKE SEARCH

Mysterious disappearance Thursday of Miss Lillian Foerster, 22 years old, and pretty, from her room in the home of Mrs. George Edmunds, 452 East Marquette road, led Mrs. Edmunds to appeal to police last night to search for her.

Miss Foerster, employed as a stenographer by the Alfred Decker Cohen company, left a note to Mrs. Edmunds advising her to forward any mail to her brother, Dewey Foerster, 146 South Woodlawn street, Columbus, O. Another note addressed to her brother contained this sentence: "I feel that I must get out of it all."

CONTRACT FOR LLOYD GEORGE MEMOIRS VOID

Cancellation After Suit Threat.

THE TRIBUNE and the New York Times announced on Sept. 15 last that they had jointly purchased the serial rights for the United States to the war memoirs of David Lloyd George, then prime minister of England. The price to be paid was £40,000, of which £4,000 was paid in advance. The contract for this purchase has now been canceled at the instance of the two newspapers.

The contract was signed after representations had been made by the agent in London that the work had been begun and was then in progress. Half of it, he hoped, would be delivered to the purchasers by Jan. 1, 1923, and the remainder as rapidly as possible.

However, to meet the contingency of Mr. Lloyd George's labors, a period of two years was allowed for the completion of the work.

Another Contract Made.

With great surprise, therefore, the two newspapers learned on Nov. 23 that Mr. Lloyd George, who had just retired from the office of prime minister, was about to enter into a contract with an American syndicate to write weekly and fortnightly articles on current topics for a period that, under a proposed option, might be extended to 108 weeks, overlapping the two year period within which the memoirs were to be completed, and, in the opinion of the purchasers, endangering their delivery and impairing their value.

The two newspapers at once made energetic protest, but on the following day Mr. Lloyd George entered into the new contract, whereupon they urged that the proper course was the cancellation of their contract for the memoirs.

Mr. Lloyd George in a reply held that in making the arrangement for the articles he was not violating the terms of his contract with the Times and THE TRIBUNE. Meanwhile his new articles were being offered to newspapers in America in such phrases as "they will be released long before the memoirs," and "this new series will be much more valuable than the memoirs, being of current interest and injuring the value of the Memoirs." Mr. Lloyd George has expressed strong disapproval of these phrases and states that they were issued without his knowledge.

Start Court Action.

An extended cable correspondence not producing the result desired—a cancellation of the contract—the Times and THE TRIBUNE last Wednesday, through their London counsel, Sir Charles Russell, began an action in the High Court of Justice in London asking for an injunction restraining the publication of Mr. Lloyd George's syndicate articles and, alternately, asking for the cancellation of the contract for the memoirs made by Mr. Lloyd George with the Times and THE TRIBUNE.

Leave was granted for a motion to be heard yesterday. On Thursday Mr. Lloyd George's solicitors agreed to the cancellation of the contract with the Times and THE TRIBUNE and the return to the two newspapers of the advance payment less a part of the commission that had been paid by Mr. Lloyd George to his agent.

PENNY THAT COST COUNTY $5,000 TO HISTORICAL EXHIBIT

Exhibition in the rooms of the Chicago Historical society of the penny which cost Cook county more than $5,000 in legal services necessary to collect it from William Dunn, a West Lake street merchant, was assured yesterday by Judge Joseph B. David. Dunn appeared before Judge David for failure to pay a fine of 1 cent and costs of $46.50 assessed against him in a conspiracy case brought by former Sheriff Charles W. Peters.

As a member of the Law Enforcement league, Dunn attacked the custom of allowing the sheriff to pay county judges serving on the local bench from funds obtained in the marriage court.

Suits filed by Dunn resulted in the conspiracy charge and resultant conviction, which was appealed by Dunn to the Appellate court, after he had demanded a change of venue from all the sitting justices in the Municipal, Circuit, and Superior courts. The high court affirmed the ruling.

"Here's the penny fine," said Dunn yesterday, "but I don't want to pay those costs."

"This case has cost the state more than $5,000 so far," said Judge David "and if you don't pay the costs assessed against you suit for them will be instituted."

"Get the penny, whatever you do," continued the judge to his clerk, Isaac Weil. "It is so seldom that the state of Illinois gets a cent out of anybody that I hereby order the penny paid taken to the Chicago Historical society and placed in a glass case for exhibition."

Boy Ties Self to a Cow; Cow Runs Away; Boy Dead

THIRD FEDERAL AGENT SLAIN IN MOONSHINE WAR

Officers, However, Kill Gang Leader.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—For the third time within a week a posse of federal prohibition agents who today went from state headquarters here into the hills of the headwaters of Slate creek, Menefee county, seeking Bob Ballard, moonshiner, are returning with one member of their party dead. Two other officers were killed in the two previous fights. All three officers were shot down from ambush without having a chance to defend themselves. But today the federal officers swapped the life of one of their members for that of the supposed leader of the outlaw gang, and reports reaching here are that they are returning with five prisoners.

In today's battle between two barricaded mountaineers and twenty prohibition agents and possemen, E. Guy Cole, 36, prohibition agent, Bowling Green, Ky., and Bob Ballard, alleged leader of the outlaw band, were the men killed.

Agent's Body Riddled.

Cole was killed before the posse had fired a shot, and when he approached a log cabin which Albert Ballard and Ferguson, two men under arrest, had told the officers contained no one. Cole's body fell across the threshold of the door, which was thrown open suddenly, and a volley of pistol shots fired at him, the two men in the cabin then dragging the body inside.

The possemen dropped to the ground and began working their way toward the cabin, answering the fire of the barricaded men with volleys from Browning machine rifles and Krag and Springfield army rifles. Before the house was surrounded Charles Ballard dashed out of a rear door and fled through the woods. Members of the posse believe he was wounded.

Entering the cabin, it was found Bob Ballard had been killed by a machine gun bullet that had penetrated the log wall.

Two Previous Slayings.

Prohibition Agent R. E. Duff of Owingsville was killed last Saturday by two men in a fortified log cabin he was attempting to enter. The following day Posseman David Treadway of Mount Sterling was shot through the head and killed instantly when he topped a hill 400 yards from the first tragedy.

Joff Ballard, father of Bob, and Charles, a third son, Albert, and Will Ferguson are in custody.

FOSTER MAY SLIP POLICE GRIP; SENT TO COUNTY JAIL

Sleuths Balked in Plan to Gain Confession.

Arthur Foster, rejected suitor of Mrs. Kate Mitchell Trostell, accused by the police of the death of the pretty widow, was taken from the custody of Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes late yesterday and lodged in the county jail on an order issued by Judge Hebel.

This action, taken by the judge on the statements of Foster and his attorneys that he was being subjected to "third degree" methods in an effort to wring from him a confession, greatly reduces the chances of solving the mystery, as the police admit that unless they can find Mrs. Trostell's body they have no case against Foster. And without a confession they have no clew as to where to look for the body.

Human Blood.

The order was issued shortly before Coroner's Chemist William D. McNally had made his report showing that the spots found on the running board of Foster's automobile were human blood. This was considered as bearing out the police theory that Foster murdered the woman and then disposed of the body, possibly in water near Ashland avenue and 27th street.

At one time Foster was alleged to have admitted that the body was in the murky waters of the West Forks turning basin, but an all day search failed to bring it to light. Later he is said to have told police that it was in the drainage canal, a few hundred feet away. This is to be searched today. In addition, too, there is the south branch of the river and the old Illinois and Michigan canal, partially filled with the hulls of rotting canal boats, and if the body is hidden there it would be practically impossible to find it without specific directions.

In court yesterday Foster repudiated all the admissions attributed to him. Arraigned on a writ of habeas corpus, he told Judge Hebel that he had not been allowed to sleep since he was confined in the bureau Monday night. Hour after hour he would be questioned by different detectives, and if he attempted to sleep when returned to his cell he would be rudely awakened by detectives guarding him. It wasn't until the fourth day of his stay in the bureau that he was given anything to eat.

Believes "Somebody Guilty."

"This man should be held to give the police more time to work on the case," Assistant State's Attorney John Chott told the court.

"Yes, your honor," added Assistant State's Attorney Richard E. Westbrooks, "somebody is guilty of something."

Lieut. John J. Farrell stated that Foster had told him that Mrs. Trostell's body was in the basin and that he hoped the police will find it. He said that he had a check for $101 which he was willing to bet against $1 that the body would be found, and when it was found he wanted to spend the money for flowers and a grave.

Foster told the court that two months ago Mrs. Trostell had told him she thought she would jump into the canal and end her troubles. It was brought out in court that she recently underwent an illegal operation and had been sick since that time. Police are looking for a physician and a midwife in this connection.

Attorney Byrnes filed a petition for another writ of habeas corpus, and Foster was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and locked up in the county jail.

KELLER REFUSES TO APPEAR AGAIN AS IMPEACHER

Daugherty Case May Go to Lower House.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Another surprise was furnished before the house judiciary committee today with the failure of Representative Keller [Rep., Minn.] to appear in response to a formal summons to give under oath the information on which he based his impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Keller gave no explanation other than that contained in a letter from his counsel, Jackson H. Ralston, which stated that Mr. Ralston was unable to appear today because of imperative business engagements.

May Come Back Today.

"Without submitting at this time to the jurisdiction of the committee with regard to the subpoena," the letter said, "I am expecting at your next meeting, tomorrow or later, to take such position before the committee with regard to the subject as then may seem appropriate."

Arguing that this letter contained no "excuse" for the failure of Mr. Keller to respond to the summons, some committeemen favored an immediate report to the house recommending that he be haled before the bar there in contempt proceedings. Finally, however the committee decided to hear his counsel tomorrow before charting its course.

Keller Consults Counsel.

Mr. Keller, who was present in the house during practically the entire session today, conferred late in the day with his counsel as to his future position, but no announcement was made.

Irrespective of the action with regard to Mr. Keller individually, members were insistent that the hearing of the impeachment charges should continue. There were those who wanted to go on today, but a majority was of the opinion that the further taking of testimony should be delayed until the question of whether Mr. Keller was to appear had been determined.

Small Sees 10c Boost in Tax Rate to Pay for Bonus

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—The tax rate for 1923 will be decided at a meeting next Wednesday, Gov. Small announced this morning. The bonus, he said, would likely cause an increase of 10 cents in the rate, but he was unable to say at this time whether that increase would be applied in 1923.

LA FOLLETTE'S HEAVIEST GUNS TURN ON SUBSIDY

Ship Bill Is Altogether Bad, He Declares.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—That the administration ship subsidy bill is wholly bad, that it is contrary to the expressed will of the American people, and that it is indefensible to press it at this time, following the defeat of many Republicans in the recent election, was asserted by Senator La Follette [Rep., Wis.] in a lengthy speech in the senate today.

Senator La Follette declared that three-fourths of the people of the country, through resolutions of various organizations, have gone on record as unalterably opposed to a ship subsidy and that the farmers and wage earners are practically unanimous in opposition to the measure.

Lasker Proposal "Improper."

Organized labor, the Wisconsin senator said, is solidly against the bill notwithstanding "a highly improper proposal," made by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and other labor officials, under which "he offered to withdraw certain provisions in the bill in return for the support of their organizations."

Senator La Follette denounced a provision by which, he said, the International Mercantile Marine company would be able to receive the benefits of the ship subsidy, even though it continues after three years to have as much as 50 per cent of its tonnage under the British flag.

Worst Bill He Knows Of.

"I do not believe that a bill worse than this ever came before the senate for consideration," the Wisconsin senator said after discussing various provisions of the measure. "It represents a policy that had been repeatedly rejected by the people. It simply means turning over the people's property to favored interests for a few cents on the dollar and a tax of millions of dollars levied annually to pay as a subsidy to those who take the ships practically as a gift.

"It means millions of dollars of tax refunds to the shipping interests. It does not even promise, much less guarantee, cheaper rates for ocean commerce. It proposes to destroy our army and navy transports and turn this great agency of potential defense over to private ship owners.

Can See No Benefits at All.

"It does not guarantee the building of a single new ship or the maintenance of those we have. It is wholly bad, and the attempt to force it upon an unwilling country cannot be too strongly condemned."

Senator La Follette described the efforts of the administration to bring about the passage of the bill as "an open challenge to the people."

PROVE ASQUITH'S SON GETS PART OF BRITISH SUBSIDY

LONDON, Dec. 15.—[Tribune Radio.]—The Daily Herald, a London Socialist paper, today enlarges on charges of corruption made in the house of commons a few days ago by Mr. Johnson, a Scottish Labor party member of parliament, against former Prime Minister Herbert A. Asquith in connection with the vote of £1,000,000 ($4,600,000) subsidy to the Soudan government for the encouragement of cotton growing.

Mr. Johnson declared the Soudan government had given £104,000 ($478,000) to the Soudan Development syndicate, of which Brig. Gen. A. M. Asquith, son of the former prime minister, was a director and he objected to voting public money which was likely to be given companies in which leading politicians were interested.

Mr. Asquith indignantly repudiated the suggestion that he was interested in the matter.

PROSECUTION IN BRUNEN MURDER TRIAL IS CLOSED

Defense, Deriding State's Witnesses, to Begin.

Mount Holly, N. J., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The prosecution in the Brunen murder trial closed its case this afternoon and Supreme Court Justice Kalisch adjourned proceedings until Monday morning.

Soon after the adjournment, Walter C. Keown, counsel for the defendants, Mrs. Doris Mohr Brunen, widow of the slain circus man, and her brother, Harry C. Mohr, stated that he would move for the dismissal of the indictment against Mrs. Brunen on the resumption of the trial.

Derides Witnesses' Tales.

The lawyer declared that the testimony of approximately seventy-five witnesses called by Prosecutor Jonathan H. Kelsey, had not produced a scintilla of corroboration that Mrs. Brunen knew that her husband was to be slain.

He said that the testimony of Charles M. Powell, that he shot Brunen through the kitchen window of the Brunen home, at Riverside, near here, on the evening of March 10 last, had not been corroborated by any witness.

Hired to Kill, He Says.

Powell testified that he formerly was a concessionaire in "Honest John" Brunen's circus, that Harry Mohr hired him to shoot Brunen while he sat reading a newspaper in a rocking chair in the kitchen, and that Mohr told him that Mrs. Brunen would raise the shade at a window beside which the showman sat as a signal that all was ready for the killing.

In event the motion is denied, Keown says he will place Mohr on the stand as the first witness for the defense and he will be followed by Mrs. Brunen.

"I expect that Mohr's testimony will occupy all of Monday," he said, "and it is likely that the defense will take all of next week to submit its case."

Take 35 in Raid on Ryan Poolroom; 8 Guns, Masks

A raid on a poolroom operated at 1600 West Division street, by James Ryan, former professional baseball player, resulted in the arrest last night of thirty-five men, all of whom were taken to the bureau of identification. Eight guns, a blackjack and five hooded caps were found on the men. The raid was directed by Lieut. Michael Grady, and Sergts. Smith, Dellege and Gibbons.

BRUNDAGE GAINS; HOPE TO AVOID AN OPERATION

Attorney General Brundage who was rushed back to Chicago from the Herrin trials at Marion because of a sudden illness, apparently is on the way to speedy recovery.

When he reached Chicago yesterday morning he was taken to the Illinois Masonic hospital where Dr. Elmer E. Vaughan, his family physician, diagnosed the case as appendicitis. Steps were taken to relieve the inflammation of the appendix and the attorney general spent a comfortable day.

Last night it was said that an operation probably would be unnecessary.

ron that can be depended upon to stand by one at whatever cost to himself.

"I hope it you ever get peaceably straightened out over this affair that you will find some real comfort and happiness and not have to keep fighting an uphill game. Maybe, now that you have got rid of the Jonah that has been troubling your life so long, things will go right.

Wishes Him Happiness.

"I don't see any use in our both paying any more. It can't make me any happier for you to be miserable. I most certainly do not grudge you any happiness you may have. As I know you can never be happy alone, I hope you will find this arrangement the right thing for you. You must have suffered because you liked her, and it was wrong to do so while you thought you were tied or mentally tied to me, because I know you have a conscience. You might have had it all cleared up long ago.

"It is surely my affair and yours and no one can make me tell anything different. I know you have got to a very awkward place because you struck that German, because he was rotten to you and to a woman.

"As ever, M."

"Fussing About Lawyer."

"Charlie: Just now when M. and O. thought I had gone out, I heard mother say, 'For heaven's sake, don't tell him; he might murder some one,' and 'she looks ill enough now.' Then I had to rattle a chair. I suppose they are fussing about the lawyer not half as much as I am. The Denver train is in some time and I have had no call, so I hope I have headed him off and that he won't turn up here and pump mother. Even if she meant no harm she could tell a good deal that would hurt you. As to my looking ill, I have a cold and some fever from tonsils.

"I shall not answer the man if he writes, but send it on to you. Edgeworth has just smashed up his foot; one toe and some bones had to be cut out.

"How about my offering to go down there? This locality does not seem healthy. I would have wired you about the lawyer, but that it might be more harm than good. He didn't get much from me. He may think I am the wrong person. Hope he does.

"I shall make light of it to mother, but I know she thinks it is the old kid trouble. Can't you tell her it is dead? Am hurrying this off while all are out.

BANK ROBBERS NOW ACCUSED OF MURDER AND TWO HOLDUPS

The bandits who confessed the Logan Square bank holdup in which $19,000 was taken were credited yesterday with two other holdups and a murder. Albert Rogers, one of the bandits, was identified as the man wanted as a murder suspect in the killing of James Metelsky, a porter in a Clybourn avenue saloon, a year ago.

Raymond Eder, an American Express messenger, identified the Logan Square band as the men who held him up last winter. E. T. Walker, treasurer of the Chicago Railway Equipment company, identified three of the gang as the men who shot and robbed him of a $2,600 pay roll last September.

MET IN COLLEGE

It was in 1906, when he was a champion shotputter, and Miss Beddoes was a co-ed at Swarthmore college, that they first met.

"We were only kids," he mused. "It was a boy and girl affair. She was 23, I was 21. When her family found out, I told them we were married to save her good name. We tried to love each other, tried for seventeen years, but gradually our love grew cold.

"Four years ago when I entered the army I saw a good chance to break things in a way that would still keep her family in ignorance of the awful nightmare through which we had gone. I said there were no quarters in army camps for officers' wives, and we separated."

Gets Steak Dinner.

A kind soul came to the captain's cell with a steak dinner from the hotel to supplement the jail fare, and the captain ate his first meal since his arrest.

Capt. Pike told of coming to Chicago last spring, when he was attached to the United States Marine hospital at 4141 Clarendon avenue. It was there, while she was serving as a Red Cross nurse, that he met Miss Helle. From the first he was opposed by Miss Helle's father, it appears.

"I made no pretense of being single," Pike said. "I laid all my cards on the table. I consulted lawyers, and they told me I was legally free to marry. Then Mr. Helle came to me and said he wanted to see me in his office. That was when he had witnesses hidden and got my story. I made a clean breast of my past when he said he was acting as my attorney.

'A lawyer, a doctor, a priest,' they say," and the captain laughed mirthlessly. "He kept telling me to talk louder, that he was deaf, and I, like a fool, told him all. Later I visited his offices again. We quarreled; he struck me, and I gave him what was coming to him. That settled it.

Flies Army Charges.

"From then on nothing was too mean for him to do to me. He sent his daughter to Wyoming, while he filed army charges against me in Washington, but she came back to see me through and we were married. Then Helle went to Colorado to see my first wife, and now she is turned against me."

Questioned as to whether there had been any children by his first marriage, the captain was noncommittal and referred to Mrs. Beddoes Pike. He also refused to explain the phrase, "kid trouble," in one of the letters. It was Helle's coming she feared when she wrote this, he said.

"My God, I can't understand!" he finished. "I tried to be a man and tell everything, and this is what I get."

CASE BEING REVIEWED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Capt. Pike's case is being reviewed, and has not yet reached Surgeon General Cummings. He says the evidence is voluminous, but thinks the review of testimony and the decision will come to him by Monday. He will then make known the ruling.

DEMOCRAT PUT OUT OF CONGRESS ATTACKS G. O. P.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—In a parting shot at his Republican foes just before they ousted him late today from the house of representatives on the ground of election irregularities, Representative Thomas W. Harrison, Democrat, of the Seventh Virginia district, charged that the life of the Republican party in his state was based on patronage. He then proceeded to read letters which he declared "proved incontrovertibly" that patronage had been sold there.

Amid the utmost confusion in the chamber, Mr. Harrison declared that Representative C. Bascomb Slemp of the Ninth Virginia district and Republican national committeeman, was the dispenser of all patronage.

"Offices Sold for Lucre."

"The people of the country do not altogether understand Virginia Republican politics." Mr. Harrison exclaimed, holding aloft a handful of letters and canceled checks. "It is a pure matter of patronage, and a question of how they can feed at the public trough. I have been hearing that offices were sold for what money there was in it, and here are the letters.

"Slemp is the disburser of all patronage. He is the man who has to give his indorsement to anybody that applies ont only in my own state but also, as I understand, in other states.

"I picked up a few checks—checks, gentlemen, by the bushel. They are indorsed, some of them by Mr. Slemp and some of them by Mr. Howard, his secretary."

Letter Urges "Caution."

Mr. Slemp, interrupting, demanded the date, and Mr. Harrison replied that they seemed to run over a year, from December, 1920, to January, 1923. The checks were not read into the record. Mr. Harrison said most of them were drawn to Mr. Slemp and Mr. Howard and signed by R. R. Powell, whom he later described, in answer to questions from the floor, as a patronage referee.

The first of the letters read aloud purported to have been written by Mr. Slemp to Powell in answer to letters "in regard to the collection of money for postoffices."

"One must be very careful about this," the letter said.

It was on the heels of Mr. Harrison's speech, which Republicans described as an effort to attack Mr. Slemp, that the house put off debate and voted, 202 to 100, to declare his seat vacant. With this done, it voted 201 to 99, to seat John Paul, Republican contestant, who was immediately sworn in to serve until March 4. Mr. Harrison was elected in November, and will return to his old seat in the new congress.

LODGE'S SEAT IN SENATE DRAWS DRY'S PROTEST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[United News.]—Senator Lodge's right to his seat in the senate has been challenged.

The Liberal Republican league of Massachusetts, represented by C. W. Crooker, the chairman, and John A. Nicholls, Prohibition senatorial candidate in the recent election, has protested to Vice President Coolidge, as president of the senate, to institute immediate investigation of the validity of Mr. Lodge's election.

DEERFIELD ADDS BOXING TO GIRLS' SCHOOL STUDIES

In this advanced age of woman's rights, girls' football and baseball teams are becoming common sights, but it remained for the authorities of Deerfield grammar school in Deerfield to encourage the manly art of boxing among girl pupils.

The move to teach the fair ones to "handle their mitts" has met with the approval of the parents and civic organizations of the community, one of the strongest boosters being the Rev. Martin Luther Thomas, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The pastor is so active in his encouragement that once a week he attends the boxing matches of the girls and often referees.

DELAY SERVING $20,000 BOND ORDER ON LLOYD

Flight of two I. W. W. chieftains in order to evade prison terms' presents William Bross Lloyd, millionaire communist of Winnetka, the alternative of paying the government $20,000, the amount of their bonds, or losing his estate.

Federal Judge Page yesterday entered the formal court judgment calling on the wealthy communist to make good on the bonds put up for William D. Haywood and Charles Rothstein. Haywood fled to Russia and Rothstein failed to appear when time came for them to enter Leavenworth penitentiary. They were convicted of sedition during the noted I. W. W. trial conducted during the war.

Mr. Lloyd, it is said, has fourteen days in which to signify his intention

Why are Kayser vests so long?

Kayser vests simply can't roll up or wrinkle, because they are so long and shaped to fit the waist and hips. They stay down.

BESIDES, they are Italian Silk—the best silk there is—and Italian Silk, so well tailored, hangs snugly to the lines of the body with a feeling of fitness that has never been equalled.

Kayser Italian Silk Underwear is the most luxurious—yet it costs less, because it lasts so long.

WELL FED TORIES' HOWLS DEFIED BY LADY ASTOR

Cry "Bolshevik" as She Pleads for Poor.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—[Tribune Radio.]—Lady Astor was howled down today at a meeting of the National Unionist association, which is the equivalent of a national party convention, because she tried to tell the delegates frankly that the growth of socialism in England was due to reactionary toryism.

Lady Astor, speaking on a resolution urging economic education among the young as a counter to the Socialist campaign in the schools and colleges, said:

"There is no use talking about 'our empire' and using fine phrases like that. Let us get down to the root of the causes and find out what is producing socialism and Socialists. Talking about the empire does not carry much weight with men and women with six children living in two rooms. Many of our party are living in two houses and cannot realize the conditions of these people. It is said the teachers are Socialists. I do not blame them."

Lady Astor Defiant.

Lady Astor was interrupted by shouts from all parts of the hall, such as "Shame!" "Withdraw!" "Go Back to America."

"You are worse than the Labor party," Lady Astor replied. "Shut up, if you don't, you will not be able to hear what I am saying."

Lady Astor held her ground until the shouting died down, then she continued:

"The women in this room know what I mean. Before the war the teacher had classes of sixty children and was not paid a living wage."

There were more shouts of "Shame!" "You are a bolshevist!" "Go to Russia!"

"She gets a living wage now, but she didn't before the war."

By this time well fed, prosperous delegates in all parts of the hall were standing on their benches and yelling as if something revolutionary had been said. Lady Astor shouted loud enough to be heard above the din:

Charges Fear of Truth.

"It is too bad to be shouted down by your own party at a meeting," shouted Lady Astor. "After all, I have never shown lack of courage in fighting either bolsheviks or reactionaries."

This caused more shouting and in a lull Lady Astor said:

"It is really ridiculous if you cannot listen to truth without having a row." The arrival of Prime Minister Bonar Law, who made an address on the party's policy, stopped the row.

"Foreign Affairs Menace Britain."

Mr. Bonar Law said the main thing on which the recovery of the country depended was a revival of trade, but circumstances were beyond control and the greatest danger to the realm came from foreign affairs.

He asserted it was commonplace to say prosperity and tranquility at home depended on peace abroad. He declared whatever the result may be, there was nothing but good will throughout the premiers' London conference, and in his opinion every difficult problem will be solved more easily when all concerned are determined to solve it if they can.

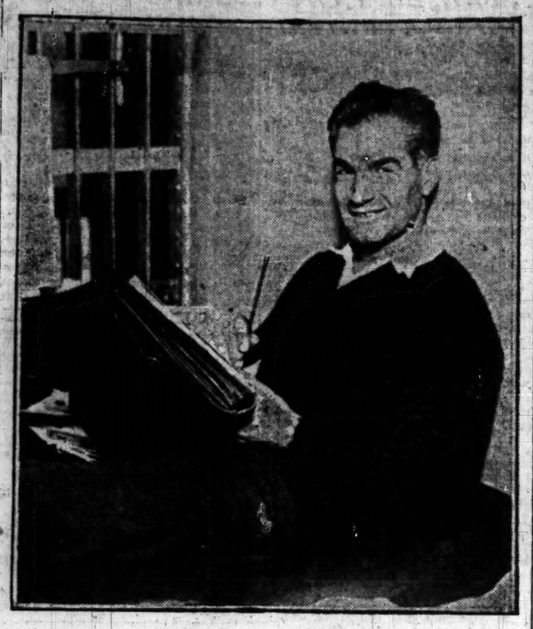

Regarding the home situation, he believed the worst of the trade depression was over and that Great Britain was on the way to better times.

Parliament was prorogued today until Feb. 13 and the threatened Labor party revolt failed to materialize.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Caught on the New York Central railway tracks, H. G. Imel and his son, Glenn, 14, were struck by a wrecking train, their automobile being smashed into junk. The elder Imel jumped to safety, but the lad, held by a heavy robe in which his legs were wrapped, was so badly mangled that he soon died.

MOTHERS TELL U.S. OF ABUSES AT BOYS' SCHOOL

Find Kendrigan Got Rumely's School.

Mothers of several boys who attended the now defunct Keewatin academy conducted by James Hornibrook Kendrigan yesterday visited the office of Postal Inspector Lyons eager to tell of cases of alleged mistreatment of pupils or of the failure of their sons to receive the training for which they paid.

Stories told by these mothers prompted the federal authorities to turn their inquiry upon two other schools which Kendrigan conducted, one at Rolling Prairie, Wis., and another at St. Augustine, Fla., where conditions are said not to have been far different from those which were found to obtain in the partly furnished school in Highland Park.

Bought Rumely School.

Incidentally, it was learned that Kendrigan purchased the school at Rolling Prairie from Dr. Edward A. Rumely, who conducted the Interlaken school there and who was convicted two years ago of conspiring to withhold from the government knowledge of the German ownership during the war of the New York Evening Mail, which he published at that time. Kendrigan i asaid to have acquired many of his ideas on "individual education" from Rr. Rumely.

Prior to going to Rolling Prairie Keewatin academy had been located at Villa Park, Ill., but became involved in financial difficulties there when C. C. Heisen refused to contribute any more money towards its support.

Tells of Epidemic.

One woman claimed to have a doctor's certificate to prove that forty boys at the school in Florida were ill of typhoid at one time when Kendrigan claimed they merely were suffering from a slight attack of malaria. This woman contends that the boys there were made to wait on table, dig ditches, wash dishes, calcimine walls, and do other menial tasks such as were imposed on them at Highland Park.

Despondent, apparently, because of an unhappy love affair, Mrs. Lorraine Porter, 21 year old divorcée, swallowed sufficient poison in her apartment at 816 Galt avenue to cause her death yesterday morning.

Mrs. Porter, described by friends as "strikingly pretty," penned a note accusing a man of jilting her. Then she tore it up. But from the fragments police pierced together this message:

"Whoever finds this note will please investigate and they will find Leo Le Berthon is responsible for my act. Why did he promise to marry me?"

Investigation disclosed that Le Berthon until recently was employed as a promoter by a loop phonographic studio, and now is believed to be in the west.

A marriage license issued in Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1917 to Charles F. Ferch of that city and Miss Lorena Guy, 19 years old, was found in Mrs. Porter's effects last night. Her father's name was given as William Guy. Deputy Coroner Fischer expressed doubt that her name was Porter.

POINCARE WINS, 512-76, ON PLEA TO CANCEL DEBTS

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Dec. 16.—[Saturday.]—Premier Raymond Poincare received an overwhelming vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies at 1:30 this morning after a heated debate. The vote was 512 to 76.

M. Poincare asked the vote as a respite of a few weeks to prove that his policy at the London conference of premiers, just ended, was correct. He asked that all considerations of internal politics be left out and that he be enabled to go into the continuation of the premiers' conference assured of the full support of his government.

The vote came after a remarkable speech by Pierre Forguet, one of the leaders of the Comite de Forge group which has been the strongest partisan of the Ruhr sanctions. He demanded a change of front towards Germany with a reduction of payments and a definitive fixation of the amount; an arrangement of interallied debts by a delegation which will fix the payments; mobilization of international credit for Germany and an offer by France of evacuation of the Rhineland in return for German payments.

Royalist Sees New War.

M. Forguet's propositions met with violent opposition from the extreme right wing, Leon Daudet declaring that they meant war within five years.

Premier Poincare only vaguely outlined the intentions of the allies towards Germany and clearly tied up the whole reparations question with the cancellation of war debts by the United States.

The burden of M. Poincare's speech was "Forgive us our debts and we will forgive our debtors." He declared flatly that while France intends to pay its debts it could not and would not until Germany paid its. He indicated that France's hope of ever receiving more than a small part of the reparations bill was slight.

Bids for Debt Cancellation.

After rolling the war credits of the United States, France, and Great Britain into a common total, he explained that these debts had been contracted for the purchase of munitions and materials for a common cause.

"Can the allies," he demanded, "reclaim these war expenses among themselves? Will the allies be more severely treated than the enemies of yesterday?"

"The proposed reduction of interallied debts would bring about a reduction of the German debt, but it would not include any diminution of France's rights," he said. "We must obtain a better division or priority.

"France will do nothing that is not for the common account," he said. "If France must install somewhere her engineers and customs officials she will make room for those of the allies and she will not be guided by any imperialistic or territorialistic designs."

EX-KAISER HAD A COFFIN ABOARD HIS FLAGSHIP

New York, Dec. 15.—An emergency coffin for former Emperor William of Germany was found today in a musty closet aboard his old flagship, the Bremen, now the Constantinople.

The ex-kaiser made most of his long voyages—to the German African provinces and other parts of the world—aboard the Bremen. The coffin always accompanied him.

Lying in a handsome steel overall, the coffin has the imperial insignia on the sides and lid in bas relief on enameled iron crosses. The interior is lined with satin, once white, now spotted with grease.

Underneath the satin is an elaborate set of box springs which would have insured an easy ride on the bouncing waves to the fatherland had death overtaken William en voyage.

TREASURY PAYS BILLION DOLLARS DURING THE DAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—The treasury completed tonight one of its greatest post-war financial operations, which included a payment in one day of $1,000,000,000 to holders of Victory notes called for redemption and maturing certificates of indebtedness and in interest on the public debt.

The day's transaction also included the flotation of $300,000,000 in two and one-half year treasury notes and $400,000,000 in certificates of indebtedness, part of which mature in three months and the remainder in one year, and the collection of $275,000,000 in income and profits taxes.

Preliminary figures received by the treasury tonight indicated that subscriptions to the offerings of notes and certificates would reach about $800,000,000. This was the basis for statements by officials that the two and one-half year notes had proved attractive as investments. It was said also that the oversubscription indicated a healthy condition in business and finance.

The tax payment proved about equal to expectations, it was said. If that amount were added to the receipts from the two issues of government securities, the treasury's ledger theoretically would carry a larger balance tonight than last night.

The outgo for the day, which included $700,000,000 to the holders of Victory notes called for redemption, $200,000,000 to pay off maturing certificates of indebtedness, and $100,000,000 in interest on the public debt is set against receipts of approximately $1,075,000,000.

The treasury, however, in announcing the offerings of notes and certificates, reserved the right to reject oversubscriptions or to refund additional Victory notes in the amount of the oversubscription.

PLENTY OF BEDS IN HOSPITALS FOR VETERANS

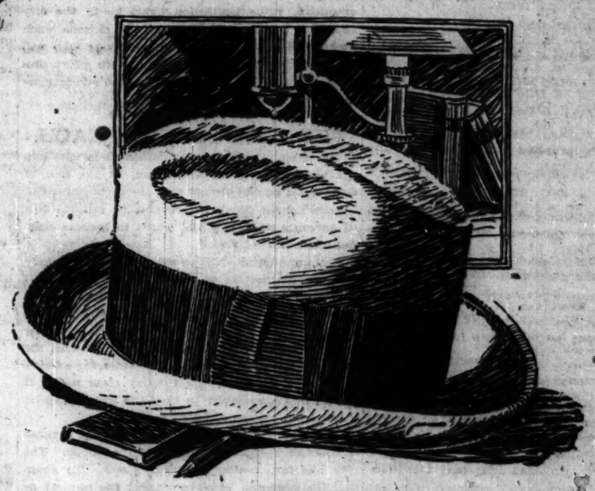

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—[Special.]—An administration spokesman today, following the cabinet meeting, denounced as an "abominable libel" a recent public charge that the government had so far forgotten its obligation to service men that 70,000 sick and disabled were clamoring for hospital beds.

The charge formed a subject of discussion at the cabinet meeting. Later it was asserted that the government had waiting today 3,000 unoccupied hospital beds for veterans who may seek them.

It was further asserted that when the government's hospital program is completed in the near future there will in all probability be at least 12,000 more beds than will be needed at any time, barring some unforeseen emergency.

It was further declared that many of the demands for new hospital programs which are being made to the government are found to be based upon the desire of some one or some group of persons to dispose of property.

Candies They Choose

— are made by the world's largest candy plant

The expressed preference of millions for Bunte quality has built the world's largest candy plant. From the raw materials to the delicious finished product, every step in the making of over 1,200 candies is under Bunte control.

Chocolate coatings are chosen that will blend best with the centers they are to cover. And those centers are always pure fruits, wondrous creams, nuts, juices or other fillings. Little things such as these have made Bunte quality big.

The best quality comes out because only the best quality goes in Bunte candies. That name adds to the welcome, but not to the cost of Christmas candies.

CONSOLIDATING THE WAR AND NAVY DEPARTMENTS.

The commission on reorganization of the executive departments proposes consolidation of the army and navy departments. Instead of a war department and a navy department, each under its secretary, we should then have a department of national defense under one civilian head, with an assistant secretary in charge of army affairs and another in charge of navy affairs.

The proposal merits thorough and disinterested consideration. It would be a conspicuous innovation and there may be reluctance in congress to take responsibility for it. But we hope, nevertheless, it will be studied and if it approves itself to sound judgment, adopted; if not, rejected. It is too important in its possibilities merely to be shelved for want of energy to come to a decision.

The chief objection which will offer itself, we think, is that the army and navy may lose influence by having their interests represented in the cabinet by one member for both, instead of as now by one member for each. Under the proposed plan only an assistant secretary would speak solely for each and could not have the prestige of a cabinet officer. The single representative, secretary of defense, would have to carry the burden of the demands of both services, and the net result would be a loss of weight in the counsels of the executive and before congress.

We recognize that this is a plausible and serious objection which should be fairly weighed in the balance against the arguments favoring the consolidation. These are in the main based on two considerations—namely: economy and efficiency.

The economy argument should be easily seized by the public and should appeal to congress, especially in its present mood. Obviously there would be some saving in overhead, but we do not think that is important. What is important is the saving through coördination in procurement and disposition of supplies. Gen. Dawes' experience as director of the budget, so far as he has given us the benefit of it, has disclosed how much waste goes on through lack of consolidated purchases and exchange of material. The new executive budget machinery, if it survives the disintegration of bureaucratic tendencies, will correct much of this waste, but we think the unification of control within a department of defense under one civilian chief administrator, able to impose his authority over both army and navy supply, would relieve much pressure upon the budget bureau and result in a continuing saving of money and effort.

The other consideration is that of efficiency in warfare. Doubtless expert opinion will differ on this all important aspect of the proposal, and outsiders are not very well fitted to pass judgment upon it. But it occurs to us that there is a good deal to be said for the concentration under one head of the direction of land and sea defense. Would it not tend to impress upon our war plans, upon our preparations, and upon our operations a unity which is sometimes lacking and always at a high cost? Any war we must wage, defensive or offensive, will involve a scientific coördination of operations by land and sea. Any comprehensive strategic plan must take both army and navy action and resources into account and harmonize them. Is it not more likely that such unity will be achieved under a unified department of defense than under separate and coördinate authorities as now and in the past?

We do not dogmatize on this or any other view of the proposal, but we believe it is worthy of most respectful consideration, and we hope that personal or political interests and jealousy or prejudice in the services will not obstruct or pervert such consideration. If it makes for economy without sacrifice of efficiency, and especially if it makes for a higher efficiency in defense, we trust the consolidation will take place.

TRAFFIC CORKS.

The Chicago Association of Commerce has appointed a committee to work out traffic problems with city authorities. Going through the loop now is a trip over a mountain in an ox cart. The money waste is enormous. Every one knows it and every one has a half dozen reasons for it and no one finds a remedy. Every suggestion of improvement is met with the statement that it cannot be done. There is only one thing which certainly cannot be done. That is to continue putting in obstructions. Some day the loops and bottle necks will be permanently jammed.

Part of the snarl could be taken out by one way streets. Traffic men say it cannot be done. Naturally it cannot if street cars are to run in two directions and are to seek the greatest congestions for their loops. One way street cars will make one way streets possible. Chicago tries to retain the theory that all cars should enter a central square, loop around it, and return. That central square being the world's most jammed area, the result is that a sea turtle could keep up with the procession.

The city sits and looks at its traffic problem and says nothing can be done. Thirty-seven thousand automobiles park at the loop curbs and nothing can be done. The tower signal system cannot be worked. The street cars cannot be kept from looping. New streets cannot be opened. A subway cannot be built. There is only one thing which, then, need be added to these negations. The city cannot continue.

THE BUSINESS OF POLITICS.

A contractor has given the county board a bid for the janitor service in the county building, offering an $88,000 saving. The board has been running the service on lines of broad humanitarianism. The original idea was to give a few hours' employment to a number of women, many of them widows of former county employés. At short time employment the women were allowed to earn $35 a month for the upkeep of their homes and were able to be at home most of the time. That was what they wanted.

Then the cry of starvation wages was raised and the janitresses were increased to $91 a month on the short time basis.

It is a small incident in public administration, but when many boards apply the policy to many affairs the total is not a small bill. We know that a political institution cannot be run as a business institution. Business could not survive the factors without which politics could not survive. Survival is the business of a politician and administration must adjust itself to that. But why organize public affairs for the greatest play of politics and the least play of business?

Why a board? Why the county board, the sanitary district board, the school board, etc.? In each case an administrator could attend to everything executive, while legislation could be in the city council. Boards are composed of citizens each seeking to get something for somebody who will do something for him. This collective effort produces politics, but it does not produce administration.

THE OHIO STREET BEACH.

The Woman's City club of Chicago is opposing the proposed new bathing beach at the foot of Ohio street on the ground that the arrangement of breakwaters is likely to prevent the natural flow of currents and allow the water to become stagnant and unhealthful.

That unquestionably would be a valid reason against construction of the beach if it be true. It may be true. We do not know. Whether it is true, we believe, is a matter of fact which should be determined by scientific investigation rather than by popular assertion. And if it is true, the condition might be corrected by engineering science. The park lagoons are kept fairly clear now. It should be even simpler to keep the water pure on a restricted section of lake front.

Chicago needs the beach. It needs all the beaches which can be made available to the public. The city has few greater potential assets. To abandon the proposed improvement at the request or advice of any club, without competent engineering opinion that it is not feasible, would be a grave error.

THE COAL BOARD'S TASK.

The federal coal commission appointed by the President to investigate all phases of the coal problem in this country and make suggestions toward correction of abuses which have greatly handicapped our prosperity in the past appears to be getting away to a slow start. After several weeks on the job, it comes forward with a statement to the effect that overdevelopment of the industry is one of the causes of present unsatisfactory conditions.

Frankly, we are disappointed. THE TRIBUNE made that announcement a year or more ago. It has been reiterated by newspapers and magazines throughout the country for many months. What we want is not repetition of the established fact, but suggestion of remedies for correcting the condition.

Such suggestions are promised at some future date. We trust they will not be as long in materializing as this start would indicate. Why should not the government condemn inefficient coal mines where cost of production is high, and thus help to assure the steady operation of efficient mines at lower costs?

ARCHITECTURE AN INTERNATIONAL ART.

[Christian Science Monitor.]

The second prize of $20,000 in the CHICAGO TRIBUNE contest for a new office building design has been won by a Finn; Eliel Saarinen of Helsingfors, who also was the winner of the second prize in the international competition for the Peace Palace at The Hague, built by the Scottish-American millionaire, Andrew Carnegie. In the TRIBUNE contest competitive designs were submitted by architects from all parts of the world, and though only the one winning first prize will be used for the newspaper building, the others will probably be sold to American builders with similar needs. John Mead Howells, son of the novelist, and Raymond M. Hood were winners of the $100,000 prize.

In the reconstruction of the ruined cities of France and Belgium the aid of architects from many nations has likewise been enlisted. Thus the chief architect for the rebuilding of the University library of Louvain, burned by the Germans, is Whitney Warren of New York. For the restoration of the city of St. Quentin, situated on the firink line in northern France, the assistance of Swedish architects has been solicited by the French authorities. Swiss draftsmen have also been employed, but Georges Roux, the French architect in charge of the restoration of the city, has expressed the belief that the Swedes possess more initiative and better technical training. For the latter the opportunity to study at close range the old French art of building construction was a welcome one.

With musicians and painters the architects share almost complete independence of the linguistic barriers which are such a hindrance to other artists. No matter to what degree of perfection the skill of translation is carried, the literary artist is limited in his appeal.

No such limitations apply to the architects. Their "frozen music," like the art of Fritz Kreisler, the Austrian, now playing in England, or that of Paderewski, the Pole, or Rachmaninoff, the Russian, now playing in America, appeals directly everywhere. While there are "national" styles of architecture, developed to suit particular tastes and requirements, no other art has in the past crossed national frontiers so easily, and for hardly any other artist is foreign study still so important as for the architect. Advanced as the French are in this field, a resident scholarship at Rome is still the highest goal at their famous Ecole des Beaux Arts, and while the erection of towering office buildings is a typically American achievement, the designers of the best of them have been, almost without exception, students in Europe.

The prize winning design in the Chicago contest is called a "Gothic expression of the American skyscraper theme," and as the home of such a champion of American isolation as THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the new building will not be without a point of irony.

FARO PETE'S CAFE.

R. H. L.: One uv them cider press injuneers wot owns a farm in Ioway, insulted Alaska last summer by arrivin' here. He walked inter "The Cracked Saucer," wich is Faro Pete's new feed foundry, an' after givin' the dump the wise eye, he sed it shood have bin named "Cockroaches' Haven," or "Flies' Rest." He sed the swellest resturant in Ioway, or the world fer that matter, wuz Will Reilly's café in Burlington. "Don't gimme that Reilly's café stuff," sed Faro, "I knew Reilly before he had his hair marcelled, in fact we used ter steal apples tergether wen we belonged ter 'The Dirty Dozen.'" "This is rotten coffee," sez the plow-jockey. "It cum frum Ioway," sed Faro. "These eggs shood be drawin' a pension," said the p. j. "The customer is allus rite," sez Faro. Hey! You little rascal you!
What you tryin' fer to do?
Chase that kitty up a tree?
You're as wicked as can be!
Guess you think it's lots o' fun
Making poor old Tabby run!
Nope, you needn't wag your tail,
Ain't no use to yip an' wail,
Got to drub you good an' sound,
Learn you how to stan' around!
Thot it was a rabbit? Hump!
Reckon you think I'm a chump!
Still, they do look like a cat—
Might a'been a hare at that.
Poor old feller! Beggin' hard
Fer fergiveness from your pard!
Will you promise to be good,
Act just like a puppy should?
Set up purty, cross your heart!
Gol-lee crickets! Ain't he smart!
How I love you, dear old pal!
Wouldn't swap you fer a gal!

TWO DETERMINATIONS were announced in the Trib from France yesterday morning: (1) Ganna Walska is determined to sing in Paris, (2) the French army is determined to march to the east bank of the Rhine. TH' OLE PAINTER.

Aborigine: Your tale of the Varmint woke vivid and poignant, a memory that had long slept. A wide, low log house with a big fireplace in the north of it; a great wood fire that blazed there; the cruel Painter that for nights had cried in the black woods in "the hollow near the graveyard where our kin were sleeping"; the scattered feathers of the big gobbler treacherously slain among the rocks on the hillside; the bare ground whitening with the flakes let down out of the complaining wind; the grumbling rumble of the old red bull in the lane above the barn; and the four year old boy, white faced and wide eyed, who clutched at his mother's skirt and half whispered, "Listen, mammy, I hear the Painter comin' now."

ABSENCE.

You have been gone a thousand years,
Yet I cannot forget
Those memories that come to me
In dusks of violet;
And then at night I dream of you
When in my wild distress
My arms reach out so longingly,
And find just emptiness.

Will I forget in time? . . . perhaps
On through the fleeting years
When pasts like dreams are blotted out,
And the old grief disappears.

SIX-YEAR MOLARS.

Is your face crooked or warped? Are you jimber-jawed? Have you a bad upper jaw, or is your countenance cut on the bias? If so, there may be no use writing to the eugenics laboratory, or learnedly scanning the photographs of your forbears.

While it is true that you may have a Hapsburg chin, or that in some other facial characteristic you and your kin have been marked by some prepotent ancestor, there is an even chance that the trouble lies nearer home.

If you are disposed to worry for fear your daughter may develop a caterwampus face during adolescence, or thereabouts, because she is your daughter, and that is what you did, there is nothing you can do about it, because it is in the blood. Therefore, take heed and take heart.

The pioneer among the permanent teeth is not the spike, which at about 7 years of age comes pushing through in front in a space recently vacated. Not at all. The pioneer permanent tooth belongs away round on the side. It is a molar, and is sometimes called the six-year molar, because it appears at about that age. It is a permanent tooth, and if pulled, for any reason, leaves a vacancy which will never be filled.

Furthermore, it is of all the teeth the one most subject to decay. It develops within the gums just at the time when the child is most subject to diarrheal diseases, various infections, and a number of other constitutional strains. Therefore, it is very apt to be a tooth of poor constitution and prone to decay.

Furthermore, being a molar tooth, it has many crevices and irregularities. It would not be an easy tooth to keep clean, even if the child were thoroughly trained in keeping the teeth clean.

There are four of these six-year molars, one on each side of each jaw. They are the keystones to the arches above and below.

By a series of studies, Dr. F. B. Noyes shows with a group of photographs how the loss of one of these teeth causes the face to develop unevenly. How the loss of both of them in an upper or a lower jaw makes the face develop crooked in another way. In a word, how necessary it is that the teeth come in right and stay in place and that the six-year molars be preserved.

BATHS FOR CRAMPS.

M. C. B. writes: "I have been troubled with terrible cramps and bearing down pains for the first twenty-four hours of each period. Have tried many things, but without avail."

REPLY.

You can prevent cramps by the free and frequent use of hot hip baths. See that the bowels are open. Keep at work. Drink warm drinks if you wish, but take no alcoholic beverage.

DOESN'T INDICATE CANCER.

H. A. M. writes: "Is it a sign of cancer when brown patches appear on the skin above the navel, in a single woman of forty?"

REPLY.

No.

EXERCISE FOR A TYPIST.

Miss M. R. B. writes: "I am a stenographer and contemplating taking up some form of exercise which will take me out in the air two or three times a week. I am 26 years old and in good health. To settle an argument, will you kindly state from a medical standpoint which is more beneficial to the individual, horseback riding or golf? My friends claim golf exercises every muscle of the body, whereas riding benefits only the kidneys and liver. I am open minded on the subject and both forms of recreation are within reach of my pocketbook, but your decision will be greatly appreciated."

REPLY.

Horseback riding is far more strenuous. If you are sedate, golf; if more vigorous, horseback. But each one is good. Why not do both, or either?

CHANGE BABY'S DIET.

Mrs. R. J. H. writes: "I have a question to ask you concerning my year old baby. He has never been sick in his life, but I have noticed that since he is cutting teeth his urine stains his diapers yellow. What is the cause of that? His father once had an attack of diabetes. Could this be what is wrong with the baby? What are the symptoms of diabetes? I do not feed him very much sugar."

REPLY:

It is not probable that your child has diabetes. Give him more water and more cereal, more bread, vegetables and fruit, and less cream, butter, whole milk, meat and eggs.

AS TO RUBBER DRAWERS.

T. H. writes: "Will you kindly write about babies and rubber drawers? I see them on the children of the rich and poor alike. I know a very wealthy family where there are two children—a French governess has charge of one child and a trained nurse has the care of the other, a baby of about 1½ years. Rubber drawers are left on that infant for so long a time that when they are removed the fumes from the wet diapers underneath are almost unbearable. Now what about the baby's tender little flesh?"

REPLY.

There are children whose skin is too tender to withstand this abuse. Even improperly washed diapers and drawers sometimes cause ammoniacal urine and irritation.

BLOOD PRESSURE.

F. F. W. writes: "1. What are symptoms of high blood pressure?

"2. What would be considered normal in a person 80 years of age?

"3. If found too high, what would the person have to do to reduce it?"

REPLY.

1. The most dependable evidence is the reading of the blood pressure apparatus. Among other symptoms are dizziness, headache, disturbance of thought, albumen in the urine, disturbance of vision, and apoplexy. Not all these symptoms are present in every case.
2. About 150.
3. Overcome constipation by eating bran, fruit, and vegetables and drinking plenty of water. Eat little or no meat or eggs or other protein foods. Limit the use of coffee and tobacco and alcoholic beverages. Remove all sources of infection. Live serenely.

CERTAIN KINDS CURABLE.

C. E. T. writes: "Concerning glaucoma, I want to ask another question or two.

"1. Is it curable?
"2. Is it very prevalent?
"3. When caused by infection, how is it usually treated?
"4. Does neuritis sometimes precede glaucoma?"

REPLY.

1. Certain kinds of glaucoma are curable.
2. Fairly so.
3. Depends on the nature of the infection. Usually calls for operation.
4. Sometimes.

YOU'RE GOING TO BE A MOTHER.

Mrs. C. S. writes: "I have been married for two years and have had no child, but for three weeks now I have felt very sick at my stomach and very dizzy in the morning. It seems as though I were going to faint. When I eat my breakfast, I feel like vomiting it up. I was supposed to menstruate the third of this month, but did not. Is this a sign that I will have a child?"

REPLY.

Yes.

EYE SPECIALIST.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Some few months ago I went to an eye, ear, and nose doctor to have my eyes tested and fitted with glasses. He did not use scientific methods and fitted me with glasses that he claimed were all right. I wore them a couple of months, but they were not satisfactory. Then I went to another doctor who said when he saw the glasses that they were wrong. He charged me double what they were worth.

1. Can I get my money back?
2. Can I sue him?
3. What steps shall I take?

S. K.

1. Technically, yes, if you can show that he failed to use the skill that he held himself out as possessing. Probably the amount involved is too small to be worth suing for.
2. Of course you can.
3. If he did not have a certificate of registration as an optometrist, report the facts to the department of registration and education, Springfield.

PERSON DIES WITHOUT WILL.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man dies (leaving real estate) without a will. A widow and eight children survive—one a minor. After seven years the widow decides to make a will, having children sign a quit-claim. All sign except one son-in-law.

1. Has the son-in-law claim to property?
2. Can widow make a will? The property was always in her husband's name.
3. What course should she pursue in order to make a will?

I. N. T.

1. No. At most he would have only an interest in his wife's fraction.
2. Of course, she can make a will. It will be effective as to the interests conveyed to her.
3. Employ an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WITNESSES TO WILL.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Please tell me if a will which is written in one's own handwriting, but without witnesses, is legal, or must it be witnessed in the same manner as statutes provide for wills in general.

G. M.

It should be formally attested by two witnesses. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SPELLING OF NAME.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I am desirous of changing the spelling of my name, but have been advised that some legal proceeding is necessary. I have been of the opinion that it is not necessary.

X. Y. Z.

No legal proceedings are required to make a change of name valid. It is sufficient if you use a new name and give notice of the change to those persons to whom the information may be material. In transactions in which your old name appears we suggest that you continue to use it to avoid confusion. For example, if real estate records show title in you, when you come to sell you should use the recorded name.

HONESTY IS ESSENTIAL, BUT NOT ALL-SUFFICIENT.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—I regularly read "The World's Greatest Newspaper." Its official and editorial utterances tend to keep me fed up on things as they are. Today's editorial, "A Man for Mayor," interests me. Since the suggestion that Mrs. Bowen should be nominated, I have been heaving several sighs of relief. An opportunity to vote for a woman seemed to me an opportunity to cast a conscientious and hopeful vote. THE TRIBUNE has convinced me that not only was that old time politician right when he remarked, "All men are liars," but that had he been commenting regarding the political management of our beloved city today, he would have added, "They are likewise thieves."

In view of this situation, so aptly and frequently set forth in THE TRIBUNE regarding fees to experts and the wonderful personal thrift practices of our one time dignified school board, why not try a woman mayor?

To say the very least in her behalf, Mrs. Bowen could not start in as an expert thief, such as THE TRIBUNE has convinced me that we ought next spring to graduate from our political college, handing them their diplomas and booting them off the campus.

BACHELOR.

CHRISTMAS TREE VANDALISM.

Black River, Mich., Nov. 24.—If it were true, as claimed by shippers of Christmas trees from the state of Michigan, that trees are taken only where they stand too close together and that the thinning out is helpful to the remaining growth, there would be no good reason for protest against it. But since my arrival in Michigan three months ago I have learned that evergreen trees which stand very close together do not make a good shaped Christmas tree and are poor sellers. The best shaped trees, which bring the highest price, are those which have plenty of room in which to branch out. A great many trees are taken wherever found without the permission of the owner of the land, and very often a tree six or eight inches in diameter will be cut and the upper half taken for a Christmas tree and the lower part left lying on the ground to add to the menace of forest fire.

To my mind this annual sacrifice of one of our most valuable of natural resources is very wrong and should not be encouraged, and is aggravated by a lack of effort on the part of land owners toward replenishment of the timber supplies as evidenced by the great tracts of unimproved second growth through which a forest fire propelled by a high wind will sweep with the speed of a race horse, even on ground which has been burned over several times. But it is an outstanding characteristic of the American people that they are lacking in a prudent and conservative spirit.

WHEN THE "MELTING POT" CEASES TO MELT.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 11.—Permit me to send you a word of commendation and approval in connection with your excellent editorial of Dec. 4, in which you protest against the suggestion of Venizelos that the United States should admit some hundreds of thousands of Greek refugees. European nations have so long regarded this country as a dumping ground for their surplus and undesirable citizens that they naturally turn to us to help them solve their present problems, arising out of wars with which we have nothing to do. Our "traditional" policy of being an "asylum" and a "refuge" for the oppressed has its roots in economic conditions, and not in any spirit of world-wide philanthropy. To admit these and other refugees would only complicate our problems of assimilation. Such a course would only add so many more unassimilated aliens to our hodge-podge, heterogeneous collection of peoples in the great mythical American "Melting Pot," which, as we all know, no longer melts what is in it. There is no hope that the resulting product will constitute a finer race than the world has ever seen. We have not been putting the right kind of material into it. For what goes into the melting pot will come out of it.

Our problems are sufficiently difficult already. We should only add to them by pulling Greek chestnuts out of the Greek fire. If we admit refugee Greeks, why not all the discontented and underfed millions of India, of China, and of Africa? It is our duty to preserve our institutions, our race, our traditions in our own country, and to help, so far as we are able, the discontented, war-swept peoples of Europe to work out in their own homes, for themselves, what our forefathers worked out here, for us. We do not help the progress of political, educational, social reforms in Armenia, Turkey, Syria, Greece, by forever admitting their people, in large numbers, into our country. It is best for them, and best for us, to have them stay at home. Obviously we should feed them as we have been doing, and clothe them, and help them in other ways. But there is no obligation whatever upon us to admit them all to the United States.

As you well put it, we do not propose to build this country out of the discards of other nations. We have been doing that too long already. And we are reaping the consequences every day.

BILL ASKS U. S. TO BE BANKER AND MERCHANT

Norris Measure Likely to Die in Senate.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The senate committee on agriculture, dominated by the radical group of Republicans, today ordered a favorable report to the senate of the Norris bill to create a $100,000,000 government corporation to buy and sell farm products and to lend money for financing their sale.

The Norris bill was ordered reported while the senate banking and currency committee was continuing its hearing on the administration program for rural credits legislation, and there was a conviction among senate leaders that the Norris measure, which would put the government definitely into business, would not receive the support of President Harding or administration champions in congress.

While there is said to be in the making an effort to obstruct the ship subsidy bill by the radical group behind the Norris measure, in order to enforce consideration of the corporation scheme, it is doubtful if the effort can succeed.

Likely to Die on Calendar.

The administration prposes to push the rural credits bill, which will be reported within the next few days from the banking and currency committee, and the Norris bill is likely to die on the senate calendar so far as action at this session of congress is concerned.

It may receive greater support, however, in the next congress.

The bill as reported from the committee on agriculture varies but little from the measure originally introduced by Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.], chairman of the commitee on agriculture. The "farmers and consumers' corporation" created under the bill would be managed by a board of three directors appointed by the President. The original bill provided that the secretary of agriculture should be one of the three directors, but this provision was eliminated by the committee. The capital stock of $100,000,000 would be subscribed by the treasury.

Chief Features of Bill.

The corporation is empowered and authorized to build, buy, lease, and operate elevators and storage warehouses; to buy and sell agricultural products; to act as agent of any person or cooperative organization producing or dealing in agricultural products; to make advances for the purpose of assisting any person or cooperative organization in financing the sale or exportation of agricultural products.

The committee on banking and currency today listened to recommendations for rural credits legislation presented by Aaron Sapiro, counsel for cooperative marketing associations, who said the cooperatives do not favor any such measure as proposed by Senator Norris.

U. S. LABOR BOARD UPHOLDS DECISION ON OVERTIME PAY

In a decision issued yesterday, the United States Railroad Labor board upheld its former stand in denying the maintenance of way men their request for time and one-half for work on Sundays and holidays and also for labor performed after eight hours of work.

BEN W. HOOPER.
[Matsene Photo.]

Rulings favorable to the employés were contained in the decision that employés' time must start and end at designated assembling points and supervisory forces shall be compensated on the same overtime basis as the men supervised when the general force is required to work in excess of eight hours. The last ruling applies to foremen employed on a monthly basis.

In a dissenting opinion A. O. Wharton called attention to the discontent and unrest among railroad employés "when an examination of the decisions of this board will disclose that there has been but one decision issued during its existence that represented any betterment of their conditions of employment."

Chairman Ben W. Hooper, while agreeing with part of the dissenting opinion, declared that the dissension among the employés was not impressive.

"In view of the sufferings and losses of the farmers and producers of the country from which railroad labor largely has been exempt, the railroad employés could consistently subdue their unrest and devote their enthusiastic exertions to the efficient service of the people who are paying for it," he said.

MANUFACTURERS URGE REVISION OF IMMIGRANT LAWS

Revision of the present immigration laws along a "constructive policy of selective immigration" rather than on the "negative policy" now pursued is advocated in resolutions adopted yesterday by the National Conference of State Manufacturers' associations at the Congress hotel.

Immediate action was demanded by most of the speakers as a means of relieving the present shortage of labor both on farms and in industries, which, they hold, is responsible for the high cost of living.

While manufacturers throughout the middle west were in the majority, the conference was attended by representatives of farmers' organizations, the railroads, and commercial bodies generally. The farmers are interested in increasing the supply of common labor not for the reason that foreign workers find their way to the farms but because an adequate supply of common labor in the factories will keep the farm hands from flocking to the cities.

Attack Literary Test.

The literary test for immigrants was attacked both by John W. O'Leary chairman of the committee on immigration of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and S. O. Dunn, representing the American Railroad association. Both agreed that a moral test is much more vital. A majority of the men arrested for violence in the recent railroad strike were of foreign birth, Mr. Dunn said.

"A railroad president told me nine-tenths of the violence was committed by foreigners," he said. "A large part of the propaganda against capital and American institutions—a large part of the most violent radicalism—is carried on by foreigners. The great problem of immigration is to get the right kind of men and to keep out the wrong kind. I cannot conceive of any literary test that would separate the sheep from the goats. Nine-tenths of the most dangerous class of immigrants could pass the literacy test."

Urges Apprenticeship Laws.

C. W. Olson, who introduced himself as an immigrant, urged the enactment of apprenticeship laws as a means of conserving common labor.

"Suitable apprenticeship laws here would pave the way for an influx of the most desirable class from Europe," he said.

William Butterworth of Moline, president of Deere & Co. and chairman of the conference, declared that instead of our citizens Americanizing immigrants the immigrants are trying to Russianize us.

"Employers do not want to open wide the gates to immigration," he said. "They want restriction, but want it limited by the needs of the country rather than by percentage. There is more common labor going out than is coming in."

As early as 5:30 yesterday morning the sidewalk salesmen began to arrive at the city compensation bureau on the vault floor of the city hall. The office did not open until 8 o'clock. From 6 a. m. on there was a crowd of applicants for free permits in front of the office wicket until closing hour.

Cops Kick Way Into Club Despite Injunction Writ

Lieut. William B. O'Connor and four police sergeants were attracted to the Ragan Athletic club, 5254 South Halsted street, last night by a Ford conspicuous for its lack of license number, which was parked in front. When they tried to enter the club the door was slammed in their faces and Ray Cafferty, 5306 Emerald avenue, shouted: "No policeman can enter this club. We've a writ of injunction keeping you out."

Five minutes later the door was well splintered by well directed kicks, and Mr. Cafferty and the owners of the raucous voices were escorted to the police station.

Your system demands ALL BRAN if constipation is to be relieved!

Your system needs the "roughage" that Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, supplies. For, it will not only permanently relieve constipation if it is eaten regularly, but its full-content of the vital elements of wheat will build health and strength in a wonderful way.

You need bran in its full and beneficial strength and that's what you get in Kellogg's Bran—ALL BRAN! You eat Kellogg's for relief and you will get relief in a way that nature planned. Foods with a bran mixture cannot help the man, woman or child who faces grave illness through constipation. You must have ALL BRAN—"roughage" that will sweep and clean and purify and bring health back.

Children should be given Kellogg's Bran each day; grown people should eat Kellogg's each day—at least two tablespoonfuls, in chronic cases with each meal. Its mechanical action will afford permanent relief.

And you will find Kellogg's Bran a delight to eat because it is so delicious. As a cereal, sprinkled on other hot or cold cereals, or used in countless bakery batches or in cooking, its nut-like flavor will thrill your appetite—and each spoonful means so much in permanently relieving constipation and in warding off this gravest national ailment. Kellogg recipes are printed on each package.

Start the entire family eating Kellogg's Bran today. See the color come back to faded cheeks; see the snap that will go into lagging steps. Kellogg's Bran is wonderful. All grocers sell it!

GUARANTEED COAL

AS A RESULT of the miners' strike and car shortage there is a scarcity of some kinds of coal in Chicago, but no danger of a famine.

Anthracite and Pocahontas are eastern coals, with long hauls and high freight rates to Chicago.

POCAHONTAS

Many coal dealers contemplated filling the "hand to mouth" demand for Pocahontas smokeless by delivering direct from the cars on arrival. But the railroads are not bringing in this coal fast enough. Also buyers would not stock up, and the coal dealer could not afford to buy and hold this high-priced coal. Consumers Company, anticipating this condition, has on hand a large stock of excellent Lump, Egg and Mine-Run, known as

"HI-GRADE"

If you cannot get Pocahontas, telephone us to ship you a trial order of "Hi-Grade." It is a very satisfactory substitute for Pocahontas and costs less money. If the Pocahontas situation does not improve little Pocahontas coal can be expected in Chicago, and the price will be very high.

ATROCITIES TOLD BY WITNESS OF HERRIN TRAGEDY

Defense Fights in Vain to Exclude Testimony.

great detail as to the time element and as to what he did with his stories of the riot.

William R. Goodman, farmer and former miner, who lives near Goreville, was the other chief witness for the state. He came to the riots in a street car, and near Crenshaw crossing saw a mob of 500 men with prisoners.

Q.—Did you see any one that you recognized? A.—Yes, I saw Otis Clark, who sits right over there.

Q.—What did he have? A.—A big, heavy pistol.

Q.—How long have you known Clark? A.—About twenty-five years.

Q.—Did you hear him say anything? A.—Do I have to answer that?

What Clark Declared.

"Well," said the witness reluctantly, "Clark said 'We ought to take these men out and kill them and stop the breed of them.'"

The witness said that another man who had come out in a car from Herrin, supposed to be Hugh Willis, an officer of the union, said to the crowd: "If we kill these people it will be the worst thing that ever happened to the union and for all unions all over the country."

He was asked on cross-examination: "Do you pretend to say that you can repeat word for word what Clark said?"

"Yes, if necessary."

Q—Was all that great concourse of men quiet? A.—Yes, pretty nearly.

Often Visited the Family.

The witness, who appeared on the stand in a new suit of bib overalls, said he had long known the Clark family and had visited with Clark's father and mother about two months ago.

"Did you not tell them you knew nothing against Otis Clark in this case?" he was asked.

"No, sir."

The defense also sought to get rid of this testimony on technical grounds, but Judge Hartwell ruled it in.

Fred Harrison, 23 years old, student at the University of Illinois and son of a farmer living south of Herrin, testified that he saw men bringing prisoners to his father's wood lot and later saw three dead. He gave the names of Bert Grace, Dallas McCree and James Galligan. He identified Grace in the courtroom. He said he had come to court before and had pointed out Grace to his father as the man they had seen near their house with a gun.

Describes the Prisoner.

"I remembered him because he is short and chunky and I remembered his face," the youth insisted.

Henry Graves, a farmer, was at his home, south of Herrin, on the morning of the 22d, he testified. He saw two fugitives running through his fields, heard shots, and saw the dust spurting where the bullets struck.

Later a wounded man came to his back porch. He was shot in the hand and his head was bloody, Graves testified. He did nothing and the man hid in the farmer's smokehouse.

Later two men came out and said they were "officers" looking for wounded men and Graves made no objection when they took him away.

SUSPICION OF BRAZIL

1—Argentine papers are protesting against an American naval mission to Brazil.

2—Argentina claims that Brazil's military policy is directed toward Uruguay and herself, territory which Brazil has always coveted.

3—It is the official capacity of the mission which Argentina objects to, as it says that seems to imply American recognition of Brazil's aims.

U. S. NAVY'S START TRAINING BRAZIL ROILS ARGENTINA

Alleges Plan to War on Neighbors.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 15.—In an editorial two columns long La Prensa, one of the leading South American newspapers, again sharply criticizes the action of the United States in sending a naval mission to Brazil. The paper says this serves as a notice to the other South American, especially the River Plate, republics, which inspire Brazil's military policy, that Brazil has the moral support of the United States in this movement. At the same time La Prensa asserts that Brazil is preparing for a future offensive or defensive.

La Prensa states that there would have been no ground for criticism had Brazil contracted with American officers separately in their private capacity as experts, but it insists that the official organization of the mission gives it an official character.

Went with Hughes.

Reference was previously made to the fact that the mission is under the command of an officer named Vogelsang who was sent to Brazil as a member of a diplomatic mission with Secretary of State Hughes just before organizing the naval mission.

La Prensa states that it is willing to accept the American state department's protestations of friendship for Argentina, but its explanations of the naval mission are not satisfactory.

Importance of Argentina.

It says the United States is proceeding probably in the same spirit of paternal protection with which it sends financial and other missions to Santo Domingo and Central American republics, overlooking the diplomatic significance when it is extended towards a country of Brazil's importance. The paper points out that the United States' export and import commerce with Argentina exceeds that of all the rest of South America. The paper warns that if the United States hopes to maintain its present position in Argentina it must adopt a more attentive policy towards Argentina.

The paper says that Washington cannot be ignorant of Brazil's published program, which includes the acquisition of large naval units, the construction of five military bases, and other preparations, nearly all of which are along the Argentine and Uruguayan frontiers.

FEAR CHINESE LABOR IN HAWAII MEANS SLAVERY

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HONOLULU, Dec. 15.—Alleging that Hawaii today is a "sugar kingdom" and that capitalists associated with the industry have invincible influence over the political and economic life of the islands, the Japanese Laborers' association made a statement today to the United States labor commissioners. They protested against the importation of Chinese as provided in the emergency labor bill now before congress.

Seventy per cent of Hawaii's total exports are monopolized by the sugar planters, the statement said, and one-third of the total population of the territory is living at the mercy of the planters. The possibility of Japanese control of the islands' basic industries is disputed by figures showing a decrease of 17,761 Japanese laborers in the last fourteen years and a proportionate increase of Filipinos.

"Japanese laborers are being driven out by Filipinos," the statement continued. "Now the Filipinos next will be deprived of power. The importation of Chinese coolies means a revival of slavery in this integral part of the United States.

"We suggest that the only way to keep laborers is to pay adequate wages. At the present time Hawaii is nothing but a corpse of the paradise of the Pacific. The introduction of unmerciful capital has destroyed as much as it can the beauties of the islands."

The labor commissioners will sail for Los Angeles tomorrow. Chairman Sheppard declined to make a statement of their findings, but he said the commission had received a vast amount of data, which it would consider before making a report to the secretary of labor.

Asks Police to Search for Mother, 80, Missing 2 Days

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

BIG TEN BODY TO DECIDE ON NATIONAL TODAY

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Whether western conference athletes will be permitted to take part in the national collegiate track and field games to be held on Stagg field on the third Saturday in June will be decided at a special meeting of the Big Ten faculty committee at the University club this morning.

N. A. KELLOGG.

On Dec. 2 this committee voted to recommend that conference performers stay out of the national games. This action caused so much unfavorable comment that Prof. Ralph W. Aigler of Michigan, president of the committee, issued a call for a special meeting to reconsider the action.

Not only will the committee give serious consideration to reversing its previous decision, but it may go so far as to recommend that the outdoor conference meet, which will be held at Ann Arbor in June, be limited to the ten schools.

Would Boom National Meet.

If the faculty committee recommends that the outdoor event be closed, this action will be a great boom for the national. In former years the Big Ten outdoor meet has attracted athletes from all sections of the middle and far west. If such teams are prevented from competing in the conference, they most assuredly will take part in the national.

The faculty committee will hear both sides of the issue, it is understood. The graduate managing committee, which wants Big Ten athletes kept out of the national, will be represented, while Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Big Ten, and T. E. Jones, athletic director at Wisconsin, two members of the committee in charge of the national games, will be on hand to state their side.

Midwest Conference Also Meets.

While this committee is in session, faculty representatives, athletic directors, and coaches of various teams of the Midwest conference will meet in annual session at the Auditorium. Advisability of increasing the membership to admit Dubuque college will be one question to be decided. Rules may be changed and football, baseball, and track schedules drawn for the coming year. This body will meet this morning at 9 o'clock and will be in session most of the day.

WOULD BAR OUTSIDERS

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—The western conference annual track meet should be limited to Big Ten games, is the belief of Director of Athletics N. A. Kellogg of Purdue, chairman of the Big Ten athletic directors' committee.

COMMITTEE MEETS DEC. 28

New York, Dec. 15.—The program for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association here, Dec. 28, was announced today. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be given over to discussion and reports which will include those of the football, basketball, track, swimming, boxing and other committees.

Special committees will be heard on the national intercollegiate track and field meet to be held in Chicago next June, and the organization of the American Olympic association.

Special guests invited to the dinner, which will follow the afternoon session, include Gen. Pershing, President Hibben of Princeton and Coach Fielding Yost of the University of Michigan.

Coach Maurie Kent's Purple five made good in its first game of the season, against Monmouth, last night by tumbling the invaders, 24 to 16, in a ragged but energetically fought game before 1,500 students in Patten gym. Many attended in full dress, arrayed for the junior prom, which followed the battle.

Bob Blythe, with three baskets, and Capt. Harold McKenzie, with two and eight free throws, led in scoring for the Purple. McKenzie's close guarding and sensational long shots at the basket provided the only thrills of the game.

Team work and passing on both sides was mediocre. Willard Holmes, the Purple center, rung up two baskets in the first half, but was eliminated from the game on personal fouls.

Roy Mann, Monmouth right forward, did the bulk of the work for his team with two baskets and six free throws. He might have made the game more interesting had he not missed ten tries for free points.

Fouls, especially personal infractions, were abundant. Lineup:

California Prexy Favors Post Season Grid Games

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 15.—President David P. Barrows of the University of California declared himself in favor of continuing the annual east versus west football contest at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's day, in a letter to Clinton E. Miller, president of the California Alumni association in this city, but he added that no school should play it more than one season in succession.

SPARE NO EXPENSE TO GET TRIED GRID HEAD, BADGER ALUMNI URGE

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 15.—Minneapolis and St. Paul alumni of the University of Wisconsin today made public resolutions they adopted last night urging that a head football coach of "tried and proved ability" be named as successor to John H. Richards, whose resignation has been announced.

The resolutions urged the university authorities to "spare no reasonable effort or expense in obtaining a head football coach whose ability has been tried and proved and upon whom the university, as well as its students and alumni, can rely for results.

"It is especially urged that no experiment be made with an untried and unproven man."

SKATERS MAY GET OUT THEIR BLADES TODAY

With the mercury continuing to hang below the freezing level, skating ponds all over the city will be thrown open to the ice skating fans of Chicago today. Although there was skating at most of the ponds and parks of the city yesterday, the official opening will take place today, when the west, south, and north side parks will be cleared of the "danger" signs and the lagoons turned over to the devotees of the steel blades.

HARRY KASKEY.

Fifty-five school playgrounds have been opened to skaters, Herman Fischer, supervisor of playgrounds, announced yesterday. The ponds at the playgrounds have been flooded twice by squads of firemen and the playground directors and the flooding will continue each night the weather permits until a coating of ice eight inches thick has been reached.

Parks in Fine Shape.

Garfield, Humboldt, Douglas, and Columbus parks are in fine shape for the opening today, Secretary John A. Pelka of the west park board announced yesterday. Lincoln park and Jackson and Washington park lagoons also are ready for the opening of the ice season.

Star skaters of the local athletic clubs have started training in earnest for the club derbies, TRIBUNE Silver Skates and Diamond Medal derbies and national championship events which will be held here.

Stars Work Out.

William Steinmetz, international outdoor champion; Roy McWhirter, national outdoor champion; and Harry Kaskey, western champion, last night headed a delegation of racers who worked out at Humboldt park.

SIFT OFFICIALS FOR COAST GAME

Morgantown, W. Va., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—A heavy field made it impossible for the West Virginia university football squad to get in a full workout this afternoon. Either Brick Muller, all-American end at the University of California, or H. E. Vansurdam of Wesleyan university will assist Walter Eckersall and "Hub" Varnell with the officiating. Muller and Vansurdam have both been approved by local authorities.

EXPECT PREPS TO SET SWIM RECORDS TODAY

Indications point to the establishing of several new records when star tankers of Chicago high schools clash this afternoon in the annual indoor championship meet at Bartlett pool, University of Chicago. The meet will start at 1:30, with events in both senior and junior classes, and every race will be a final.

CORNELIUS OKER.

In the preliminary heats at Harrison Tech last Saturday unofficial records were established in five junior and two senior races. Any new marks made today will be official, and it is believed that conditions for racing will prove even more favorable than at Harrison High.

Dick Howell, Hyde Park's star dash man, is expected to set new marks in the senior 100 and 220 yard free style events, while the Hyde Park relay team is looked to for a similar performance. Cornelius Oker, Parker's little junior shark, will try for new marks in the forty yard swim and back stroke events.

Austin Swimmer Barred.

At the meeting of the board of control of the league athletics yesterday S. Fabian of Austin was declared ineligible and disbarred from competition in all athletics for one year. Fabian qualified in the junior 40 and 100 yard swim events last Saturday, and swam on the Austin relay team, which also qualified. His disqualification puts C. Hauser, Lane, in the 40 yard swim, and Aaron, Lake View, in the finals of the 100 yard event today. Fabian was disbarred under an article regarding residence of athletes.

The league this winter will conduct a championship ice skating tournament, it was decided by the board. Englewood, Crane, Tilden, Harrison Senn, Lane, and Schurz requested the staging of such a tournament, and Jan. 20 was decided as a tentative date. A committee will be appointed to handle the meet by President J. R. Burke of the board.

The football committee report of the year's play was accepted and Hyde Park was awarded the division A championship shield, and Marshall and Bowen were awarded shields for tying for honors in division B.

Title Game to North Side.

It was voted to have the championship game next year played on the north side of the city, inasmuch as the south side has been the scene of the championship battles for the last fifteen years. A system of standardizing the schedule making also was adopted.

Rules for the chess and checker tournament were adopted, and it was voted to accept the rules of the Western conference in basketball games for the coming season.

BISHOP QUINTET ROLLS INTO LEAD IN CITY PIN MEET

Rolling on the late shift last night, the Tom Bishop Cigars of the Schueneman Logan Square league went into first place in the five man event of the Chicago Bowling association tourney at the Schueneman alleys with a grand total of 2,932. They had games of 934, 1,016 and 982. The Pirates of the Logan Square Craftsmen league, on the same shift, took third place with 2,905 pins.

Bob Hayes and Fred Berghaus, from the Bruck drives, rolled into first place in the two man event, piling up a grand total of 1,248, with Berghaus 675 doing the heavy work.

M. Morton and F. Kirkeby, on the same squad, tried to follow the pace of the new leaders, but dropped back with 1,228, which is second high to date. Kirkeby was high gun for the pair with 676.

Some good shooting showed in the singles, but leaders were not disturbed. Nine totals better than 600 were registered, with W. Schweik showing the lead with 648, good for fifth place. W. Ollerman and A. Raddell tied for second honors of the night with 632 each. Leading scores:

LOANS BY UNIVERSITY BAR 8 OHIO WESLEYAN ATHLETES FOR GOOD

OBERLIN, O., Dec. 15.—Eight Ohio Wesleyan [illegible] athletes were declared permanently ineligible to participate in Ohio conference athletic activities for "receiving $250 annually from an athletic loan fund," it was announced today by F. A. Miller, secretary of the conference. Among those named are Glen Smith, 1922, Wesleyan football captain, and Lingal Winters, captain elect.

Miller made public official minutes of the meeting of the conference held at Columbus Monday, when Ohio Wesleyan was accused of offering scholarships and loans to members of the football team.

Wesleyan representatives admitted that the loans had been continued and declared they considered themselves bound by a four year promise to the men, according to the minutes.

It was explained that the plan was one by which students, including athletes, were granted loans for which they gave notes and agreed to pay interest until payment after graduation.

GAME MITCHELL IS CRUSHED BY WHITE IN 10TH

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Charlie White, with both eyes practically closed and his lips swollen to twice their natural size, unbuckled one of his famous left hooks in the tenth round of his scheduled fifteen round battle with Richie Mitchell of Milwaukee here tonight and knocked Mitchell kicking. Richie arose at the count of nine, but once more White sent him crashing to the floor with a straight right to the chin. Richie arose once more at the count of nine. The Chicagoan kept on top of the reeling blonde and, measuring him carefully, toppled him over once more with a cruel looping right-hander to the chin. While Richie lay crumpled in helpless condition the referee, Patsy Haley, stepped in and stopped the fight to save the game but thoroughly conquered man from further punishment.

White Nearly Out in Second.

White won, but he was lucky to emerge on top. In the second round he was tottering around the ring on the verge of a knockout himself when Mitchell smashed him with an overhand right which landed right on the chin, and for a moment it appeared White was gone. He clinched, but Mitchell shook him off and continued to smear the left hook king with a shower of rights and lefts to the face. It was only White's superb condition that kept him on his feet to weather this barrage, but he was a sorry looking fighter as he stumbled back to his corner. Mitchell had White's right eye nearly closed in the third, and before the eighth was ended both Charlie's optics were in bad shape.

Charlie Gets Under Way.

It was not until the sixth round that White got under way, and it could be seen that he was biding his time. Suffering from the punishment Richie had dealt out, White was cautious. He kept shuffling in, prepared all the time to shoot one to the mark. But Mitchell was furnishing him with the surprise of his life.

The eighth found Mitchell still in front but tiring badly. When the ninth came White feinted the Milwaukee boxer into a wide opening and shot through a straight right to the chin, and down went Mitchell. With the stroke of ten Richie got up and White wrestled him to the floor, but Mitchell managed to stick it out.

Mitchell Goes Out.

Under a shower of bone crushing rights and lefts to the jaw, Mitchell went to the floor of the ring three times in the tenth session, battered, helpless, and unconscious. Twice Mitchell regained his feet after Referee Patsy Haley and Official Counter Billy ... had tolled off nine seconds. It was only the fighter's instinct which brought Mitchell to his feet in that dramatic tenth session.

Under a shower of rights and lefts Mitchell collapsed for the third time, going down thoroughly beaten and "out." This time Dr. Charles Walker, state athletic commission physician, signaled Referee Patsy Haley to stop the bout, and the formality of a count was dispensed with. Haley stooped and lifted the crumpled form that was Mitchell in his arms, and with the assistance of Mitchell's handlers carried the beaten boxer to his corner. There was about five minutes before Mitchell could be restored to that stage of consciousness where he was able to clamber from the ring.

White did not waste any time in the tenth, but the round was 2 minutes and 49 seconds old when the fight was stopped. Both men weighed 137 pounds. White was a 5 to 1 favorite in the last minute betting. Twelve thousand saw the battle.

ANDERSON AND FORKINS WIN IN DAVENPORT SHOW

Davenport, Ia., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—A double windup featured tonight's bouts at the American Legion show. Both were ten rounds. Mickey Forkins of Chicago won over Billy Rolfe of Omaha. Forkins displayed the greater skill and endurance, but the older head and experience of Rolfe saved him from severe punishment.

Eddie Anderson of Moline easily outpointed Johnny Sheppard of Boston. Anderson delivered two blows to his opponent's one, but they lacked the k. o. punch.

ZBYSZKO EARNS DECISION OVER DEMETRAL ON MAT

Gibbons Laces Miske for 10 Rounds; After Dempsey

BY FRANK SMITH.

BILLY MISKE. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miske never had a chance during the whole battle and not one round was he able to win. From the start of the gong Gibbons went at it to win by a knockout, but he found a mighty tough customer in his fellow townsman.

Closed Gibbons' Eye.

He kept plastering away and when the final gong rang Miske was mighty glad the bout was over. The only damaging blow landed by Miske during the entire fight was in the seventh round, when a wild right swing closed Tommy's left eye.

This seemed to start Tommy to greater deeds, although in the eighth Miske came back and by hefty blows held Tom even.

Gibbons opened the first round by knocking out a mouthful of teeth that Miske had owned since childhood and at times Jack Reddy's man was dizzy from the rain of blows.

In the second session Miske halted the wild career of Gibbons with a short right to the jaw but Eddie Kane's heavyweight contender would not be denied. The third round appeared about even, each doing more or less damage with rights and lefts.

The fourth round was all Gibbons'. He smothered Billy with rights and lefts without return. The fifth also was all Gibbons,' Miske was in distress several times but went into clinches and thus avoided a knockout.

Billy Assimilates Punishment.

In the sixth Tom had Billy all but out but the St. Paul man was a glutton for punishment and withstood the onslaught like a Spartan.

The seventh and eighth were fairly even, Gibbons' closed eye handicapping him.

In the ninth Gibbons went after his man, making the big fellow dizzy and forcing him to hold. In the tenth Miske's eyes were almost closed and he could hardly see. Tom rained a fusillade of blows on the enemy but he couldn't put him to the canvas.

In all it was one of the hardest fought battles ever staged in any ring. There wasn't an idle moment and throughout it all Miske didn't have a chance and knew it.

After the bout Miske said that Jack Dempsey would be easy picking for Gibbons, declaring Tommy would make the champ miss more blows than he would land.

Gibbons looked better tonight than he has in all his recent bouts. Miske was better than he ever was in his life and admitted it.

That being the case, it looks from here as if Gibbons should be considered for the big blow off with Dempsey.

After Dempsey Match.

Immediately after the bout Manager Kane sped to the telegraph office, where he shot a message to Tex Rickard asking that Gibbons be given first chance at Dempsey in view of the fact that the eastern promoter had sidetracked the Dempsey-Wills affair.

Kane said that while the St. Paul man was after the scalp of Dempsey, he would be willing to meet either Floyd Johnson or Luis Firpo in elimination contests, but believed that neither was entitled to a go with the white champion ahead of Gibbons.

Tom Logical Contender.

Kane plans to return to Chicago in a day or two and there await some word from Rickard. He claims that Gibbons' victory over Miske makes him the logical heavyweight contender and the real box office attraction when it comes to discussing a championship affair. In addition, Kane is sincere in the belief that Gibbons has a chance to lick Dempsey and make a much better showing than Bill Brennan did a couple of years ago when the Chicago boy all but beat the champ. Faint heart ne'er won fair lady. Gibbons certainly has no faint heart.

More than 10,000 fans crowded into the arena as the hour approached for the first bout of the evening. The early battles only whetted the appetite of the fans for the main show. It was estimated that there was $25,000 in the house. It was the first sellout that St. Paul had experienced since boxing became a vogue in the state.

ACACIA GOLF CLUB TO PURCHASE MORE LAND

BY JOE DAVIS.

The decision of the Acacia Country club last night to purchase forty additional acres of land adjoining its other holdings on the north, gives the new golfing association an ideal course of around 6,700 yards, covering 128 acres. This wil insure the Masonic club a standard course of eighteen holes, running north and south, located two miles south of Western Springs.

At the meeting last night twenty-four new members were taken into the club. President James D. Gibson appointed the following committee chairmen:

W. L. Boyland, sites; Dr. Dudley Bayliss, membership; R. J. Barnett, house; E. C. Tubbs, grounds and greens; Frank Baumel, finance; Dave Baxter, entertainment.

The club's decision to buy the added forty acres of the Beckett farm was arrived at last night, when it was found that the club would otherwise be unable to make its course the standard eighteen hole stretch without destroying a park of fifteen acres which surrounds the clubhouse.

Sectional Pro Meet Here.

According to Alec Pirie, president of the Illinois Professional Golfers' association, who was a delegate to the meeting of the national association at New York, the qualifying round for the western section of the national open championship will be held at one of the clubs in the Chicago district.

The date of the national open event at Inwood in June has not been announced, but it will be held late enough to permit Champion Eugene Sarazen to get back in time should he compete in the British open championship.

The sectional qualifying rounds will be held the week preceding the national tournament. Mr. Pirie also has been asked by the Western Golf association to name several courses suitable for its open event.

The annual meeting of the Butterfield Country club will be held at the Great Northern hotel on Monday night. Secretary John E. Gavin announces that some important matters will be discussed.

BLOUIN DEFENDS TITLE AGAINST SMITH TODAY

Jimmy Blouin, world's bowling champion, and Jimmy Smith, former titleholder, will roll the first twenty games of their sixty game match this afternoon and tonight at the Randolph alleys.

This is the third time that Blouin has been called upon to defend his title since winning it last winter. He is taking on challengers in the order of their finish in the big classic. So far this season he has met and defeated Phil Wolf and Mart Lindsey. Besides a diamond medal they are rolling for a side bet.

The third and fourth blocks of ten games will be rolled tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The fifth block of ten games will be contested Monday afternoon and the final Tuesday afternoon. The new Petersen system of scoring will be used.

The match has attracted so much attention that special arrangements have been made to accommodate a capacity crowd. Many out of town bowling fans are here for the match.

6 SCHOOLS DROP OUT OF SOUTHERN COLLEGIATE A. A.

Greenville, S. C., Dec. 15.—The Southern Intercollegiate association, for thirty-six years a power in Dixie sports, today lost from its membership six members whose teams have had a large share in shaping the athletic history of the section. The split came after the association voted to modify its one year playing rule to permit freshmen to participate in games between members by mutual consent of opposing teams.

The seceding institutions announced they would join the new southern intercollegiate conference in accordance with an agreement reached at its recent conference at Atlanta. They are Georgia Tech, Clemson college, University of Florida, University of South Carolina, University of Alabama, and Lousiana State university. Other members of the association, it was said, will withdraw for the same reason, but their action was deferred because they were not officially represented at the present session.

LAUREY ANNEXES FIVE MILE RACE

Joe Laurey, Amos A. A., won the five mile professional roller skating race at the Riverview rink last night, Al Krueger, Avona A. A., finishing second and Jackie Clark, Amos A. A., third. The time was 15:02 2-5. Laurey, Clark, and Krueger each won one of the three sprints during the race. In the one mile amateur race Danny Nack, Avona A. A., won, William Scrivans, Opal A. A., finishing second; Al Swanson, Calerton A. C., third, and William Ullrich, Avona A. A., fourth. Nack's time was 2:56 2-5.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

GET AFTER RED NECKED BERRY PEST THIS WINTER.

DURING the last few years small fruit growers in various sections have had trouble with the red necked raspberry cane borer, which can be controlled by simple methods that may be easily applied. Entomologists claim that one of the best times to apply the control measures to this pest, which attacks raspberry, blackberry, and dewberry canes, is in the winter.

These crops are damaged, often severely, by a flat headed, milk white borer, according to F. H. Chittenden, federal expert. It is the larvae of a small, slender, velvet black beetle with a coppery red or golden "neck," he says.

Growers can detect the work of these borers by the irregular swellings or galls, which cause the canes to become enlarged, and, later, the bark splits open. When canes are found in this condition they soon die or they become so weak that the berries will not develop.

The best control measure is to go through the berry rows and pick out the infected canes and destroy them by burning before the beetles emerge from them. When that has been finished make a search for all wild blackberry, raspberry, and dewberry plants in the neighborhood and treat them in the same way.

Doubt Recovery of Fogel, Former Philly President

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 15.—Doubt as to the recovery of Horace S. Fogel, former president of the Philadelphia Nationals, was expressed by physicians tonight. Fogel, who also was a former manager of the New York Giants and a widely known sports writer, was stricken yesterday with paralysis.

Steffen and Rockne to Speak at Luncheon Today

Judge Walter P. Steffen and Knute Rockne will be the principal speakers at a special luncheon of the Irish Fellowship club at the Hotel Morrison at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. Judge Steffen and Rockne will talk on football and the value of athletics to the average college student.

Holger beat Helberg, 42 to 29, notching a high run of 5 in the 67 innings played at Copland's.

Playing at Leffingwell's last night, Henry scored 44 to Walker's 42, making a high run of 5 to Walker's 4 in the 75 inning match.

Kinrey Matsuyama, the Japanese 18.2 balk line expert, won his match with Percy Collins, local amateur, by a count of 1,200 to 589, when he took the concluding block, 300 to 107, last night at Mussey's Madison street room. The Jap had a high run of 75 and Collins one of 39 in last night's block, Matsuyama going out in 13 innings.

In the Bensinger-Mussey loop three-cushion tournament, class A, Sampson won from Shea [50], 42 to 44, in 93 innings. Shea had a high run of four and Sampson one of 3.

NATIONAL THREE CUSHION LEAGUE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Tiff Denton, Kansas City, shooting keen billiards, is moving away from the field in the race for the National Three Cushion Billiard league championship. Today he won both games from Clarence Jackson, himself victorious in many games, 50 to 36, and 50 to 39.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

FRIEND HARVEY: This incident of "Earlier Chicago" will seem like yesterday to the real oldtimers, but to some of us younger chaps it is a long time ago to the days when the old Cub machine, with Chance as leader, played in the ball park at Polk and Lincoln streets.

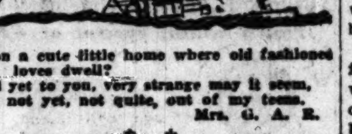

On the southwest corner was Biggio Bros.' saloon, recalled by many present day followers of the Cubs. As a youngster, I stood in front of this wet dispensary from 12 noon to 3:15, when the team was at home, and for those three hours and fifteen minutes I yelled, "Step right inside and get a free score card for today's game."

At the conclusion of my task, Joe Biggio would give me two bits and a cheese sandwich with a long green onion. Then I would beat it to the two bit bleacher window to buy a ticket to see the game. Them days is gone forever. G. McG.

And yet to you, very strange may it seem,
I'm not yet, not quite, out of my teens.

Soft Hours for Bankers.

We are accustomed to associate soft hours with the banking business. Last week, in talking to a suburban money changer, The Wake casually inquired his hours of business.

"From 7:30 in the morning until 4 in the afternoon, except on Wednesdays and Saturdays, when we are open until 9 at night."

"Why the early bird stunt?" we asked.

"To meet downtown competition," he replied. "If our suburbanites cannot bank on their way down in the morning they will do their business in the loop. We thereby save much of this patronage. Many working men are in our territory, so on Wednesday and Saturday nights we cash pay checks and receive deposits."

Pretty soft hours those! What?

There are a few of Mr. Slosson's friends here at the Windsor-Clifton who will take care of everything if death occurs, but think his brother George should be notified. George W. Harris.

THE HANGOVER.

How often, O, how often,
In the reign of bourbon and rye,
Have I sat on the bed in the morning
And watched the room roll by.
How often, O, how often,
In a bar-to-bar excursion,
Have I laid a firm foundation
In alcoholic diversion
For, O, such a headache! Such anguish!
Such sickness! Describe it I couldn't;
One moment I'd fear I would die
And the next I would fear that I wouldn't.

How often, O, how often,
In the era of lager and gin,
Have I vowed that never again would I
Dip into liquid sin.
It took me a long, long time
To make those resolves hold good,
And now, in the dull gray days
Of kickless pap, I could
Be almost tempted to fall—
For, while I went well nigh crazy
With the hangover in the morning,
The night before was a daisy!

MICHIGAN IS GOING AFTER THE PREDATORY ANIMALS.

AS STATES learn the extent to which predatory animals, like timber wolves, coyotes, and wild cats, kill off the game, they cooperate more heartily with the governmental agencies which are waging war against these animals. Michigan is beginning to hit its stride along this line, and is doing great work killing off the "deer slayers."

A good instance of the destruction wrought among deer by wolves was noted last March by a representative of the biological survey who was in Marquette county, Michigan. He found evidence of the activities of wolves in the deer yards in that section, and immediately got busy to see what was doing.

Three wolves had located a place in a swamp where some deer were yarding and then the destruction began. The remains of four freshly killed deer were found over an area of about three acres. This number does not include many unborn fawns.

Michigan now is going after the wolves, and many are being trapped and poisoned, to the great benefit of sportsmen as well as the stockraisers. In some cutover sections of the state it was found almost impracticable to raise sheep until the predatory animals were first killed off.

It has been estimated that not less than ten thousand deer are killed annually by timber wolves, coyotes, bob cats, and foxes, all of which join in the destruction of game during the winter. When the snow is deep or when it has a crust on it, the killers have a high old time, and slaughter apparently for the sheer love of killing.

FRISCH SIDESTEPS UNION PRESIDENCY

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Frank Frisch of the Giants is one of three players nominated for the presidency of the new Players' union, according to John J. McGraw, who said that he had seen the list of officers put up for election this year. George Burns, ex-Giant and now with the Cincinnati Reds, is Frisch's closest rival for the president's position, and the nominee for vice president is Jake Daubert of Cincinnati.

"This is news to me," the Fordham Flash told reporters. "Nobody has notified me of the nomination. Of course, I am willing to stick with the other players, but I would not consent to being head of the organization or any officer in it. I have no kick to make against the Giants or Mr. McGraw; conditions suit me fine, but I felt, when I joined the union, that I ought to suport the other players."

McGraw said that he had seen the names of Cy Williams of the Phillies and Arthur Fletcher, new manager of the same club, on the list of nominees—also that of Earl Smith, the Giants turbulent catcher. McGraw also delivered a sharp attack against the union, asserting that it was unnecessary among major league players.

McGraw is known to be angered by the fact that many of his world's champion Giants have become members of the union. His salary list is one of the highest, if not the highest, in either big league.

A. A. MAGNATES MEET HERE TODAY FOR SCHEDULES

American association magnates will meet here today for the purpose of passing on a schedule for the 1923 season. According to President Thomas Hickey, a layout of 168 games will be adopted, with the opening on April 18 and the close in the first week of October. Today's session will be held at Hotel La Salle.

LANDIS TO VISIT COAST LEAGUE

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 15.—Kenesaw M. Landis, national baseball commissioner, will visit the Pacific coast in January or February, William H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast league, reports.

McCarthy, here on his return from the annual meeting of the minor leagues at Louisville, said that Judge Landis was enthusiastic over the coast because of the players turned out by its clubs.

SOX-YANK TRADE TALK DIES DOWN AS BOSSES LEAVE

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Baseball talk quieted down to a mere whisper today compared to the noisy gabble of the three or four previous days.

TURNER BARBER.

Until the Twentieth Century departed at 2:40 p. m., hope was held out that the Yankees and White Sox officials would turn the much talked of swap that would bring the famous Eddie Collins to New York, but it was a total failure. Apparently the deal is cold, though it might be revived after the Sox representatives get back home and talk the whole thing over with Owner Charles A. Comiskey, who did not attend the session.

Col. Ruppert, now sole owner of the New York outfit, simply stated that the trade wasn't made because the two clubs couldn't agree. It is believed that had Dick Kerr of the Sox been an eligible player, the trade would have gone over.

While the owners of the Brooklyn club failed to put through a big deal, they made one trade—an even proposition in which they got Turner Barber from the Cubs for Wallace Hood, a young outfielder who was farmed out to Salt Lake City last season. Barber, it will be recollected, cost the Chicago club $17,000, coming from Baltimore in 1917. He's a good man to have around, particularly if Brooklyn should trade one of its vet outfielders to bolster up the pitching staff and get an infielder. Barber batted .309 in eighty-four games with the Cubs last season.

BRITISH REFUSE TO LOOSEN GRIP ON OIL IN ASIA

LAUSANNE, Dec. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—Ismet Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation to the near east conference, had a long conversation tonight with Marquis Curzon, the chief British representative.

Lord Curzon reiterated the statement made during the day in a note sent to the Turkish delegation by the inviting powers that the vilayet of Mosul, containing the city of Mosul and the much discussed oil fields, could not be conceded to Turkey as a majority of the population is Arab and the district belongs naturally to the Arab kingdom of Irak.

The Turkish delegation insists on its claim of Mosul for Turkey and in the refusal of the Angora government to grant territory for a national home for the Armenians. The delegation declares these are two points on which it has no authority to make concessions.

Appeal to Americans.

An appeal to Christian America and Christian peoples the world over to use all their influence to prevent the Turks from deporting from Constantinople the patriarch of the Greek orthodox church was made tonight by Mgr. Germanos, a high dignitary of the Greek orthodox church, who has come to the orthodox church.

"It seems impossible," said Mgr. Germanos, who is the patriarchal exarch of western central Europe, "that world Christianity will permit this injustice, or the Lausanne conference will consent to write it into the treaty. Christianity has existed in Constantinople since the first century, and the institution of the Ecumenical patriarch there was provided for by the ecumenical councils of the fourth and fifth centuries.

"Constantinople is indeed a sacred city—sacred to us Christians—for Islam history begins only in the seventh century and the Turks did not conquer Constantinople until the fifteenth century, and this is the first time in history that any nation has appeared before an international assembly to strike a blow at religious institutions which have existed almost two thousand years."

STATE POLICE EXPERT TO OUTLINE SERVICE TO MANUFACTURERS

Cost, maintenance, and need for state police will be discussed by Charles H. Dayton, former troop inspector of the Colorado Rangers and now identified with the state police auxiliary committee, at a dinner address in Hotel La Salle tonight before the Manufacturers' Association of Chicago Heights.

CHARLES H. DAYTON.

Capt. Dayton says he will contend that a state police force is not an instrument to be used against labor in strikes. Its primary object, he explains, is to enforce law and order and to give protection upon the highways. In Colorado 80 per cent of the highway force carries union cards.

LENIN, TROTZKY WORK TO AVERT INDUSTRIAL RUIN

[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MOSCOW, Dec. 15.—[Tribune Radio.]—Just as last year Russia experienced its food crisis, Russia this winter is experiencing an industrial crisis. The most serious efforts are being made to save the mines and factories from collapse.

THE TRIBUNE learns on the best authority that both Premier Lenin and Minister of War Trotzky are devoting their energies to the industrial situation. M. Lenin today addressed a message to the Ukrainian parliament, in session at Kharkoff, relative to restoring the industries in the Donetz basin.

On Short Rations.

From a source close to the minister of war it is learned that M. Trotzky's plan, which is to make industry go at any price, includes the placing of Russia on short rations for as long as a period of ten years, if necessary. He favors the greatest sacrifices in order to restore the pre-war status of the mines and factories should foreign capital remain aloof.

Asked whether he meant that there should be a continuation of short rations for ten years, even if the coming harvests should surpass the pre-war production, thus giving Russia enormous crops for export, M. Trotzky replied in the affirmative. He said that in order to save industries it would be better to live on short rations for a decade, selling food abroad to get money for building up Russia industrially until the nation is independent of the world industrially as it will be with food shortly.

Wants Credits Abroad.

M. Trotzky said, however, that he would prefer to have credits and loans for industries, but, failing this, he favors short rations.

Should America supply credits for industries grains will be kept at home, he added, thereby preventing Russian competition in the grain market. The war minister pointed out that the grain exporting nations could prevent Russia's competition by aiding Russia financially, otherwise Russia would export grain, probably beginning next harvest, even if its people had to go short.

TRAINING CAMPS BODY WILL HOLD ELECTION TODAY

The semi-annual meeting of the national executive committee of the Military Training Camps association will be held in the University club this afternoon at 2:30, followed by a dinner given by Charles B. Pike.

This association proposed and is fostering the series of citizens' military trainipg camps held under direction of the war department each summer and maintains a complete organization throughout the nation.

At this meeting important questions of national policy will be discussed and officers selected for the coming year. Henry S. Drinker, president emeritus of Lehigh university, is honorary head of the association. Charles B. Pike of Chicago is in charge of the work in the central department, including the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh army corps areas.

"Other Woman" Breaks Up Home of Rich Merchant

Home, children and a $25,000 annual income counted for nothing in the life of Frank C. Calkins, president of the K. C. Electric Co., 732 Sherman street, when compared to the love of the "other woman," according to Mrs. Kathleen Calkins, 852 North St. Louis avenue, who was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch. Mrs. Calkins has been receiving $200 monthly from her husband, and he was ordered to continue to pay this sum.

FREED OF AUTO SIREN CHARGE, BUT RAYS $1 FINE

Louis Silverstein, dealer in motor accessories at 1354 South Michigan avenue, was found not guilty by Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday on a charge of splitting the atmosphere with a motor siren, but was found guilty and fined $1 on a charge of shifting his state automobile license from one car to another without notifying the secretary of state.

After Special Assistant City Prosecutor Robert C. O'Connell and Irwin Kowohl, representing Health Commissioner Bundesen, had presented their evidence against Silverstein, he testified that he did not use his automobile on the day in question and that his business has suffered as the result of Dr. Bundesen's reference to him as "the most contemptible noise maker in Chicago." Attorney John Prystalski represented Silverstein.

ELECTROCUTED IN MARBLE PLANT.

Coming in contact with a live wire while making an electrical connection in the Illinois Marble company plant, 1801 Diversey avenue, Joseph Mockol, 23 years old, 2213 North Hoyne avenue, was electrocuted yesterday. The Sheffield avenue police, who were called, took the man to Alexian Brothers' hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

The Marriage Flaw

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

John Corbeyne, one of England's financiers, is about to become a member of the cabinet. He is devoted to Sylvia, his second wife, and their young son. Corbeyne is approached by Katherine, his first wife. She threatens to reopen their divorce case on a technicality unless he returns to live with her as her husband. Corbeyne learns that the case may be reopened and if so that it would create strong public interest. He goes back to Katherine to avoid the risk of staining his wife's honor and his son's name. To stiffen Sylvia's back to the blow, by arousing her pride, he leaves under the pretense that he has been lured away by some other woman.

Carfax announces that Corbeyne is ill. After a month Corbeyne's absence creates a slight panic in the financial world. There is a run on an important bank. Corbeyne goes to the scene of the excitement out of curiosity. Carfax sees him, but as Corbeyne has changed his appearance somewhat he denies that he is Corbeyne.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

A STARTLING PROPOSITION.

Corbeyne made an incoherent sound and was relieved to find that it passed as an exclamation of disapproval.

"I couldn't believe it at first, but it's true," said Carfax. "He cleared out a month ago. That appendicitis stuff is just my guff. The only thing I know about him is that he won't show up again. He's clean cut the painter, and——"

Lord Carfax snatched himself from the verge of another metaphor.

"John Corbeyne was my friend," said Lord Carfax. "He married my ward—one of the best women alive. Until a month ago there was not a man in the world whom I liked and respected more. I am saying nothing about the fact that he has behaved like an unutterable cad to his wife. That's personal. As an Englishman I say that John Corbeyne is a dirty traitor."

Corbeyne put his hand up to his collar, then dropped it again.

"This is distressing, naturally," he said with a nervous laugh. "But why are you telling me all this, Lord Carfax?"

"Can't you see, man?" demanded Lord Carfax.

"No," lied Corbeyne.

"Think over what I've just told you. It was Corbeyne as a figurehead who was needed far more than Corbeyne as a financier. I've known the man intimately for over ten years. I mistake you for him. That means that everybody on earth but his wife would mistake you for him, too."

"I see. You are suggesting that I impersonate John Corbeyne."

Corbeyne laughed—a long, throaty laugh.

"I see. You are suggesting that I should impersonate John Corbeyne?"

"I am," said Carfax. "I'm suggesting just that. I can fix it, if you'll agree. Will you do it?"

"It's a startling proposition."

"Of course it is!" said Carfax. "I've spent twenty years of an active life dealing with startling propositions, Mr. Brierly. This is the most startling I've handled yet. But it's also the easiest."

"It sounds impossibly difficult," said Corbeyne. He felt trapped. Corbeyne was a dirty traitor.

"Leave the difficulty to me," rapped out Carfax. "I can stage manage the whole affair, and all you have to do is to repeat your lines, which will be simple. Being photographed will be your job chiefly, and signing things. Somehow or other you'll have to forge his signature. It won't be a criminal forgery. I'll see that you don't stand in any danger of the criminal law. The utmost you'll risk is making a fool of yourself, and we'll pay you handsomely for that risk. You could save Gorlay's. I happen to know they can stand the run today, but they'll break tomorrow. Will you do it?"

Corbeyne did not answer. He simply could not find the words.

"Look here," said Carfax, with a greater earnestness than Corbeyne, in all those years of association, had ever observed before, "I'm not a religious man, and I'm not a superstitious man. But I admit that I see some strange hand at work in my running into you today. Looked at in one way, it's a blind coincidence. For the last month I've been driven pretty well off my head by Corbeyne's disappearance. I've spent night after night toying with mad ideas about getting some one else to take his place. This morning I run into you, the living image of Corbeyne, complete to his voice, even to some of his gestures. Upset me! Made a fool of myself! Thought you were Corbeyne when I ought to have had more sense. Subconsciousness, y'know—autosuggestion and all that! Now, it's just a blind coincidence, if you look at it one way; but it's too amazing, really, to be coincidence. I've got the feeling—well, you see what I mean, don't you?"

"Yes," said Corbeyne. "I see what you mean. It occurs to me—you are probably—right."

"Then you will do it?" demanded Carfax for the third time.

"What about—his wife?"

"No danger at all! I've told you she's one of the best women alive. She is. She's suffered terribly. She's genuinely concerned at the thought that her husband has let his country down. She would do anything to help me put that right. She would acknowledge you in public as her husband if she were convinced that it were best for the country for her to do so."

Corbeyne took a deep breath. He was shaking. To see Sylvia, speak with her; to——

"As a patriot, Mr. Brierly?" pleaded Lord Carfax. "It's in your power to undo the terrible harm that John Corbeyne has tried to do. Will you——"

"Yes!" cried Corbeyne, wheeling round.

"Thank God!" broke from Carfax as the two men gripped hands.

As soon as the decision was taken Lord Carfax became a somewhat loose knotted bundle of energy and enthusiasm.

"It's one of those things that carry themselves by their own weight," he rhapsodized. "No one looks at a man to see if he's the man he says he is when there's absolutely no reason to suppose the contrary. It's the subconsciousness that sees you through. Autosuggestion on a big scale. For instance, if I took some one and whispered darkly, 'Is this Corbeyne?' he'd find out at once that you were not Corbeyne. But I am not going to whisper, nor is any one else. You'll have to get a mustache, though—and let your hair grow a bit—it will grow, I suppose? Then I'll have to coach you in the part. You'll have to memorize a few figures and things like that, but you probably won't find that difficult. All that's just trimming. I know for a fact Corbeyne had got his plans cut and dried. We must get the essentials fixed first. I've got an appointment with the prime minister at 5, and we'll fix Gorlay's then. Can't do anything now. Have to coach you first."

He pulled out his watch.

"I say, will you be back here in an hour's time? I'll bring Mrs. Corbeyne along and introduce you."

"There's one little matter we'd better get off our chests," Carfax said. "Compensation for your throwing up your present work—the amount we are to pay you, and so forth. Of course, there's no possibility of a wrangle. We are bound to pay you practically anything you like to ask."

"I've no desire to exploit the nation's necessary," said Corbeyne. "I can leave those matters to you. You need not pay me compensation for the loss of my work. I—I was about to resign it. In any case, who would pay my salary?"

"Very public spirited of you!" said Lord Carfax. "Who would pay it? Why, I'd be responsible for its payment myself, of course, but I think that Mrs. Corbeyne—she's been left in control of her husband's fortune—I think she would be glad to make a substantial payment in view of the fact that you will be saving his name, if nothing else, from becoming a by-word."

Corbeyne winced.

"Suppose we say fifty pounds a week to carry on with?" suggested Carfax. "When the stunt is finished I'll guarantee you a gratuity of at least five thousand. Mrs. Corbeyne will probably insist on making it more. Ah—in the meantime—here's a tenner on account." Lord Carfax glanced at the slippers. Corbeyne did his best to murmur thanks.

"I shall be back here before you are," he said.

Early Dance Edict Flouted by Society

Receiving Party Late as Usual at Assembly.

That society always does not practice what it preaches was suspected at the Bal Fantastique when the greater part of society did not put in an appearance until almost midnight (although the ball was heralded as 'an early one), and it was proven a certainty last night when the first assembly was held at the Blackstone. At 10 o'clock the musicians were in their places in the crystal ballroom, which was decorated beautifully with Christmas greens and holly berries for the occasion, but nary a dancer was there until 10:30. At that time Mrs. Thornhill Broome and the women of her dinner party, including Mrs. Lawrence M. Viles, Mrs. Kenneth S. Goodman, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Charles E. Brown, Mrs. Herbert E. Schwarz and Mrs. Hampden Winston, came down to the ballroom from the private rooms upstairs in which the dinner was served.

For fifteen minutes they had a gay time dancing together and then the men of the party joined them. Next came Arthur Meeker, chairman of the board of governors, and following him were Mr. and Mrs. Edward DeWitt Shumway and their dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Adams Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Kersey C. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Miss Anita Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Curtiss, Mr. and Mrs. De Forest Hulburd, Mr. and Mrs. John Broeksmit and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Strawn.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick joined the party at 10:55 and shortly after came Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. Mrs. Crane was the only one of the receiving party to appear before 11 o'clock. She wore a gown of black satin with an overdress of black net spangled in all colors of the rainbow. Mrs. McCormick's gown was of silver cloth with a skirt of silver lace.

Mrs. Broome's gown of cloth of silver had an emerald green girdle and the train was lined with green. She wore green hose and silver slippers. Mrs. Viles' piquant beauty was set off to advantage by a gown of amethyst velvet, made simply. She wore a wide band of amethyst metallic cloth around her head. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Goodman were both gowned in white, the former's costume being entirely white and the latter's having a touch of color in rose brocaded slippers. Mrs. Winston wore salmon color satin trimmed with bands of crystal and she carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies. Mrs. Ryerson's gown of smoke blue chiffon and silver was becoming to her exquisite type of beauty. She wore a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Mrs. Thorne's gown was of turquoise blue taffeta with a tulle skirt and short tulle sleeves. She had pink roses at her belt. Mrs. Schwarz wore green and silver brocade and a diamond bandeau.

Mrs. Shumway wore silver and blue brocade; Mrs. Curtis was in Chinese blue crepe; Mrs. Sturgis' gown was of green velvet; Miss Blair wore pale pink crepe; Mrs. Reed and her sister, Mrs. Schweppe, both wore white gowns; Mrs. Adams was in black velvet; Mrs. Strawn's gown was of sapphire blue velvet and her sister, Mrs. Hulburd, wore a gown of apple green velvet embroidered in crystal.

THEATER NOTES

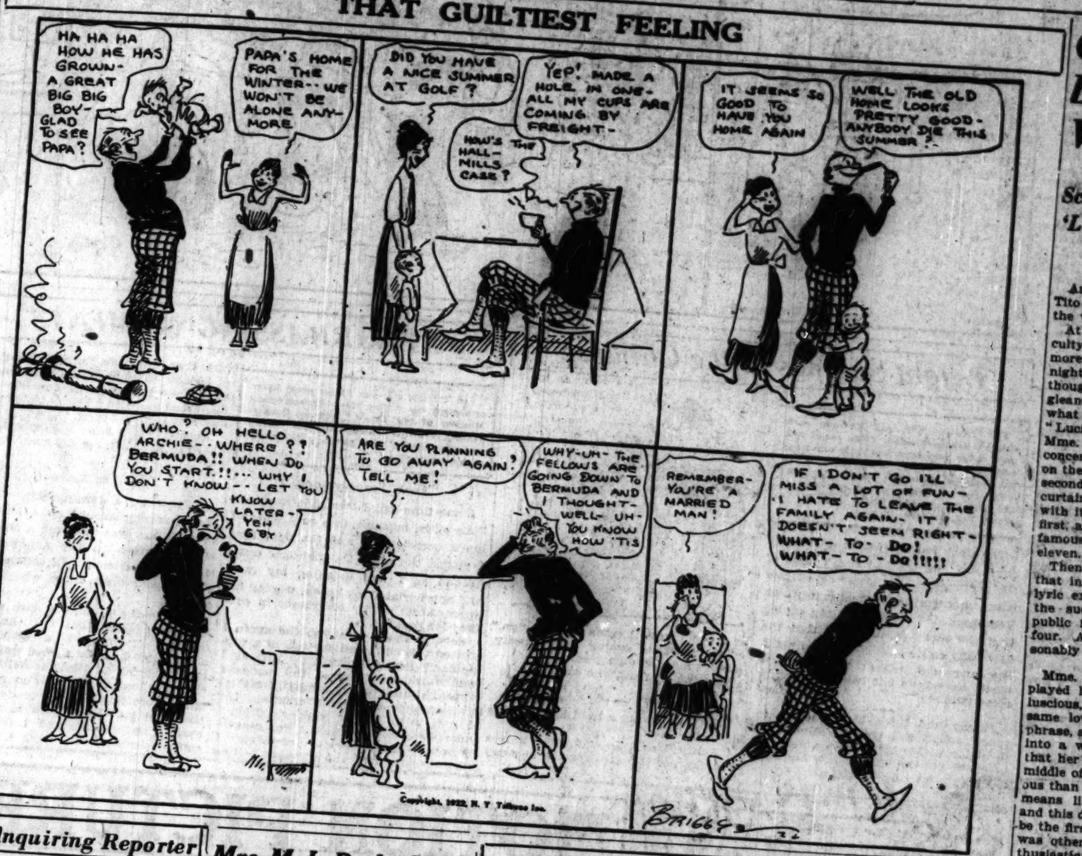

Walter Hackett's rollicking "Arabian nights' adventure," called "Captain Applejack"—all about pirates and such—will arrive at the Harris on Sunday, Jan. 14. Wallace Eddinger plays the swashbuckling hero, and Miss Mary Nash is the heroine. "Six Cylinder Love," now occupying the Harris, will remain until "Applejack" comes.

"Give and Take," the comedy by Aaron Hoffman which has been having some trial performances in the east, seeks a Chicago theater for its first "big city" showing. It has been withdrawn temporarily for the making of necessary changes in the cast, chief of which involves the substitution of somebody else for Augustin Duncan in one of the two leading rôles. George Sidney, last seen here in "Welcome Stranger," may get the part.

The Ben Hecht play which Leo Ditrichstein acted here as "Under False Pretenses" will undergo another change of title when it reaches New York on Christmas night. They think now that they'll call it "The Sublime Egotist." Before it reached Chicago it was known successively as "The Poseur" and "The Mountebank of Emotions."

The "unit show" idea has invaded the realm of continuous vaudeville. At the Rialto next week they will have their first entertainment of this type—something called "You'd Be Surprised," the players in which will provide the entire program.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 each for questions accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter, Chicago Tribune." For today's question Mrs. Rufus Gough, 219 Adams street, Louisville, Ky., was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you agree with the Northwestern university professor who said kissing and handshaking are deadly?

Where Asked.

The Answer.

Miss Hattie Soltow, 916 Belden avenue, milliner—Give me the old fashioned handshake every time, but I don't care for the kissing. I'll let the professor and the doctors give the reasons. A minister might also add that when girls kiss strange men they run the danger of falling for them. It's different if you are engaged or married.

Ralph Eisenberg, 443 East 62nd street, advertising manager—He's right like a wet match. This isn't the first time some one has come out publicly with that statement. Someone is always knocking the world's greatest indoor sport. I notice censors of the screen are trying to limit the duration of a kiss—maybe the germ's the reason.

Mrs. Joseph H. Limerick, 1812 Washington street, housewife—In a general way I hardly think it worth bothering about. It is making a mountain out of a mole hill. One may always discount exaggerated statements. Here is something worth while: Get your Dr. Evans to tell us what danger there is in kissing babies.

George Schotzell, 1853 Larrabee street, chauffeur — I don't know anything about the handshaking part of it, but the kissing—most of us are willing to take a chance. If we don't take a chance we don't get very far in this world. If kissing is deadly we'd all been dead long ago. Even the professor wouldn't be here to talk about it.

Miss Mary Burns, 4624 Union avenue, cashier — I don't agree with the professor that kissing is anything like deadly. Do you? There isn't one of us who doesn't long at times for a kiss from the right one. Why say a thing is deadly when it is almost the reverse? And there's nothing like a good handshake. It helped make Roosevelt famous.

Mrs. M. L. Rothschild Dies After Illness of Only Three Days

Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild, one of Chicago's richest women and the wife of M. L. Rothschild, State street clothing merchant, died unexpectedly yesterday morning in her apartment at the Drake hotel. Death was due to a heart ailment.

Mrs. Rothschild was seriously ill only three days, although she had been under physicians' care for some time. Her death was a surprise and shock to hundreds of friends, some of whom she had visited only last Monday. At the bedside when death came were her husband, her son, Melville Rothschild; her nephew, Dr. Ira Frank, and Ira Nelson Morris, her brother. A sister, Mrs. Hubert Martineau of London, also survives her.

Mrs. Rothschild was 60 years old. She was born in Chicago, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris. Her father founded the packing company that now bears his name.

Her first husband was A. M. Rothschild, head of the Rothschild & Co. department store. Some years after his death she married his cousin, Maurice L. Rothschild. For years they lived at 3725 South Michigan avenue. That home was one of the bright social places of the south side for many years. Two years ago it was closed and Mr. and Mrs. Rothschild moved to the Drake, where they have lived since.

Mrs. Rothschild was active in patriotic circles during the war. A Red Cross detachment was recruited, fitted out, and sent overseas through her efforts. She was always identified with Chicago charities.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the old home on Michigan avenue. Interment will be at Rosehill cemetery.

The Maurice L. Rothschild store will be closed today.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

By Mae Tinée.

BACHELOR DADDY: When you write to Miss Mae Tinée don't address her as "Dear Sir." No, I hardly think so. May MacAvoy is unmarried so far as I know. (How she has escaped the toils is a mystery—she's so lovely) Conrad Nagel? Yassuh.

TANGO: You "empty out a corner of your heart" any time you feel the urge! What was there about the back of his head that especially intrigued you? As I understand it Rodolf can "come back" any time he is willing to work for the miserly sum of $1,250 a week. Could you struggle along on that, do you think? How interesting! What plays were your father and mother in? Maybe you HAVE talent. Just a minute while I look into my crystal! Ah—I see you—("playing next Rodolf?")—no, my dear—why DID you interrupt! You have destroy ze veesion! No, I don't think you're silly. I think you're nice. Come again.

BROCHETTE: Thanks, ever so much, and the same right back at you! Alec B. Francis was the doctor in "Smilin' Through." You have good taste, it seems to me. Search me, why they don't get better parts. Don't give me a chance to forget you again, Brochette. It's been a long time between letters, you know.

JOHANNA: Thanks, ever and ever so much! The picture was lovely!

WILD WEST ADMIRER: Yes, without a doubt you will see Mr. Hart again some day. Sure, I like Tom Mix. Yes, one DOES get a little tired of the "love stuff" now and then. Send a quarter with your request for photographs. Send me a stamped and self-addressed letter for list of studio addresses. No trouble at all.

CLOSEUPS

William De Mille has returned to Los Angeles and will shortly commence work on "Grumpy" for Paramount. Theodore Roberts, May MacAvoy and Conrad Nagel will be featured in the cast.

Baby Peggy took her own phonograph and all her records and spent a lovely, long afternoon recently entertaining the little shutins of the Children's hospital at Hollywood.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

THE TRIBUNE, in an account published Thursday of the divorce suit of Winona Winter Simpson, called her the daughter of "the late Banks Winter, old time minstrel". Friends of Mr. Winter say he is in the best of health and now in New York.

THE TRIBUNE of Thursday morning, in an Associated Press dispatch from New York, announced that Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, daughter of the late E. H. Harriman, was dead. This was an error. Mrs. David Rumsey did die of pneumonia Wednesday afternoon at her home, 21 Washington square, New York. Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, who is the widow of C. C. Rumsey, the sculptor, who was killed in an automobile accident Sept. 21 last, is alive and in her accustomed health at the Orange Hunt club, The Plains, Va.

Good Fellows, Shall It Be Said This Year Santa Claus Forgot?

That sentence, culled from 300 letters that arrived at the Good Fellow headquarters, 7 South Dearborn street, yesterday told a long story. It means that on Christmas day, the happiest day of all the year, some poor little child had been overlooked by the army of Good Fellows who went forth on last Christmas eve in an effort to spread smiles, toys, clothes, and food in every nook and corner of the city.

The letter meant that when a little boy rose from a dirty, ragged bed on the floor of a west side basement he was disappointed. Probably the tot ran to the ragged stocking he had pinned to the wall the night before, thinking it would be loaded with presents, candy, toys, and the other things of Christmas. No doubt the child expected he would find much, but the letter tells the story. The stocking was empty.

Well, Mr. Good Fellow, that thing will happen again this year unless you realize the necessity of your digging into the work. Santa Claus will forget many families unless you hurry to the Good Fellow headquarters, give your name and address and announce how many families you can care for this Christmas eve. There is much poverty in Chicago; perhaps your bank account doesn't show it, but it is a terrible fact that cannot be denied. There is poverty all over town and Good Fellows are more necessary than ever before.

The girls of the Greenebaum bank, 7 South La Salle street, yesterday organized a post of the Good Fellow legion. The committee appointed has collected enough money to care for three families and is expecting to give good cheerful Christmas greetings to many more. That is Post No. 25 of the legion.

Every business house in the city could easily follow the example set by the girls of the Greenebaum bank.

Galli-Curci Back, as Usual Wins Triumph

Schipa Shares Honors in 'Lucia di Lammermoor.'

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Amelita Galli-Curci is back. So is Tito Schipa. Wherefore all's well with the world of opera.

At least you would have had difficulty in making some 3,600 and a few more believe that all was not well last night at the Auditorium. What they thought of the proceedings can best be gleaned from a summarized report of what happened after each scene of "Lucia di Lammermoor," in which Mme. Galli-Curci or Mr. Schipa was concerned. At the fall of the curtain on their first scene, more explicitly, the second of the first act, there were eight curtain calls. The following act, also with its two scenes, had three for the first, and for the second, in which the famous sextet occurs, not less than eleven.

Then came the other famous scene, that in which insanity finds its most lyric expression. But here, such are the sudden, capricious whimsies of public favor, the number dropped to four. At that, the sum total was reasonably satisfactory.

Mme. Galli-Curci's reappearance displayed her voice with all the warm, luscious, appealing quality of old, the same lovely grace in the turn of a phrase, and the same ability to put life into a wornout tune. It is reported that her hairbreadth escapes from the middle of the pitch were more numerous than before, but such a happening means little when Galli-Curci sings, and this department does not intend to be the first to cast reflections on what was otherwise a gay, joyous, and enthusiastic evening. The fact remains that the Auditorium was crowded, and any other soprano who can induce more than a strictly limited number of patrons to care in the least whether "Lucia di Lammermoor" is given or not will have to be another Galli-Curci.

Mr. Schipa, youthful, eager, attractive, and the paragon of lyric tenors, shared the honors with her. I was unable to remain for his final scene, the words of which are understood to be the equivalent of "Down Among the Dead Men," but from what he did in other parts of the opera I can think of no one better justified to sing the aria.

There was faithful assistance from Giacomo Rimini, Virgilio Lazzari, and others, and Pietro Cimini conducted.

Alfred Cortot Wins Applause.

Frederick Stock and Alfred Cortot between them caused a good many pleasant things to be said about French music yesterday afternoon. The week's program for the Chicago Symphony orchestra was nominally devoted to French composers, with Mr. Cortot as piano soloist. In reality it turned out to be a program of Florent Schmitt, Camille Saint-Saëns, and César Franck.

A rather stunning performance it turned out to be, though not until after the intermission did quality of music begin to measure up to quality of performance. The Schmitt work, which opened the program, "Feuillets de Voyage," new here, was, it would seem, done when the composer was too young, just as the Saint-Saëns Fifth Piano Concerto came from a mind that had previously done much other music and was beginning to show signs of age.

Schmitt's composition consists of five melodious and inoffensive sections and was valuable mainly as a prelude. The Saint-Saëns concerto, however, had the special point of interest of being the instrument of some of the most brilliant solo playing of the season. If ever a pianist had a personal success Mr. Cortot had it here. A good part of the intermission was taken up by applause in front of the stage and bows upon it.

Then came Franck, composer of some of the finest music the world has ever known, and two works on the program representing some of the finest of Franck.

Then came Mr. Cortot again, as soloist in Franck's "Variations Symphoniques." This work, on the contrary, is rarely played. One might imagine that its infrequent occurrence is because it needs a pianist with the technical skill, the intelligence, and the fervor of Mr. Cortot.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Doris Blake Says:

TODAY IS LUCKY FOR THE DIPLOMATIC.

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day. Although the sun has benefic power, there are marked adverse influences. It is a rule auspicious for those who have attained success. Women are warned it is a planetary government not favorable to domestic harmony, men requiring much attention and even flattery while these signs prevail. Those whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year not marked with any great change either for good or ill, unless money is speculated in a reckless manner. You are quiet and secretive about your own affairs. You are a good friend, but never adopt a person as a friend until you know him thoroughly, thus saving yourself disappointment, and possibly, too, cheating yourself out of the joy of the impulsive natured. You have a tremendous capacity to enjoy the luxuries of life and are inclined to cultivate people who can give you this to the exclusion of others. You do not always state the truth accurately, not intending to prevaricate, either. Just "too previous" in your declarations. Children born on this day are likely to be versatile and adaptable, and should win success easily.

Loves Her Dearly.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going about with a young girl for the last two years. When I ask her to go out with me she refuses. But when her cousin asks her to go she accepts. Please advise me what to do, as I love her dearly and would hate to give her up. "S. F."

Maybe her mother will not let her go out with any but her cousin. As a rival as cousin is no one to be jealous about. I take it the girl is very young, but you give me no cue, and consequently I am a bit at sea to know how to advise.

The stork had arrived at a house in our block, but we had heard none of the particulars. My sister asked how many children they now had, to which Vera replied, "three." On my saying that she was mistaken and that the new baby made only the second child, she answered with: "Why, there would have been but two if he hadn't come twinned." L. R. C.

Jimmy had three blocks to go to school and it was time for him to be in his seat. He crept in as quietly as he could, but the teacher saw him and asked him why he was late.

He hesitated and said, "I ran as fast as I could until I came upon a sign."

The teacher, eyeing him closely, asked what the sign was.

"School, go slow," he said. W. C. W.

Free Forevermore.

Some time ago I was able to give a little extra business to a café where I lunch occasionally, and the next time I visited the place the manager came around as I was finishing my meal and appropriated my check, voicing his appreciation of my assistance in profuse language.

Several weeks went by, and again I visited this café, and partook of a particularly hearty breakfast. Just as I was finishing the meal, the manager appeared and, taking a seat at my table, engaged me in conversation. As I rose to go to the cashier's desk, I missed my check, which I was reasonably certain had been issued to me. I remonstrated with the manager, telling him that the little favor I happened to be able to show him, did not necessitate his boarding me for life. He dismissed me with a rather broad smile and a pat on the back.

About a week later I discovered the check in the pocket of my coat. P. S.

Time to Retreat.

It was at a masquerade. I had been jumping around as a clown all evening and was applying a stick vigorously, much to the annoyance of some of my friends. Of course, I had only picked upon those whom I recognised.

Late in the evening a man whom I knew suggested that I strike a certain person dressed as a comical male character. I let fly a good wallop and such a shriek as filled the hall—it was that of a woman, too! Of course, apologies were immediately rendered, but the deed had been done in sight of every one present, and I felt much embarrassed. I. F. W.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

PALE FACE: "DISCRETION IS the better part of pallor," runs a Manchu proverb, the American street translation not being as good as it might be. Frankly, I think a little makeup does no harm and a powerful lot of good to the average woman past her early twenties. It is against the indiscretions of rouge and lipstick one much preach. It is the slapstick comedy which make it what it isn't. If you are pale, very pale lipped, then learn the art of imitating the natural bloom and apply it deftly.

G. H.: TOO BAD SOME GREAT beauty doesn't start painting her nose red and then all my little readers who write me complaints on theirs would be right up in front in the new style. But as long as the cheeks get the paint the nose must be subdued in tone. The reason for the high color these Volstead days is lack of circulation, nine times out of ten. Frequent colds, too, would be eliminated with better circulation. And this is only got by exercise and by good digestion. If you will start out your a. m.'s with my youth preservers, twelve excellent exercises to tone up every part of the system, take a shower, cool, cold, colder, and rub like everything for a couple of minutes, you will give the circulation the best start. And now that the air is full of ozone get out and get three miles' worth of it into your system daily. Send stanmped, addressed envelope for the y. p.'s.

MARGARET: THE NIGHTLY APplication of cold cream or olive oil will remedy the brittle nails. Peroxide and pumice stone will remove the stains from the fingers. Raw tomato juice will remove stairs from the hands.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Butter with Fondant.

Eight or ten years ago one of the popular candy shops published the recipe for its butter creams, which were in great demand. It read: Twenty-five pounds Moulda sugar, two quarts of 20 per cent cream, one pound of butter. I do not think directions for mixing these were given, but you see what we might have would be like a cream icing mixed with butter. You would have to know the technique of the trade to get that sugar, which, I was told, was finer than the driven snow, but no finer than fondants I have made when it took half an hour to beat them, with a velvet softness resulting.

A little butter is nowadays put in what some people call an uncooked fondant, but the cosmopolitan name for which is royal icing; that is, confectioners' sugar beaten into egg white, to keep it from cracking from the cake.

In a description of a "crack candy maker" printed last Christmas time, it said: "She added a little butter to part of the fondant, worked it into little balls, which she dipped into chocolate, resulting in delicious butter creams."

And now in a December magazine there is a page containing recipes and suggestions from one of the most successful of present day candy makers, in which there is this: "You have, of course, a favorite fudge recipe, but here's a hint: If you find it too hard after beating it, do not cook it over again; add creamed butter and knead until it is the proper consistency." Fudge is a fondant, you know.

Courage That Wins.

"Do you suppose some one has a back rest and bedside table to lend me? I have been in bed over a year and cannot afford to buy these things, but will take good care of them and return them in good order. K. T."

Bedridden for a year, but only asks the loan of a back rest and bedside table in getting well! That's the message that will win through if given help over the hard spots. Can't some one give K. T. the things needed to win the battle for renewed health and strength?

An Offer of Books.

"I have at least twenty-five books, some worn, which I believe will make good reading for boys and girls and some for adults. I shall be glad to send these to you for your distribution if you can use them. I also have some sheet music, which I shall be happy to include in this package if you know of some one who would enjoy having it. "M. C."

BRAN NOW MADE DELICIOUS

Everybody knows the need of bran. But clear bran is not inviting. People won't continue, as you know.

Pettijohn's hides the bran flakes in luscious flakes of wheat. Not ordinary wheat, but a special wheat—the most flavory wheat that grows.

One hardly suspects the bran, yet Pettijohn's is 25% bran, enough to be effective.

You know the need for whole wheat and for bran. Here we combine them in a dainty. In a dish which countless homes regard as the finest breakfast cereal.

Try it tomorrow. It will solve the bran problem in your home in the most delightful way.

Pettijohn's

Rolled Wheat—25% Bran

This Frock Worn by the Famous "Katinka"

by Corinne Lowe.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—This holiday season the Christmas belle is going to enter into a lively rivalry with the Christmas tree, and only the most penetrating jury will be able to decide which of the two wears more cloth or silver.

The charming frock shown today is one of the all gold creations so often seen nowadays. Especial interest attaches to it because it was the gown worn at a private party by the Russian actress who has made such a nation-wide impression by her singing of "Katinka," in the Chauve Souris.

The foundation of this costume is cloth of gold, and over a petticoat of gold lace extends a saucy little gathered peplum of the gold tissue. As are so many of the new evening gowns, this model presents a contrast between front and back neck lines. For in the back the rounded front swoops down into an exceedingly deep "V."

While mentioning the metallic issue, one dwells especially upon the numerous gold and silver gaufre evening wraps which the New York season has called forth. These are usually trimmed with fur, particularly chinchilla, which is now more fashionable for the evening wrap than is ermine itself.

Three Debutantes to Be Introduced to Society Today

Three debutantes will make their formal bows to society today, Miss Elizabeth Copeland, Miss Ruth Channon and Miss Polly Packard. Miss Copeland will be introduced at a tea to be given by her mother, Mrs. Lowell Copeland of Winnetka, and Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter at the residence of the latter, 1545 Astor street, from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. James Harrison Channon of 220 East Walton place will be at home from 4 to 7 o'clock to present to society their daughter, Ruth. Tonight Mrs. Vincent Bendix, sister of Miss Channon, will give a dinner for the debutante and her assistants and their escorts at her residence, 232 East Walton place.

Tonight a dance will be given at the Casino by Mr. and Mrs. George Packard of 436 Barry avenue to introduce their daughter, Polly. Receiving with the debutante and her parents will be her sister, Mrs. Farrington Holt of Detroit, who, with her husband, is here for the holiday season. Before the dance Mr. and Mrs. Packard will give a small dinner party at the club for their daughter.

Frederic F. Norcross of 1301 Astor street, will be host at a dinner party at the Casino before the dance for Miss Laura Thompson, debutante daughter of Mrs. Leverett Thompson of 220 East Walton place. Others who will give dinners before the dance are Miss Lois Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murry Nelson of 48 East Schiller street; and Miss Frances Robinson, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson of 229 Lake Shore drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Williams and little son, who have been at Woodstock, Vt., since returning from abroad in the early fall, arrived in Chicago yesterday and are at the Virginia hotel. They will remain in Chicago until about Feb. 1. Miss Joan Williams, who is at school at Foxcroft this year, is spending a few days in Washington, D. C., with her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Norman Williams, before coming here next week to spend the holidays with her parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers of 1100 Lake Shore drive. Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers will give a dinner party for Mr. and Mrs. Williams on New Year's eve and also will entertain for them before the second Assembly, Jan. 12.

Assisting yesterday afternoon at the first of a series of informal teas given by Mrs. Ira Couch Wood and her debutante daughter, Frances, at their residence, 10 East Schiller street, were Miss Alice de Windt, Miss Elsa Bartholomay, Miss Lydia Hibbard, Miss Polly Packard, Miss Laura Thompson, Miss Edith Farnsworth, Miss Gertrude White, Miss Clara Hollis, Miss Beatrice Harvey, Miss Katharine Mordock, Miss Josephine Hoyt, Miss Gertrude Bissell and Miss Elizabeth Copeland. Mrs. Wood and her daughter will receive again today from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faurot will give a tea this afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at their residence in Riverside for their daughter, Julia Belle, whose engagement to Gustav Izard Tolson of Shanghai, China, formerly of New Orleans, La., was announced recently. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Faurot and their daughter will be their house guest, Mrs. Jeanne Tolson of New Orleans, mother of Miss Faurot's fiancé. Mr. and Mrs. Faurot and their daughter and son, George Faurot, will sail from San Francisco on Jan. 11 for China. Miss Faurot and Mr. Tolson will be married in February at the residence of Mrs. John Liddell in Shanghai.

Mlle. Emma Morhard will talk on "La France Colonisatrice" today at 2:15 o'clock in Fullerton hall, Art institute, under the auspices of the Alliance Française. Following the lecture there will be a luncheon at the Cordon for Mlle. Morhard.

The Sophomore club of the Chicago Latin school, is giving a dance tonight at the Surf hotel. Mrs. George W. Dixon, Mrs. William J. Sinclair and Mrs. E. B. Wolf will chaperon.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer have revived the hospitable custom of being at home to their friends once a week and every Sunday afternoon their residence at 1350 Lake Shore drive is a rendezvous for smart society.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson of 4800 Drexel boulevard have recalled invitations to a tea tomorrow for the members of the Equity association, owing to the death of Mrs. Maurice L. Rothschild.

Mr. and Mrs. John Quick Magie will give an informal tea tomorrow from 5 to 7 o'clock at their residence in Winnetka for the latter's debutante sister, Miss Kathryn Prest.

Mrs. J. S. Korshak of 6318 Kenwood avenue will give a dinner party tomorrow at the Sovereign hotel for Miss Ethel Eisman and Miles Fried, whose marriage will take place the latter part of the month.

The date of the Housekeeping Centers' benefit has been changed from Jan. 8 to Jan. 10. "Sally" will be the attraction.

Christmas Pageant at Church.

Handel's "Messiah" will be sung by the united choirs of the New First Congregational church, Ashland and Washington boulevards, tomorrow night and again the following Sunday night. There also will be a Christmas pageant on each of the two nights.

Quintennial Exhibit of Art Institute Alumni Is Opened

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

One of the largest and most interesting exhibitions of the year opened yesterday in the east galleries of the Art institute. It is an exhibition that takes place only each five years. This is the second time it has been staged. By name it is known as the Second Retrospective Exhibition of the Art Institute Alumni association.

About 400 paintings have been hung and some hundred or so pieces of sculpture are displayed throughout the rooms. Besides these there are etchings, drawings, posters, toy houses, cartoons, batiks, and other kinds of handicraft.

There was but one prize offered, the W. M. R. French Memorial gold medal, which was awarded to Sherry Fry for a beautifully sculptured, draped, girlish figure in bronze.

In the last room of the east gallery an exhibition has been arranged by the Arts club. It also opened yesterday. Two French artists are represented. One, a sculptor, is Emile Bourdelle; the other, Jean Louis Forain, is a painter. The exhibit is clever and the first of many temporary modern exhibitions to be shown there by the Arts club.

Actors Give "Show" for 800 Disabled War Vets

More than 800 soldiers and sailors whose war service incapacitated them for civil life activity were entertained yesterday at United States hospital number 30, 47th street and Drexel boulevard, by a number of theatrical performers appearing under the auspices of Frank Bering, general manager of the Hotel Sherman, and the Liberty Drivers.

Children's Christmas Party.

Punch and Judy, Santa Claus, snowflake dancers and the Bryn Mawr Community choir were high points on the program at "Our Children's Christmas Party," given at the Aryan Grove last night by the People's Gas club. The entertainment will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

Just a reminder that our vast assortment of

is still complete. The heavy demand for our cards has compelled us to make up new editions of the most popular numbers.

Flapper Lacking in Soul, Church Society Is Told

The trouble with the flapper was diagnosed last night. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton of New York, speaking before the Young People's societies at the Moody tabernacle, said the flapper has no soul.

"The modern girl's all-important question," he said, "is, 'Where is my manicure set?' And neither does she confine the use of her set to her private rooms. You see it in evidence on street cars, elevators, street corners, and in public halls.

"One of your Chicago authors has said that she uses the set so much that she is polished to perfection—on the outside. But the trouble with the flapper girl is that she has no soul and in her sober moments I fancy she longs for something to polish the inside so that she will be what she appears on the outside."

Dr. Boynton decried the "tide of materialism that is sweeping the country." It is providing a problem in big cities like Chicago the equal of which is not encountered in any other part of the world, he said.

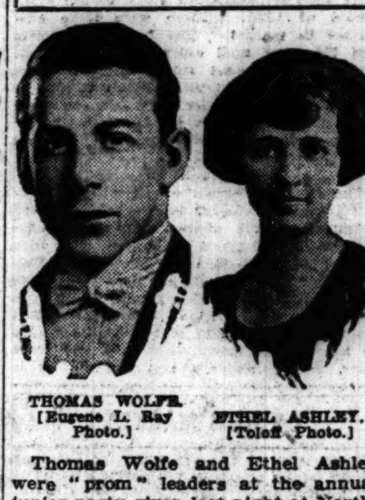

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Miss Priscilla Alden Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hobbs Allen of 171 East 62d street, made her debut tonight at a ball that Mrs. Allen gave for her at the Ritz Carlton, which was preceded by several dinners, including the large one that Mrs. Charles Frederick Hoffman gave, also at the Ritz Carlton, to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of her only daughter, Miss Marion K. Hoffman. Mrs. Allen's guests for the ball included a large number of the younger and older married people as well as the young set.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams Drake will give a reception next Sunday afternoon at their apartment, 270 Park avenue, for Anton Silotti, a young American composer.

PROM LEADERS

Thomas Wolfe and Ethel Ashley were "prom" leaders at the annual junior party given last night at Northwestern university. Mary Alice Merrill was chairman of the junior class social committee which handled the affair.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Lady Geddes, wife of the ambassador of Great Britain, received this afternoon at the embassy, assisted by the Hon. Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Bridge, and Mrs. Mahoney, wives of members of the staff.

Col. and Mrs. Robert M. Thompson gave a dinner tonight, followed by a reception in honor of delegates to the Central American conference.

Lieut. Jean Labat of the office of the military attaché of the French embassy, and Mme. Labat entertained at luncheon today, when their guests were the military attaché, Col. Dumont; Representative A. Piatt Andrew, Maj. and Mrs. Goring Bliss, Mlle. Dumont and M. Bergeron.

Mrs. Frank S. Hight was hostess today at a luncheon in the palm room of the Willard for Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh. The company included Mrs. Thomas Riley Marshall, Mrs. T. De Witt Talmadge, Mrs. George Mesta, Mrs. Ord Preston, Mrs. John Allen Dougherty, Mrs. William M. Caldwer, Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, Mrs. C. C. McChord, Mrs. Mark Sullivan, and Mrs. T. T. Ansberry.

OBITUARY.

Alex Robertson of Continental Bank Dies Unexpectedly

Alexander Robertson, vice president of the Continental and Commercial National bank, died in his apartments at the Parkway hotel yesterday morning. Angina pectoris was the cause of death. Mr. Robertson had been ill only a few hours although he had not been in robust health for some months.

Mr. Robertson was born at Thornhill, Perthshire, Scotland, Dec. 13, 1861. He was educated in the public schools there and entered the Bank of Scotland as a clerk in 1877. In 1883 he went to Halifax and became a general clerk in the Bank of Nova Scotia. In 1893 he was sent to Chicago as assistant manager of the local branch of the Canadian bank. In 1906 he was elected vice president of the Continental National bank and continued in that capacity with the Continental and Commercial National bank.

Mrs. Robertson survives. She was not at the bedside when her husband died, but is rushing to Chicago to arrange the funeral.

DEATH NOTICES

IN MEMORIAM.

MATHISON—Mrs. Inga Carlson Mathison. In loving memory of our dear daughter, who passed away Dec. 16, 1920:

In the graveyard, softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In her lonely, silent grave.
The flowers we lay upon you
May wither and decay,
But the love and remembrance
Of our Inga will never fade away.

GRAINS RESPOND TO BULLISH NEWS BY SHARP BREAK

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets made a poor response to the radically bullish news, evening up for the government report due after the close and heavy profit taking resulting in a lower range, although May and July corn and July oats sold at a new high for the season, due to a strong rally around noon. The markets all dropped sharply toward the last and finished with wheat off 1⅛@1⅝c; corn, ½@1⅝c; oats, ¼c, and rye, ⅞c.

Introduction of a bill into congress to appropriate $70,000,000 for German relief, the favorable report on the farm credit bill, talk of a huge international loan to Germany, wet weather in Argentine and unfavorable weather in Kansas all had considerable influence on sentiment at times. There was a marked letup in the outside buying, however.

Omaha Wheat to Chicago.

Bulges met with increased pressure and toward the last reports that 200,000 bu cash wheat had been sold from Omaha to come here led to general selling and a break to the lowest figures of the day. Under $1.23 for May an excellent class of buying developed, which checked the decline.

Long December corn came out throughout the day and while the deferred deliveries showed independent strength at times due to buying by local bulls, the market eased off rather sharply toward the last. Despite the material advance of late, country offerings of cash grain were not large, purchases on overnight bids being estimated at only 80,000 bu.

A growing bull sentiment was noted in some quarters regarding the oats market. The decrease of 745,000 bu in stocks at Minneapolis attracted considerable attention, as that market has the largest supply of any market. July sold at a new high for the season, and the December advanced to within ¼c of the best figures of the season, but all deliveries reacted toward the last with other grains.

Rye Movement Smaller.

Trade in rye was only fair, with the action of wheat the dominating influence. Talk of a German loan failed to induce much new buying. The northwestern movement has fallen off materially due to the close of navigation, and the two markets received only thirty-four cars.

There was a lack of pressure on provisions and with scattered buying lard closed 10c higher, while ribs were 5@20c higher. Prices follow:

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Aggregate sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bu Manitoba wheats were reported from the seaboard, including some grain afloat, but the general foreign demand was slow. No. 2 hard at New Orleans sold Thursday at 9c over Chicago May, but bids at 9c over at Galveston did not bring out grain there. A small cargo of corn was sold for export to Scandinavia at the best prices of the season, with total business for the day estimated at 150,000 to 200,000 bu.

Chicago handlers sold 25,000 bu wheat, 90,000 bu corn, and 80,000 bu oats to the domestic trade, with 100,000 bu wheat to go to store. Omaha sold 20,000 bu wheat to Chicago at equal to 1c over December.

Deliveries on December contracts yesterday were 35,000 bu wheat, 160,000 bu corn, and 30,000 bu oats.

Cash wheat premiums at Chicago were unchanged. No. 3 red brought 8@9c over and No. 2 hard 1½@2c over December. Receipts, 48 cars. St. Louis and Kansas City unchanged and Omaha 1c higher. Premiums at Minneapolis unchanged to 2c higher.

Demand for cash corn improved toward the last and No. 2 yellow and white gained ½c on the December, selling at 1¼@1¾c over. No. 2 mixed was 1½c over. No. 3 grades sold at ¼@¾c over and No. 4 grades at 1½@2 under December. Receipts, 390 cars. Outside markets unchanged to ½c higher.

No change was noted in cash oats premiums at Chicago. No. 2 white sold at 1½@2c over December and No. 3 white at December to ½c over. Receipts, 136 cars.

FARMERS GAIN; VALUES UP 32% IN U. S. REPORT

Farm crops are valued at $7,572,890,000 this year, an increase of $1,842,978,000, or 32.1 per cent over the valuation placed on the crops on Dec. 1, 1921, as given by the final returns of the Department of Agriculture announced yesterday.

The increase in valuation is due largely to the big advance in cotton and corn.

Grain crops aggregated 5,243,000,000 bu, or $1,000,000 bu more than previously estimated this season, and 64,000,000 bu over the revised returns of last year, the latter being raised 33,000,000 bu as compared with the report given out a year ago. Each year of late the totals of the previous year have been revised.

Big Winter Wheat Increase.

A striking feature of the report is the increase of 45,000,000 bu in winter wheat over the August returns, while spring wheat estimates were raised only 2,000,000 bu over those given in October, making the total crop 856,000,000 bu, or the fifth largest on record.

The big increase in wheat yield, 46,000,000 bu over last year, was made on an acreage of 2,466,000 less than last year.

A corn crop of 2,891,000,000 bu was cut 5,000,000 bu from the November estimates and 178,000,000 bu from last year's returns, and is 60,000,000 bu more than average. A reduction of 15,000,000 bu was made on estimates on oats from previous returns, while last year's returns were enlarged 18,000,000 bu from the previous report.

All Rye Records Broken.

All records were broken in rye with 95,497,000 bu, a gain of 15,000,000 bu over previous estimates, and is almost 35,000,000 bu larger than last year. Barley figures were reduced 10,000,000 bu, but exceed last year's by 31,000,000 bu. The hay crop of 112,791,000 tons exceeded last year's by 15,000,000 tons.

WOOL MARKETS.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 15.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will publish wool quotations as follows: Domestic Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces: Delaine unwashed, 56@57c; fine unwashed, 49@50c; ½ blood combing, 55c; ⅜ blood combing, 53@55c. Michigan and New York fleeces: Delaine unwashed, 54@55c; fine unwashed, 48@49c; ½ blood unwashed, 52@53c; ⅜ blood unwashed, 51@52c; ¼ blood unwashed, 50c. Wisconsin, Missouri, and average New England: ½ blood, 47@48c; ⅜ blood, 48@50c; ¼ blood, 46@47c.

Scoured basis—Texas: Fine 12 months, $1.35@1.40; fine 8 months, $1.20@1.25; fine fall, $1.15@1.20. California: Northern, $1.30@1.35; middle county, $1.15@1.20; southern, 95c@$1.00. Oregon: Eastern No. 1 staple, $1.30@1.33; fine and F. M. combing, $1.20@1.25; eastern clothing, $1.15@1.20; valley No. 1, $1.15@1.20.

Territory: Fine staple choice, $1.38@1.42; ½ blood combing, $1.25@1.30; ⅜ blood combing, 93c@$1.03; ¼ blood combing, 88@92c. Pulled: Delaine, $1.30@1.38; AA, $1.20@1.30; A supers, $1.15@1.20. Mohairs: Best combing, 78@83c; best carding, 70@75c.

The wool trade has passed through another week of quiet trading and yet there has been sufficient business to keep prices generally firm; certainly there has been no easing on the better descriptions. Interest continues to center chiefly in the foreign markets, where there is new wool to be had in quantity. The goods market is not especially active nor yet altogether dull, with values ruling firm in spite of the opposition to the recent cloth advances.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A decided surprise was given the grain trade late yesterday by the government's final crop report for the year, and was taken by the trade in general as bearish creating the impression that prices are to sell lower. The report increased the winter wheat yield 45,000,000 bu over the previous returns and spring wheat only 2,000,000 bu, making a gain of 47,000,000 more than the trade had figured on and 41,000,000 bu in excess of last year's revised figures, which were raised practically 15,000,000 bu over the returns of last year. Evidently the increase of 4,000,000 acres winter wheat over previous figures was area previously reported as abandoned, but included in the late returns.

There is about 44,838,000 bu of Manitoba wheat at eastern lake ports and other points.

Buenos Aires wheat market closed at a net gain of ½@1½c yesterday, with corn up ½c and flaxseed ½@2c. Late Argentine cables said harvesting was general, with estimates on the wheat yield being reduced.

TRADE REVIEWS OF WEEK

Marshall Field & Co. says:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was much larger than during the corresponding week of a year ago. Road sales were approximately equal to the same period of 1921. There were more customers in market. The heavy shipments and the large mail order and house business reflect a most active retail business throughout the country. Retail merchants generally report larger sales than a year ago. Collections show an improvment over those of the corresponding period of last year."

The John V. Farwell company says:

"Near zero weather this week has added briskness to the at-once demand for seasonable heavier goods and buyers have been in market in much larger numbers. Toy, jewelry, and holiday gift lines are very active with mail orders running much heavier than at corresponding period of last year. The improved employment situation is reflected in the call for merchandise of better grade than during holidays last year."

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

COPYRIGHT: 1922 BY FAIRCHILD NEWS SERVICE

LONDON.—American importers are withholding payment due on merchandise, apparently hoping for a decline in sterling. Hosiery manufacturers are particularly incensed at these tactics. The sterling rise, however, is not deterring American woolen piece goods buyers from operating.

AKRON, O.—Rubber heel production in Ohio during 1922 is now believed to exceed by 50 per cent the production of any previous year. It is more than double that of 1919, according to factory estimates in Akron.

BERLIN.—Saxon cotton manufacturers, facing a curtailment due to lack of capital to purchase raw cotton, are seeking in the United States contracts for refining cotton, payment to be a share of the raw cotton.

The New York Times.

New York, Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Probably most people, after reading in the morning newspapers Bonar Law's dismal description of Great Britain's economic condition, were moved with curiosity as to what the sterling exchange market would do in response to it.

Explanation by the premier to parliament that unless trade revives pretty soon England will "reach a position which will be worse, almost, than that of any allied country" did not exactly accord with the inferences drawn from the recent remarkable movement of exchange in favor of that country. But the market showed more confidence in the verdict of sterling rates than in the judgment of Bonar Law, whose speech, indeed, was taken by Wall street as a curiously superficial survey of the whole situation, whether in England or on the continent.

The foreign exchange market evidently took that view. Sterling advanced at London before the New York opening and ended the day in Wall street practically unchanged. Exchange on Paris rose to the highest rate since the middle of October, the day's best figure, 7.48 cents to the franc, comparing with the recent low level of 6.17 on Nov. 8. The Italian lira went beyond the season's previous highest. Even the German mark struggled up a fraction.

Neither the stock market nor the bond market was visibly influenced by any of these occurrences. Movement of prices was irregular in both; the stock market ended with net advances and net declines about evenly balanced; Liberty bonds and most of the foreign loans sold down a small fraction.

HERTZ TO FORM YELLOW CAB CO. FOR NEW YORK

BY O. A. MATHER.

New Yorkers are to be given the benefit of Chicago's development of taxicab service. It won't be long until "Yellows" are numerous in Gotham, redounding to the physical comfort of New Yorkers and to the financial welfare of quite a few Chicagoans.

Under the guidance of John Hertz and his associates, the New York Taxicab company will be reorganized as the New York Yellow Cab company. The old company's preferred stock will be retired and its 10,000 shares of common stock will be exchanged for 50,000 nonpar common shares of the new company. The new company will market an additional 50,000 shares, thereby gaining about $2,500,000 in new capital. It has arranged for an initial purchase of 1,000 cabs from the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company of Chicago. It will start operations with about 1,500 taxis. It is understood the stock will be traded in on the New York curb exchange after New Year's.

More Joy in Stock Dividends.

The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company gave its stockholders another pleasant surprise yesterday. The directors declared a 20 per cent stock dividend of both A and B common stocks payable in B stock. This is in addition to the 25 per cent stock dividend declared in October, when the annual cash dividend rate was increased from $6 to $8. The current stock dividend and the earlier one give the stockholders 50 per cent more stock than they held on Oct. 1. The present dividend rate will be maintained on the additional stock.

President E. L. Doheny said the company's surplus after acquiring 90 per cent of the Mexican Petroleum company was more than $30,000,000 and that $12,000,000 of it would be capitalized by the increase in stock. Gross earnings for November exceeded $8,000,000, which is an increase of $1,250,000 over the average monthly earnings for the preceding months of the year.

Parke, Davis Disbursement.

Parke, Davis & Co. increased the capital stock from $12,000,000 to $25,000,000 and declared a 100 per cent stock dividend, payable Dec. 28 to stock of record Dec. 18. A cash dividend of $2 was declared payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 18. The Simmons company declared a 100 per cent stock dividend to stock of record Nov. 30.

The New Bedford Cotton mills increased capital stock from $350,000 to $1,050,000 and declared a 200 per cent stock dividend. The United States Bobbin and Shuttle company increased capital stock from $850,000 to $2,550,000 and declared a 200 per cent stock dividend. The Roxbury Carpet company declared a 100 per cent stock dividend, payable in $1,000,000 of preferred stock. The Lincoln Manufacturing company proposed to increase capital stock from $1,625,000 to $3,250,000 and declared a 40 per cent stock dividend. The Stevens Linen works plan to increase capital stock from $700,000 to $1,050,000 for a 50 per cent stock dividend.

Action by Michigan Copper.

The Michigan Copper and Brass company announced a 200 per cent stock dividend, payable Jan. 1 to stock of record Dec. 20. Capital of the concern was increased from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000.

United Verde Extension Mining company declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Jan. 2. For the previous quarter a dividend of 25 cents a share and an extra dividend of 25 cents a share were paid.

The Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing company filed notice that its capital stock had been increased from $100,000 to $16,000,000 and a stock dividend of 1,600 per cent voted. The Wanskuck company voted to increase the capital stock from $500,000 to $8,000,000 and distribute a 1,500 per cent stock dividend. The York Manufacturing company proposed doubling the $1,300,000 capitalization for a 100 per cent stock dividend. The Oakdale Worsted company increased its stock from $60,000 to $540,000 and distributed it as 800 per cent stock dividend.

British Rubber Restriction Costly.

British restriction of crude rubber output has increased prices 100 per cent since October and, unless modified, will cost American motor car users over $100,000,000 next year, President H. S. Firestone told stockholders of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company at their annual meeting yesterday. He urged development of the rubber industry in the Philippines and South America by American capital.

In the fiscal year ended Oct. 31 the company's sales totaled $64,507,301. Earnings, after depreciation, taxes, interest, etc., were $7,348,421. After payment of preferred dividends and miscellaneous charges there was shown a net increase of $16 a share in the common stock equity. During the year bank indebtedness was reduced from $21,680,000 to $12,775,000.

The voluntary bankruptcy of the King Motor Car company has been ended. The receivers were discharged and a dividend of 17 per cent was declared.

U.S. AUTOMOTIVE CHIEF RESIGNS TO JOIN 'YELLOW'

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—[Special.]—Inability of the government to compete with private industries in paying salaries has cost Secretary Hoover of the department of commerce one of his valuable active assistants, Gordon Lee, chief of the automotive division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, whose resignation became effective today. Mr. Lee is to take up the work of directing foreign sales of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company of Chicago on Jan. 1. Secretary Hoover, regretting the resignation of Mr. Lee, said it was impossible for him to retain men in the government service when private industries are willing to pay them many times the salary he is able to offer.

Mr. Lee came to the department of commerce for the specific purpose of organizing the automotive division more than a year ago, having been selected by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to develop the foreign activities of the automotive industry.

BLUE SKY LAW HOLDS IN KENTUCKY.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 15.—Kentucky blue sky law today was held constitutional by the Court of Appeals, the state's tribunal of last resort. The law, passed by the 1920 general assembly, prohibited the sale of stocks or securities without the approval of the state banking commissioner.

Cattle prices slumped fully 25c on a liberal Friday supply, with bulk of offerings comprised of plain quality. A few loads of medium to choice steers and yearlings cashed upward from $9.50 to a top of $11.00. Most transactions ranged at $7.50@9.65, commoner quality selling downward to $6.25, and under for low grades. Sharp discounts on practically all grades were recorded for the week, unevenness ranging from 25c to $1.25. Butcher stock reflected the least decline first half of the week, but dropped sharply on yesterday's trade. Stockers and feeders ruled 25c lower.

Offerings of hogs totaling 48,000, including 8,066 over from Thursday, met an indifferent local demand after urgent outside orders were filled. Market opened at the low time of the day, with shipping demand during midsession forcing values 5@10c above morning prices. However, large local interests refused to follow the advance, and purchased sparingly, leaving a liberal holdover at the close. Top gained 5c at $8.20, with average steady at $8.00. The Armour and Swift houses combined absorbed less than 1,000. Fancy light hogs outsold weightier kinds. Pigs sold freely, 121 lb averages equaling the day's top prices.

Weighty lambs and yearlings were neglected at the recent sharp discount, with extreme heavy native lambs in some cases selling as low as $11.50@12.50. Top yearlings cashed at $12.50, with weighty at $10.00@11.00. Strictly handy weight lambs sold readily for shipment at steady prices, top reaching $15.50 on an early strength. Early arrivals of Colorado lambs brought $13.75, with heavy sorted out at $12.00. Shorn lambs met an indifferent demand at closing prices Thursday, best bringing $13.00, with fall clipped at $13.15.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs, and 1,500 sheep, against 675 cattle, 9,720 hogs, and 3,033 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

Southern Oklahoma Power.

H. G.—The $1,380,000 Southern Oklahoma Power company first and refunding 7s, series A, are part of an authorized issue of $1,880,500, of which $500,500 are held in escrow for the retirement of a like amount of underlying first mortgage 5s of subsidiaries. They are secured by a first mortgage on the company's properties and those of its subsidiary, the Oklahoma Light and Power company, and a first lien on the properties of the Shawnee Gas and Electric company subject to the $500,500 underlying bonds above mentioned. The properties under the mortgage are given a depreciated reproduction value of $2,543,945, or over 1 1-3 times the total bonded debt. Consolidated net earnings (including subsidiaries) for the year ended April 30, 1922, were $266,014, or over twice annual interest requirements on the total bonded debt. These bonds are a business man's investment.

Brief Answers.

V. H., Indianapolis, Ind.—The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern debenture 4s of 1928 and also those of 1931 are equally secured by a second lien on 964 miles of road and a third lien on 37 miles. They are outstanding at the rate of $99,900 per mile. They have been assumed by the New York Central railroad. They are a sound investment.

October Second in Gas Production for Nation

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Gasoline production in the United States during October amounted to 566,278,639 gallons, according to the bureau of mines, which said today the total was the greatest for any month on record except last July, when 3,400,000 more gallons were refined. The October total was about 30,000,000 gallons greater than the September production and 28 per cent greater than the total for October, 1921.

BUYS 40 ACRES IN RIVER FOREST FOR SUBDIVISION

BY AL CHASE.

Title was taken to forty acres in the northern part of River Forest by the Chicago Title and Trust company yesterday for an undisclosed purchaser. O. C. Braese will subdivide it for him within a year or two. The property is bounded on the south by Division street, on the north by North avenue, by William street, on the east and the alley between Monroe and Jackson avenues on the west.

Thirty acres were bought from the Phipps Industrial Land trust for $54,000 and ten acres from John Walker for $18,000. Sims, Welch, Godman & De Young were attorneys. Mr. Braese will subdivide into 50 and 100 foot lots and probably L. Buurma will build some high class residences. This is just west of the eighty acres to be used for a Catholic men's school, work on which will start in the spring.

Mr. Braese reports selling the residence at the northeast corner of Augusta and Bonnie Brae avenue in River Forest, 68x188, for Mr. Buurma to Dr. Otto Baumrucker for $30,000.

Plans $150,000 Factory.

Simon Frankel, president of the Electrical Dealers' Supply Co., has bought from the Walton Ferguson estate 256x141 on the west bank of the north branch of the Chicago river, north of Diversey parkway, for $18,000, through Koester & Zander, and will start work Jan. 1 on a three story $150,000 factory designed by Samuel N. Crowen.

Although the Santa Fé owns the southeast corner of South State and Roosevelt road, it is not probable, according to an official of that road, that it will build its long contemplated ten story office building on the site for some time at least. It has a lease on three floors of the Insurance Exchange building, which runs till 1924.

In reporting the American Furniture Mart project yesterday, originally given in THE TRIBUNE last February, it spoke of "a sixteen story building similar to the one originally designed by Architect Henry Raeder is contemplated." This means, of course, that Mr. Raeder has drawn the plans for the new building, although several readers seemed to misunderstand the statement.

$118,000 Kenmore Deal.

The twenty-one apartments at 5340-48 Kenmore, lot 100x150, were sold by Mrs. Eugenia B. Chaney to B. J. Sherman for $118,000, subject to $98,500, through J. C. Lessen of Greenlee & Co.

Herman E. Lasker has bought the 200x125 of vacant on the north side of West Madison, 100 feet west of Menard, from A. J. Kaufman for $50,000, subject to $15,000, and will erect a two story store and flat building. M. H. Berkson of the General Realty company was broker.

Benson & Rixon have sold their one story building at 1520-22 Milwaukee avenue to Herman Elenbogen, vice president of the West Side National bank, for $61,000. The lot is 50x125. Lewis J. Isaacs represented both parties. Mr. Elenbogen intends adding two more stories.

7 Bargains
AT THE Peerless
FACTORY BRANCH.

Priced low for today's sale.

MARMON TOWN LIMOUSINE MODEL 34. We do not believe that this automobile should be really classed as a "used" car. Its condition does not warrant calling it such. Automobiles that have been kept like this one has are hard to find and some lucky purchaser is going to get this one at a price that is sharply reduced as compared with its present day market value. It is painted a Dark Blue, has 6 excellent cord tires, and much other extra equipment. Mechanically it is exceptionally fine. For any sort of use, either private or commercial, this car will more than exceed your expectation. The circumstances surrounding the sale of this high grade Marmon car are such that we can let it go at the ridiculously low price of $750.

CADILLAC 8 TYPE 59 TOURING CAR. This is a very late Cadillac standard 7 passenger touring car that we have just received in wonderful condition. It has just recently been refinished in a Dark Blue. Seat covers have been cleaned and mechanically it is exceptionally fine. This is a car that is way above the average in every respect. Do not fail to see it immediately because we do not believe it will stay in our possession long at our price of $1,550.

LOCOMOBILE TOURING. This is a very late series Locomobile touring car and has just been turned in to us on one of our new Peerless enclosed cars. Cars of this quality, in the condition that this one is in, are hard to find because people who drive them, when they pay $8,000 or $9,000 into a car, usually prefer to keep them for a number of years. We have not only to offer in this car a really fine automobile from an appearance and mechanical standpoint, but we have it at a price that is much lower than its present day market value. It is a car that should be seen to be appreciated, and we cannot describe it in this ad clearly enough to do it justice. See it today. Price $975.

WINTON TOURING CAR, 1919. This beautiful 7 passenger high grade touring car we have just taken in on a new Peerless enclosed car after the owner had just recently had it overhauled. He had fully intended to keep this car for another year or two, but, owing to certain conditions, changed his mind and purchased an automobile of the Sedan type. The cord tires are in fine condition. The paint is almost like new. This is a bargain in a Winton car the equal of which we do not believe you can duplicate. It runs very smoothly and quietly and presents the appearance of a very well kept motor car. It is being sacrificed at our price of $750.

HAYNES BROUGHAM, MODEL 47, 1921. This beautiful 4 or 5 passenger enclosed car has come into our possession in almost new car condition. Paint, which is Dark Blue, is in very fine shape. Mechanically will bear a most rigid examination and demonstration. Has much extra equipment, such as bumper, deck seat covers, 2 Clymer spotlights, Pine's Winterfront and motometer. For a car of this type in this condition, we are offering it at a price that is ridiculously low. It is a car that you ought to see and ride in immediately if interested. It is being offered as a special bargain for today and some lucky person will buy it at the sacrifice price of $1,250.

HUDSON SUPER SIX TOURING. This late model Hudson has just been turned in to us in condition and with equipment that is above the average. Mechanically it is in excellent shape. It is equipped with 5 wire wheels, spotlight, and other extras. It is painted a Dark Maroon, and we are pricing it for immediate disposal, taking into consideration the recent decreased prices of the new Hudson. This car today even at the reduced prices is worth much more than we are asking. It is a special bargain for today. $300.

STUDEBAKER TOURING SPECIAL SIX. Here is another real good Special 6 Studebaker. The last one of this type that we had was sold very, very quickly. Cars of this type, in the condition that this one is in, are exceptional buys. The tire equipment, as well as paint and mechanical condition, are very good. It is a light yet powerful and economical 5 passenger touring car, and one that we can highly recommend at our price of $475.

PACKARD

WINTON TOURING, MODEL 22-A. If you are interested in a high grade car for heavy duty this will exactly fill the bill. It is in first class mechanical condition, exceptionally well equipped with cord tires and can be put into immediate service. We do not know of a better value anywhere in Chicago at $350.

REO COUPE. This is a light economical 3 passenger enclosed car that should give the purchaser fine service and satisfaction. It is completely equipped and ready to put into immediate service. The price is only $350.

FRANKLIN TOURING, 1919 MODEL. It would be very hard to find another car of this vintage in as excellent condition. The upholstery, top, and tires show practically no wear. The entire car has been repainted and all bright parts renickeled. All necessary mechanical work has been completed. The purchaser may expect and will receive service equivalent to a new Franklin car. $750.

PAIGE BROUGHAM COUPE, 1920 MODEL 6-66. This high class 5 passenger enclosed car can be purchased at an extremely reasonable figure. We have thoroughly overhauled the motor, repainted the entire car in dark green, and it is ready to put into immediate service with no additional expense. The tires are all in first class condition, the upholstery is protected by seat covers, and the equipment includes front and rear bumpers, 2 spotlights, spare tire, etc. Price $1,000.

PACKARD TWIN SIX TOURING, MODEL 3-35. This car was produced during 1919. It is practically an exact duplicate of the new car we are delivering today. It is finished in standard Packard blue, very well equipped with tires, and is good for thousands of miles of satisfactory service. It will make a very safe investment at $1,250.

CADILLAC'S SPECIALS

JORDAN 7 PASSENGER BROUGHAM. This car contains a Continental Red Seal motor, which is in good mechanical condition. Body is large and commodious and will hold 7 passengers with comfort. Upholstery has been carefully protected by an attractive shade of gray seat covers, which are now in the car. The paint, dark blue, trimmed with a fine white stripe, still retains its luster. Tires are in good condition and equipment is unusually complete with spare tire, tire cover, tire lock, rear vision mirror, front bumper, motometer, and radiator cover. A special bargain for the person who desires large seating capacity in an enclosed car at a very low price. Price $500.

OLDSMOBILE 8 CYLINDER 1920, 4 PASSENGER SPORT. This car represents an unusual opportunity for the purchaser who desires a light car of power, speed and good appearance. It is painted a dark Oldsmobile blue, trimmed with fine white lines. It is in good mechanical condition and the tires contain several thousand miles of good service. An unusually fine set of corduroy seat covers is installed, together with a corduroy top boot to match. Curtains are tight fitting for greater winter driving comfort. Equipped with 2 spare tires, tire cover, motometer, and front bumper. Price $550.

COLE 1921, 6 PASSENGER TOURING CAR. Here is a car which presents an unusually fine appearance. The dark maroon paint is in excellent condition and the fenders and top show almost no signs of use. It is equipped with an excellent set of curtains which provide more than ordinary protection from storm and cold. Upholstery and carpets are clean, giving evidence of the careful attention the car has had. Tires are very good and equipment includes spare tire, tire cover, motometer, and other extras. This sturdy car, capable of many thousands of miles of service, is a bargain at our price of $750.

[illegible] TOURING CAR. Here is a car which comes into our hands thoroughly equipped and prepared for winter driving. It has a roomy 7 passenger body and the upholstery has been protected by seat covers which are now in the car. A good looking set of plate-glass enclosures is installed to offer cold weather protection. Equipment includes commodious fender trunk, clock, spring covers, stoplight, 5 good cord tires, and front bumper. Paint is dark maroon and the car is attractively priced at $500.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 61, PHAETON. This car has been equipped specially for winter driving. A new set of Cadillac winter enclosures, costing $240, has just been installed. These, in addition to warm windproof features, contain a new type of ventilating glass which is an innovation in this manufacture of winter sides. The car is in first class mechanical condition and has been thoroughly overhauled in our shops to carry the same warranty as a new car. It has been repainted dark blue and the fenders, which are without blemish, have been re-enameled. It would be hard for even a curious observer to distinguish this from a new car. Equipped with 5 new cord tires, tire cover, and front bumper. A seasonable offering at $2,750.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 61, VICTORIA. Carefully repainted dustproof gray, with gold striping, in the Cadillac coach department, and thoroughly overhauled mechanically to carry the same warranty as a new car, this automobile will interest the buyer who would ordinarily not think of purchasing a used car. Upholstery, interior appointments and exterior appearance are such that they will please the most fastidious. Equipped with new cord tires, spare, tire cover, front and rear bumpers and spring covers, this current model 4 passenger car is an ideal purchase for the small family or for the woman who drives her own car. Specially priced, $3,300.

CADILLAC, TYPE 61, SPORT PHAETON, 1922. This car will appeal to the person who is contemplating the purchase of a new Cadillac. It is the standard 4 passenger Phaeton of the latest Type 61 series, and the actual mileage it has had is less than 2,000 miles. The paint, which is dark green, top, upholstery and coach condition are all like new. It is most completely equipped, including winter front radiator, shutter, stoplight, Clymer spotlight, spare tire and cover, and many extras. Act quickly if you want to make a substantial saving. Price $2,400.

COLE SEDAN, 7 PASS., 1921 MODEL. This high grade 7 passenger enclosed car has been in service but 11 months and was received by us in first class condition throughout. We have refinished the car in London fog gray and the wheels in wagon wheel red. It is completely equipped, including heater, Westinghouse air shock absorbers, 2 biflex bumpers and other extras. We consider this a particularly fine offering and its appearance and condition we are sure will more than impress you of its value at the special price of $2,250.

LINCOLN SPORT PHAETON, 1922. This is the latest and current type Sport Phaeton. It has been driven less than 5,000 miles and we are offering it to our customers with our regular New Car Warranty and the same service we have always given on Lincoln cars. The original finish, which is dark blue, is unusually well preserved and tire equipment is of the best. Top, upholstery and coach condition O. K. We suggest immediate inspection and demonstration of this fine car, as the price we have placed on it will net you a handsome saving at $3,000.

WINTON SEDAN LIMOUSINE, 1920. The front and rear tonneau in this high grade 7 passenger enclosed car are divided by a sliding glass partition, making it possible to convert into the "Sedan" or "Limousine" type at will. The chassis has been rebuilt and the car refinished in dark blue. It is ready for immediate use and equipped with practically new cord tires. The upholstery is broadcloth and very well preserved. Mechanically it is perfect. It is ideal for all year town or country use. In the hands of a livery man it would pay for itself in a short time. A particularly fine value at our price of $1,750.
